House Gives Girls Shot At Boys' Baseball Teams

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill letting girls play on boys' school baseball teams has made it to first base and is on its way to the Senate. The House approved the measure, 79-17, with immediate effect Monday despite arguments over whether the measure is necessary and whether baseball is a noncontact sport.

The bill wasn't introduced "to allow girls on the Detroit Tigers' team, though they probably could use a few girls," Rep. Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti, sponsor of the bill, said.

"The real purpose is simply to say, 'Look, when you have a boys' baseball team, have a girls' baseball team.... Come up with alternate teams for girls.... They deserve the same athletic activities as boys...."

The bill does clear the way for creating girls' baseball teams. But it also would allow any girl who qualifies to be on a boys' baseball team. It adds baseball, which is defined to include softball, to a list of noncontact interscholastic activities girls are allowed to participate in in public schools.

Supporters of the bill said it was needed to clarify existing law which lists 14 noncontact sports girls can play either on girls' teams or boys' teams. But the way the existing law is written gives individual schools the discretion in interpreting what additional noncontact sports girls can play.

Rep. Edgar Geerlings, R-Muskegon, said the bill won't do anything that current law doesn't already provide for. He said a federal court injunction issued four years ago prohibits schools from denying any student access to any varsity interscholastic sport because of sex, regardless of whether the sport is contact or noncontact. He said the injunction is still in effect.

Rep. James Detebaugh, R-Birmingham, said one of his daughters played baseball on her high school girls' team, but added "I'd hate to have some little boy on third base when she slides in. It is certainly not a noncontact sport, or it shouldn't be."

Rep. Claude Trim, D-Davidsburg, said, "Baseball is definitely a contact sport." He said he doesn't think girls and boys have equal abilities at baseball, "especially in the catcher's position. There's just no comparison between the two — boys and girls — in this area." But Trim said he thinks girls should be able to play baseball, but on their own teams. And he said the bill could "hamstring" athletic associations.

Problems will arise, he said, if schools "throw a bunch of girls in with a bunch of boys — behavioral problems, transportation, back and forth, locker rooms. It may cost us extra money." Trim said the speed of a men's baseball game is "much different than a women's game." But he said he has played softball with women and "many play as well as men."

Bangor School Voters Oust Five From Board

By LARRY MACINTYRE

BANGOR — Voters in the Bangor school district ousted five school board members yesterday in a special recall election, according to unofficial election returns.

The remaining two board members were not on the recall ballot.

According to returns provided by Mrs. Norma Sutherby, Bangor city clerk in charge of the special election, the five board members were ousted by the following margins: Board President Donald Piper, 822 to 443 with 10 spoiled ballots; Dr. Joseph Cooper, 730 to 839 with 10 spoiled; Forrest Gough, 748 to 518 with 11 spoiled; Richard Krugel, 705 to 865 with 7 spoiled; and Fred Waite, 717 to 832 with 10 spoiled.

Dr. Cooper was board vice president while Gough was secretary and Waite was treasurer.

A total of 1,279 people voted in the election, Mrs. Sutherby said. She estimated there are about 2,400 registered voters in the school district.

The five will officially be removed from the board once the vote has been canvassed and the results made final.

The term for Piper was to expire in 1977; for Dr. Cooper, this year; for Gough, in 1978; for Krugel, this year; and for Waite, in 1979.

The two board members remaining are Mrs. Peggy Phillips and Otto Watkins, Jr. They were the only board members to serve on a fact-finding committee created last September to study school problems.

Mrs. Sutherby said the election returns would be turned over today to the Van Buren county board of canvassers.

Charles MacDonald, county clerk, said he had scheduled a meeting of the board of canvassers for today at 1:30 p.m. at which time the returns will be canvassed and the official results declared.

Appointments to the vacancies are to be made by Gov. William Milliken, according to Roger Goline of the state department of education in Lansing. He said the appointees would serve until the June school election.

Roy Wiles, chairman of the committee which spearheaded the recall, said yesterday his committee is now selecting a group of prospective appointees whose names will be offered to the intermediate school board for a recommendation.

Ernest Shaw, assistant superintendent for the intermediate school district said he did not know if the governor would ask the intermediate board for recommendations.

Piper, 60, president for 12 of the 14½ years he served on the board, said last night he was not bitter nor did he have any hard feelings toward those who worked for his recall.

"I don't feel disappointed. If the people want it that way, that's fine," he said.

He said he was leaving for a vacation today until March 1 in Texas and Arizona.

He predicted that the replacement board members would have difficulty in laying plans for new school construction which the present board had been working on. "I only feel sorry for the poor architect," he said.

Paul French, the most outspoken critic of the school district, called for the community to work together to "restore confidence in the school system."

French had unleashed a series of allegations in October charging the ousted board members with mishandling school finances and charging Supt. Howard Beyer with several instances of nepotism.

Those allegations and recommendations of the fact-finding committee had sparked the recall effort which culminated yesterday.

"I don't want any credit. A lot of people worked very hard. It's unfortunate that it had to come to a recall. I wish the problem could have been solved without it," he said.

In the future, he continued, (See back page, sec. 1, col. 5)

Temperature Hits Winter's Lowest

Cold air that apparently had by-passed Lake Michigan's warming effect shoved temperatures in southwestern Michigan early today to their lowest levels of the winter.

Headlines between 3-below and 8-below zero were general over the area, with an occasional report of -10.

And the National Weather Service indicated the cold spell is going to hang on probably through the remainder of the week. Temperatures are predicted to hold mainly in the teens through Saturday.

No snow fell overnight, and roads that had been plugged by drifts as result of Sunday's blizzard were all reported open today.

But the weatherman said to be on the lookout for moderate snow tonight, and probable snow flurries all the remainder of this week.

Eight-below temperatures were reported at Coloma and Cassopolis; 7-below at Eau Claire and Niles; 6-below at Whitefish in Fairplain.

Herb Teichman, Eau Claire area grower-weather observer who registered 7-below zero at his farm, noted that a light wind blew out of the south during the early morning when the mercury dipped to the lowest point. He explained this probably brought in air that had passed to the south of the lower rim of Lake Michigan.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Entertainer Carol Lawrence has sued her husband, singer Robert Goulet, for legal separation, citing irreconcilable differences.

City Official Guilty

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Robert Hartwell, 49, suspended deputy Grand Rapids treasurer, pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of embezzling $3,866. Hartwell made the surprise plea just before his Circuit Court trial was scheduled to begin. The charge of embezzlement by a public official involved a single tax payment. Kent County Prosecutor Harold Sawyer said the charge carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine. Sawyer said a second embezzlement charge will be dropped. City Manager Joseph Grassie said the city will seek to regain the money from the bonding company covering Hartwell. Hartwell, a city employee for 14 years, was suspended without pay last September after an investigation disclosed shortages in his office. Grassie said formal proceedings to fire Hartwell will begin soon.

Berrien Picks Ivan Price For Top Drain Post

Veteran Buchanan township supervisor Ivan Price has been selected to fill the unexpired term of the late Harry H. Nye as Berrien county drain commissioner. Price, 55, was chosen Monday from a list of 10 applicants for the position, according to County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke and Prosecutor John Smietanka, who joined Probate Judge Ronald Lange in making the selection.

His appointment to the $14,000 a year position is to become effective today after a formal order is drafted by Lange and signed by all three selectors, Smietanka said.

Price, a farmer who lives on Gallen-Buchanan road, has served continuously as supervisor of Buchanan township since first being elected to the office on the Republican ticket in April, 1947.

Before World War II, he served as a constable for the township.

His appointment as drain commissioner will run until Jan. 1, 1977. To keep the post beyond that date, he will have to run for election this year along with all other Berrien officials who are elected county-wide.

Nye, a former county commissioner and Lake Michigan college trustee, was appointed to fill a vacancy in the drain commissioner's post in 1972 and was elected to a four-year-term later that year.

He died Jan. 1 when pinned beneath the wheels of a tractor he apparently was trying to start at his home in Royall township.

GM Earns $1.25 Billion

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors' crippled by a severe recession throughout much of 1975, staged a swift recovery in the fourth quarter with record sales and near-record earnings of $1.25 billion in end the year with profits up 32 per cent from 1974. The world's largest manufacturing concern reported Monday it earned $1.25 billion in 1975, up from an anemic $850 million the year before. Despite the sharp improvement from 1974, when the auto industry was battered by fuel shortages and a growing recession, GM's 1975 profits still trailed its record performance of 1973 by 48 per cent. GM earned $2.4 billion in that year. Nevertheless, industry analysts hailed GM's bullish performance in the last three months of 1975 as a "remarkable turnaround" and the strongest indication yet that the industry's worst slump since the Great Depression had come to an end.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

The Mails Are Our Bicentennial Bust

Two weeks ago A Letter To Ye Ed from a vice president in the local Letter Carriers union took this column to task for crowding the old adage that people living in glass houses should not throw stones.

The comment said all the 13-cent stamp does is to extract more money for the same or lesser service, and that the postal unions are primarily responsible for this march to the rear.

The writer pointed out how over the years the price of sending our newspaper through the mail has advanced from $21 to $45 a year within our four-county circulation area and then asked just how much better a newspaper are we publishing today than back then. He did, however, go on to say that most other suppliers of goods and services follow the same practice.

From that premise based on opinion only, he leaped to the conclusion that our comment is another illustration of the pot calling the kettle black.

Whether Congress will jump into the Postal Service morass in this, an election year, or put off the decision until after the ballots are counted remains to be seen, but within the foreseeable future it will have to make the effort to right the balance between mounting costs and declining results.

In its Sunday edition The Chicago Tribune's business section performed a roundup on this compounded inflation which should be compulsory reading for everyone connected with the Postal Service.

Taking the Service's own figures, The Tribune discloses the dreary state of affairs by comparing current figures with those of five years ago:

Prior to May, 1971 a first class stamp sold for six cents. At that time it handled, on an annual basis, 87 billion pieces of mail of all kinds; its operating expense of $9 billion a year was generating a $200 million deficit.

The Service moves into 1976 with a 13-cent stamp, more than double what it was five years ago (as of May 1, 1971, the stamp advanced to eight cents). It projects handling 83 billion pieces of mail, slightly over one per cent above the 1971 volume. It is budgeted at $14.8 billion for operating costs or 64 per cent higher than 1971. It forecasts a deficit for this year at $1.5 billion or 650 per cent above the 1971 level.

The reason for the almost negligible gain in volume is the dwindling performance level. First class volume is falling as financial institutions and many businesses, the largest customers, experiment with other delivery methods. United Parcel Service, a privately owned outfit, already

They Should Be Called The Golden Games

Many nations still look upon a chance to host the Olympics as an honored event. But if inflation continues to send its entries into the games, hosts of the future may be difficult to find.

Montreal is busily engaged in preparations for the 1976 Summer Olympics, but its taxpaying residents must be looking a bit uneasily at the rising costs. Originally, the budget for preparing the contest fields, residences and other facilities was $310 million, in itself a substantial piece of change.

The actual costs now are estimated to have passed one billion dollars and the end is not yet in sight. That is a powerful investment to recoup in the short time the games will be underway.

It is natural for countries hosting these events to want to put their best appearances forward, but lately they have been turning into something of a con: to see who can erect the most deluxe facilities. The architectural fees for the Montreal extravaganza alone are now up to $40 million — 10 times original estimates. Only the medals for these affairs are supposed to be made of gold.

HIS FACTS ARE FOUND IN PRISON

Editor:

In regards to Mr. Hafer's letter in the mailbag on Jan. 28, I feel I should write this in defense of myself and my previous article on handguns.

First of all, Mr. Hafer, I am a local citizen and was born and raised in the city of St. Joseph for the last 18 years. I am currently serving time in the Michigan prison system, so, therefore, that puts me more than 100 miles away. In regards to my article on handguns, I want to emphasize that the facts and evidence as was stated in my article can be clearly found in the Michigan prison system. There are more persons in prison for possession of handguns during a crime or for assault with one than there are for drugs. This, therefore, would give one the impression that there are more handguns being sold than drugs because all of your inmates in for committing a crime with a gun have obtained them illegally.

I stand corrected if I am wrong, but I feel that this is a plain and clear fact to one who sees the situation on the inside. In closing, I would like to say that we are all a part of the United States of America no matter how far apart we live, be it 100 miles or 1,000 miles. We must all do our part to make this a safer place to live.

SALT Loopholes Could 'Backfire'

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Kissinger-Brezhnev strategic arms limitation proposals the Secretary of State is passing from hand to hand in the administration are incredible. So much so that some among the President's men are advocating postponement of public debate on whatever is finally decided along these lines, if possible, until after November's elections. And most certainly until after the Republican and Democratic nominating conventions.

The delay would be accomplished, according to this scenario, by holding off as long as possible on fine details — so that it would be late in the year before the projected treaty went to the Senate for ratification.

This truism is a bone of contention because it can be made to fly long distances at altitudes so low it can sneak under defense radar. Experts say satellite photographs do not provide the information necessary to distinguish between the 375-mile cruise missile which Kissinger and Brezhnev define as non-strategic and which therefore could be built at will — and a 1,000 or 1,100 mile strategic missile.

Without on-site inspections, which Moscow will not agree to, the Russians could thus safely build strategic weapons in violation of any treaty provisions. This is possible because increased range does not require outward design changes which would be detectable from the air, but rather improvements in the fuel and internal engine structure.

The proposals also reportedly call for limiting strategic cruise missiles to a 1,500-mile range — a proposal which is patently absurd on its face, because this limitation too can be so easily evaded. While it is possible for a satellite to tell a 375-mile missile from a 2,400-mile type, the ability does not extend to distinguish between 1,500 and 2,400 mile weapons. This assumes only that the Russians have the design knowhow which exists in this country or that they will achieve that ability in a few years.

Once you get above the 2,500-mile range, specialists say, the design, to be effective, must be significantly different. And certain distinguishable changes must be made in auxiliary equipment.

The Kissinger-Brezhnev proposals include other absurdities. They provide, as reported, that Soviet intercontinental Backfire bombers would not be considered strategic weapons, thus would not be counted against the USSR's strategic weapon total. But U.S. B-1 intercontinental bombers would be counted against the American allowance.

Kissinger's sophistry is apparent in the arguments he presents to convince one and sundry the Soviet Backfire is not strategic and therefore not capable of bombing strategic U.S. targets if its refueling gadgetry is removed and the planes is barred from Arctic bases in peacetime.

This is stuff and nonsense. Estimates on the time it would take for the Russians to re-equip the refueling equipment on a Backfire range from several hours in a day if the plane were manufactured with that in mind and the needed supplies were kept at hand. And regardless of basing restrictions, in time of war, which is what counts, the big Backfires could be staged through Arctic bases at will.

Where Would Payments Stop?

In a recent column, I commented on the bizarre proposal by Sen. James Abourezk that descendants of the Indians killed at Wounded Knee be compensated by U.S. taxpayers in the tune of $900,000.

If the Abourezk principle holds, the descendants of all those killed in battle against the U.S. Army ought to line up for their checks, including those Englishmen whose ancestors dined on the road between Lexington and Concord. (Significantly enough, Abourezk isn't passing out any cash to the descendants of the 55 soldiers the Indians killed at Wounded Knee.)

Isn't it about time to stop the peddling where the Indians are concerned?

Take the current fad of referring to Indians as "native Americans," evidently based on the desire to correct the original mistake of calling them Indians. But "Indians" at least was an honest mistake; Columbus thought he had reached the East Indies.

In the first place, anyone born in the U.S. is native to it. No or she is "native born." The Indians are no more native than little Kowalski, born yesterday.

If the intention of "native American" is to suggest that the Indians, unlike all other ethnic groups, were the original inhabitants, then that too is completely false. I quote from Samuel Elliot Morison's "Oxford History of the American People":

"At an era prior to 10,000 B.C., people of a Mongoloid type began crossing the Bering Strait from Asia to America. These people were racially akin to the American Indians whom Europeans later encountered, but not necessarily their ancestors. Our Indians may have come later by the same or other routes, they may have exterminated the primitive folk or assimilated them, or driven them into understandable corners."

Evidence of much earlier inhabitants than the Indians is plentiful, though these earlier types were not around when the Europeans arrived.

Morison, at any rate, calls our Red Men Indians, perhaps because the term, though originally a mistake, at least rests on usage.

A great deal of handwringing now goes on among radical-chic types like Sen. Abourezk about what used to be called the Winding of the West. Of course, the fighting was often brutal. But does anyone think it could have been much otherwise, or that the early settlements and later cities could somehow have coexisted with tens of thousands of armed savages?

Thomas Jefferson, for one, had no doubt about this savagery. One count against George III in the Declaration of Independence is that he "has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an indiscriminate destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions." No one on the frontier was striking radical chic poses about the Indians.

The sooner the Indians join the mainstream of American society and become another ethnic group like the others, the better off the country will be. Posturing around about the 19th century does not hasten the process.

The Mails Are Our Bicentennial Bust

Two weeks ago A Letter To Ye Ed from a vice president in the local Letter Carriers union took this column to task for crowding the old adage that people living in glass houses should not throw stones.

The comment said all the 13-cent stamp does is to extract more money for the same or lesser service, and that the postal unions are primarily responsible for this march to the rear.

The writer pointed out how over the years the price of sending our newspaper through the mail has advanced from $21 to $45 a year within our four-county circulation area and then asked just how much better a newspaper are we publishing today than back then. He did, however, go on to say that most other suppliers of goods and services follow the same practice.

From that premise based on opinion only, he leaped to the conclusion that our comment is another illustration of the pot calling the kettle black.

Whether Congress will jump into the Postal Service morass in this, an election year, or put off the decision until after the ballots are counted remains to be seen, but within the foreseeable future it will have to make the effort to right the balance between mounting costs and declining results.

In its Sunday edition The Chicago Tribune's business section performed a roundup on this compounded inflation which should be compulsory reading for everyone connected with the Postal Service.

Taking the Service's own figures, The Tribune discloses the dreary state of affairs by comparing current figures with those of five years ago:

Prior to May, 1971 a first class stamp sold for six cents. At that time it handled, on an annual basis, 87 billion pieces of mail of all kinds; its operating expense of $9 billion a year was generating a $200 million deficit.

The Service moves into 1976 with a 13-cent stamp, more than double what it was five years ago (as of May 1, 1971, the stamp advanced to eight cents). It projects handling 88 billion pieces of mail, slightly over one per cent above the 1971 volume. It is budgeted at $14.8 billion for operating costs or 64 per cent higher than 1971. It forecasts a deficit for this year at $1.5 billion or 650 per cent above the 1971 level.

The reason for the almost negligible gain in volume is the dwindling performance level. First class volume is falling as financial institutions and many businesses, the largest customers, experiment with other delivery methods. United Parcel Service, a privately owned outfit, already has stolen half of the parcel post trade. Only the junk mail continues to blossom like the flowers in May, thanks, in part, to an active promotional campaign by the Service.

Although The Tribune's article does not recommend its own cures, it does mention several which offer some hope.

Postal wages and fringe benefits are way past those for comparable jobs in the federal agencies. This advance came on shortly after Congress dropped its check rein on the Service and made it an independent chartered corporation. The reason for so doing was a feeling that a businesslike management could perform better than the Congressional meddling dating back to Ben Franklin's day. Since the reverse has taken place, there is some feeling within Congress that regaining this lost control could hold the wage line better.

The Service hired a managerial service a few years ago to see if door to door delivery could be revised toward the end of reducing manpower. Called the Kokomo plan, it has invoked the letter carriers' undying opposition and the Service has hesitated to implement it for fear of a nationwide strike.

Whatever Kokomo's demonstrable merits may be, the totally inelastic union contracts tying the Service's hands need revision.

The most drastic proposal is to open the mails to competition.

The Constitutional authorization to Congress to "establish post offices and post roads" is assumed to confer a monopoly upon the government. At least the dubious claim is asserted that if somebody hires a person to deliver a letter he must buy a stamp.

Some Congressmen feel the time has come to disavow this questionable interpretation of the Constitution by legislatively sanctioning private carriers. Under this sink or swim condition, the Service would have to put its house in order.

The justification for the monopoly assumption is that the government has a duty to provide the means for its people to keep in touch with one another at a reasonable cost.

The rationale has lost much of its force today.

Uncle Sam, as the growing spread between cost and performance so dismally shows, is a poor monitor of what the rationable says he should be delivering.

As one headline on The Tribune's story puts it, "Must Our Mail Go Partial Post?"

SAYS 'ANTI-TRAPPERS' GET GREAT PAY, FRINGES

A few weeks ago I had a letter in your newspaper expressing my feeling about the fake picture of a dead raccoon in a leg-hold trap; also stating my views regarding the necessity of animal control by trapping.

The picture I referred to is a nationwide campaign picture used by the "American Protection Institute of America". An "anti-trap" group of which is plain to be seen.

By using this picture for its advertising it has drawn the sympathy of its contributors to the sum of $904,466 which they think will be spent to help the animals. Not so, according to the California Attorney General's Office.

The California Attorney General's Office is investigating the Sacramento based "humane organization" to find out how it spent the $904,466 it raised in 1974.

The organization was founded in 1968 by Belton P. Mouras, a retired Army recruiter. Almost all the money collected in 1974 went into advertisements and staff salaries. They did not spend one dime on animals.

Mr. Mouras had a salary of $36,952 plus about $30,000 in commissions from his advertising agency which handles the advertising for A.P.I. according to the Attorney General's Office. Plus fringe benefits including a leased Lincoln Continental Mark IV sedan and the use of a credit card for travel, food, entertainment, and lodging.

Other expenses included: $106,060 in salaries for 20 staff members, (not including Mouras); $609,897 operating expenses (mostly advertising); $28,325 for travel and entertainment; $14,266 legal fees; and $4,965 for accounting fees; $1,000 for scholarship fund and $1,400 to certify humane officers. Deputy Attorney General Carole Kornblum said "They do certify humane officers but I don't know what they do". They also paid $58.00 property tax.

The A.P.I.A. does not run an animal shelter nor does it go around rescuing animals!

I hope this will give the contributors to such organizations a "bird's eye view" where your money is going. As I see it, even a trapper wouldn't use a poor dead animal in a trap to collect that much money. Charles Kraiger Vice President Southern Michigan Trappers Assoc. Route 2, Box 171 Bangor

'Trial' Bares 'Lady Nicotine's Bad Habits

By STEVE SAGER

Arguments against "Lady Nicotine" (tobacco) were presented to a "jury" of 10 jurors yesterday in a program by "prosecutor" Herald A. Habenicht, M.D., of the Andrews university medical center, Berrien Springs. Dr. Habenicht, an advocate of the "five-day stop smoking" program, set up a mock court at the luncheon meeting of the Rotary club of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph and cast tobacco as "Lady Nicotine" himself as prosecutor and the audience as jury. He then proceeded to present arguments against the use of tobacco, especially smoking, with each juror left to come up with his own verdict. "Prosecutor" Habenicht opened his case by calling "Lady Nicotine" the killer of 300,000 Americans a year ("six times as many as all the GIs killed in a decade and a half in Viet Nam"). After citing a number of other crimes of "Lady Nicotine," he read quotes from a number of "witnesses" (medical experts not present). During "testimony" from Dr. Weldon Walker, of the editorial board of the "Journal of the American Medical Association," the U.S. Federal government was termed an "accomplice" to "Lady Nicotine." Among a number of accusations leveled against the federal government by Dr. Walker was that Federal loans support 14 per cent of all tobacco stocks in the U.S. and Puerto Rico. Habenicht quoted Dr. Walker as saying, "What do we get as a return for our tax dollars? An $11.5 billion a year health care cost for "cigarette" smoking-produced diseases. More than five times the revenue taken in from cigarette taxes." During a question and answer session, the following questions and comments were made: Ally, George Keller, St. Joseph, said he no longer takes clients who smoke and those who do he helps quit. He said he allows no smoking in his office by employees or anyone who enters. W.J. Bunyon, editor and publisher of this newspaper, asked if using "snuff" or chewing tobacco might be a satisfactory change from smoking. Habenicht, jokingly, said it could be because you can get tongue cancer instead of lung cancer. With tongue cancer, you'll be able to see it, in which case you can get a doctor and have your tongue removed. David Upton, president-treasurer of the Southwestern Michigan Abstract & Title Co., St. Joseph, asked if nonsmokers breathing the smoke of smokers isn't a problem.

Habenicht said it was a serious problem, especially for children growing up in a home with parents who smoke. He said only 30 per cent of the smoke from a cigarette is retained by the smoker and the other 70 per cent is left in the open for others to inhale. Habenicht concluded his speech by outlining the "five-day stop smoking" program, which he teaches. Some of the points of the program brought out were: —The prospective "quitter" must drink eight glasses of water a day for the five days. He or she must go 48 hours with almost no food restricting his intake to water, fruit juices or fruits. —During the five days there should be no caffeine intake. Stop the liquor intake for several weeks as it can tamper with the mental determination of a prospective quitter. Don't quit all at once, but make it a gradual thing. Habenicht said the "five-day stop smoking" program usually works in a long-term basis for about 50 per cent of those who try it.

Fabric Shop Request Rekindled

St. Joseph township trustees last night were asked to review a proposed deed restriction and then rescind earlier action that blocked construction of a fabric shop at Niles road and Lydia drive.

The board last December rejected a zoning change from a residential to a commercial classification that would enable Robert Rue to build and operate the shop. Stated reason for the rejection was to prevent commercial expansion along Niles, south of Milltop road.

The request last night was by Ralph Post of 1100 Flanders place, St. Joseph, who owns the site at Niles and Lydia and hopes to sell it to Rue. Post told the board he and Rue have agreed to a land contract that would prohibit use of the site for anything except Rue's shop, unless residents of that area agreed.

The board agreed to review the proposal, but took no further action. Further discussion might occur at the next regular meeting Monday, Feb. 16, the board reported.

Township Treasurer Isadore G. DiMaggio reported that local winter property taxes will be accepted through Tuesday, Feb. 17, without penalty. The taxes are payable on Dec. 1, but no penalties are charged if paid on or before Feb. 15. DiMaggio said this year Feb. 15 is on a Sunday, and Feb. 16 is a legal holiday.

The holiday is Washington's birthday observance, created by Congress for the third Monday of February to give government employees a long weekend. Washington's actual birthday is Feb. 22.

Supervisor Orval Benson recommended a resolution supporting the "west route" around Berrien Springs for the proposed US-31 freeway. Benson said he formed up his opinion at a recent meeting with Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce officials. The matter was tabled by trustees who said they wanted time to consider Benson's request.

Ford, Brown Seek BH Council Post

Two candidates who were defeated for seats on the Benton Harbor city commission in last November's general election were nominated Monday night to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Commissioner-at-large F. Joseph Plough.

Placed in nomination during last night's weekly meeting were the names of former Commissioner Carl Brown and Mrs. Helen Ford, executive director of Berrien County Action, Inc.

Brown was nominated by Commissioner Charles Yarbrough, his running mate on the "Common Sense" ticket, while Mrs. Ford was nominated by Commissioner Alfred Williams, a member along with Mrs. Ford of the rival "Clean Slate" ticket.

Brown, who earlier in Monday's meeting received a framed resolution from Mayor Charles F. Joseph for his four years of service in the commission, was defeated by Charles Shepherd 161-121 for the Second Ward seat in last November's election.

Mrs. Ford announced Oct. 23 she was withdrawing as an active candidate for the First Ward seat, but her name remained on the ballot and she was defeated by Edmund Eaman 183-93.

In withdrawing as an active candidate, Mrs. Ford said she made the decision so that she could continue to serve on the Berrien county social services board after the Berrien prosecutor's office had ruled that running for a commission seat while serving on the board was in violation of state statute.

Questioned after last night's meeting, Mrs. Ford said she would face the same problem again if appointed to fill the commission vacancy, but that making a decision at the present time would be "like asking a woman what she would do before she gets the ring."

Joseph requested earlier in the meeting that all nominations for the vacant seat be made by Feb. 20 so that the commission could vote on the appointment at its Feb. 23 meeting.

According to city charter, the vacancy shall be filled by majority vote of the remaining eight members.

Four of these eight commissioners were members of the "Clean Slate" ticket — Joseph, Williams, Barbara Hockley and Shepherd, and Commissioner Winston Mott, the mayor pro tem, consistently has supported this group to form a voting majority.

Plough, 72, resigned his commission seat last week by letter, in which he stated the decision was made because of his health. His resignation was effective last night.

Snow Parking Plan Put Into Effect By BH

Faced with continuing snow removal problems, the Benton Harbor city commission last night extended a moratorium on side street parking tickets and approved a plan to limit parking to only one side of streets so that fire trucks can get through.

The plan, which goes into effect immediately, limits parking on city streets running north and south to parking only on the west side of the street. Parking on streets running east and west is limited to the north side of the street.

The commission approved the plan after a report from Fire Chief Harold Gaddie warned that fire fighting efforts might be hampered if fire trucks can't get through streets where cars are parked on both sides.

The limited parking plan does not affect streets already posted for parking on one side. Those parking on the wrong side of the street during the day or night, under the new resolution, will receive a warning informing them of the new procedure.

A one-week moratorium on side street parking tickets was granted last week after Acting City Manager Melvin Farmer, Jr., reported that inadequate city snow removal did not permit residents access to alleys and off-street parking. He blamed the poor snow removal on old, worn snow removal equipment that was not in operating condition.

Farmer reported last night that the equipment was now in operation, but several commissioners noted that alleys were still full of snow and extension of the parking ticket moratorium was granted for another two weeks.

In other matters: Repeated thaws in a "hiring freeze" instituted by the city commission last December were subjected to heated questioning by Commissioner

South Bend Exterminating Firm Fined

Paul Medich, of South Bend, Ind., Exterminating company, was assessed fine and costs of $101 in Berrien Fifth District court Monday for operating exterminating equipment in January at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, without a Michigan license, contrary to the Michigan Pesticide Applicator's law.

Complainant was William Baney, Michigan Department of Agriculture inspector, who said the firm had a license, but it had expired.

Memorial Administrator Robert A. Bradburn said the company had a contract with the hospital for what he described as routine preventive work.

St. Joe Approves Changes In Home Loan Program

The St. Joseph city commission Monday night approved changes in a program to provide subsidies of up to $2,000 per family for interest payments on home-improvement loans. Commissioners approved revisions of the program that will permit the city to pay interest subsidies to homeowners earning as much as $12,000 a year and holding assets of up to $18,000.

Funds for the subsidies will come from a $71,000 in Community Development funds the city expects to receive this year.

Revisions in the housing repair subsidy and grant program were presented to the commission by Atty. Michael Cook, a member of the citizen participation committee that established priorities for spending Community Development funds.

The housing program has been budgeted for $13,000 in Community Development funds and was second only to creation of a downtown development plan on the committee's priority list.

Cook said last night changes in the program were designed to increase the number of homeowners eligible for assistance and to change emphasis of the program from outright grants to subsidy of interest payments.

To receive direct grants, applicants may not have income of more than $7,000 a year and may not hold assets of more than $5,000, excluding the home and certain personal

SJ City Clerk Resigning After Seventeen Years

St. Joseph City Clerk Charles J. Rhodes, 61, submitted his resignation Monday night after serving 17 years in that position. Announcement of Rhodes' resignation, effective March 5, was in a letter read by Mayor Franklin Smith at the close of last night's city commission meeting.

The commission by charter is responsible for appointing a successor, but no action was taken last night.

Following the meeting, Rhodes said his experience as city clerk had been a "very rewarding" one, but that he wanted to leave the job while he still had good health and could enjoy retirement.

He said he has a number of hobbies to keep him busy and that he plans to do considerable traveling after he leaves the clerk's job. Rhodes has been married 35 years. He and his wife, Frances, live at 2521 Langley avenue. They are the parents of a grown son and daughter.

The building is owned by the Boy Scout council. The commission also approved low bids for two dump trucks. The low bids for both trucks were by Geronda Equipment Co., Benton Harbor, at $12,400 and $14,300. The only other bids were by Ashley Ford Sales, Inc., at $12,917 and $14,990.73.

The commission also passed a resolution commending the 10-member special financial study committee for work they did. Each member is to receive citation for his work.

Support Grand Jury Probe

The Benton Harbor city commission Monday night voted unanimously to go on record supporting a grand jury investigation of alleged official corruption and unsolved crimes in Berrien county. The resolution was proposed by Commissioner Charles Yarbrough, with the stipulation that he wanted to see an investigation throughout Berrien county, "not just in Benton Harbor." Berrien Prosecutor John Smetanka petitioned Circuit court last week to call a citizens' grand jury, but presiding Circuit Judge Julian E. Hughes has yet to rule on the petition.

'Trial' Bares 'Lady Nicotine's Bad Habits

By STEVE SAGER

Arguments against "Lady Nicotine" (tobacco) were presented to a "jury" of Rotarians yesterday in a program by "prosecutor" Dr. Herald A. Habenicht, M.D., of the Andrews university medical center, Berrien Springs. Dr. Habenicht, an advocate of the "five-day stop smoking" program, set up a mock court at the luncheon meeting of the Rotary club of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph and cast tobacco as "Lady Nicotine," himself as "prosecutor" and the audience as jury.

He then proceeded to present arguments against the use of tobacco, especially smoking, with each juror left to come up with his own verdict. "Prosecutor" Habenicht opened his case by calling "Lady Nicotine" the killer of 300,000 Americans a year ("six times as many as all the GI's killed in a decade and a half in Viet Nam.")

After citing a number of other crimes of "Lady Nicotine" he read quotes from a number of "witnesses" (medical experts not present). During "testimony" from Dr. Weldon Walker, of the editorial board of the "Journal of the American Medical Association," the U.S. Federal government was termed an "accomplice" to "Lady Nicotine."

Among a number of accusations leveled against the federal government by Dr. Walker was that Federal loans support 14 per cent of all tobacco stocks in the U.S. and Puerto Rico. Habenicht quoted Dr. Walker as saying, "What do we get as a return for our tax dollars? An $11.5 billion a year health care cost for cigarette smoking-produced diseases. More than five times the revenue taken in from cigarette taxes."

During a question and answer session the following questions and comments were made:

Atty. George Keller, St. Joseph, said he no longer takes clients who smoke and those who do he helps quit. He said he allows no smoking in his office by employees or anyone who enters. W.J. Banyon, editor and publisher of this newspaper, asked if using "snuff" or chewing tobacco might be a satisfactory change from smoking.

Habenicht, jokingly, said it could be because you can get tongue cancer instead of lung cancer. With tongue cancer you'll be able to see it, in which case you can get a doctor and have your tongue removed. David Upton, president-treasurer of the Southwestern Michigan Abstract & Title Co., St. Joseph, asked if nonsmokers breathing the smoke of smokers isn't a problem.

Habenicht said it was a serious problem, especially for children growing up in a home with parents who smoke. He said only 30 per cent of the smoke from a cigarette is retained by the smoker and the other 70 per cent is left in the open for others to inhale.

Habenicht concluded his speech by outlining the "five-day stop smoking" program which he teaches. Some of the points of the program brought out were:

—The prospective "quitter" must drink eight glasses of water a day for the five days. He or she must go 48 hours with almost no food restricting his intake to water, fruit juices or fruits.

—During the five days there should be no caffeine intake. Stop the liquor intake for several weeks as it can tamper with the mental determination of a prospective quitter. Don't quit all at once, but make it a gradual thing.

Habenicht said the "five-day stop smoking" program usually works on a long-term basis for about 50 per cent of those who try it.

Woman Conducts At Met

Heads Boston Opera

SARAH CALDWELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Women orchestral conductors are so rare that when Sarah Caldwell of Boston conducted the Metropolitan Opera's "La Traviata" in January, it was a first.

Earlier in the season she had been the first woman to conduct a New York Philharmonic gala pension fund concert. However, the Philharmonic had had a couple of women conduct before. Nidia Boulanger in 1939 and 1962 and Rosalyn Tureck, from the keyboard, in 1968.

Sarah Caldwell knows that women conductors have been having a difficult time getting work, as have women orchestra players. And women composers have been experiencing difficulty getting their orchestral works played. "I'm sure it has been difficult," she says. "I don't want to belittle the situation. But I guess I'm one of the fortunate people who has been able to do my own thing."

Her own thing hasn't been beating at the doors of orchestras, trying to get them to let her conduct. It has been the Opera Company of Boston. The Opera Company of Boston, since the city doesn't have a proper opera house, has performed in various movie theaters, an ice skating rink, gymnasiums, flower markets, athletic cages, with some of the rehearsals in a bowling alley.

Miss Caldwell is famed for her remarkable stagings. Some of these were devised to solve very difficult problems presented by the "opera house" of the moment.

The high, wide, shallow stage where "The Trojans" got its first United States staging — two years before the Met — couldn't have anything built on it. There wouldn't have been room for the singers to walk behind or in front of it. So there was one dramatic effect, more memorable than the Met's non-stop lavishness — a tall, wooden Trojan horse was wheeled on, a trap door opened in its side, a ladder was lowered and one man after another climbed out.

In the 1970 "The Good Soldier Schweik," presented on a dirt-floor athletic cage at MIT, Miss Caldwell used mixed media. "I'm trying to find a really expressive use of mixed media," she says. "I know it can be done. So many efforts have been abortive. I think the proscenium stage almost repels the mixture. One has to think very carefully about what each element can bring to the audience and how to combine them so they don't fight and it is not gimmicky."

"I feel so strongly that it is the impact of human personality on the audience that makes the art form of opera work."

First U.S. Concerts To Be Commemorated

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The first public concerts in the American colonies will be commemorated here in June by the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center in New York.

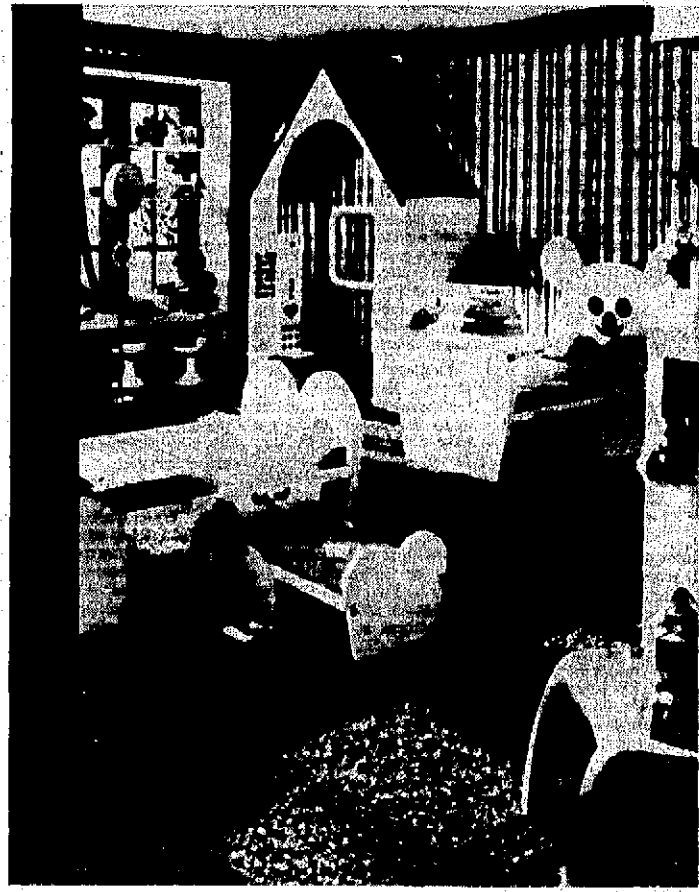

There will be three concerts at the historic Dock Theater in Charleston, the city in which United States concert history began in 1731.

Highlight of the program, to be given under the auspices of the Charleston Concert Association, will be the premiere of a work by American composer Stanely Silverman.

It was commissioned by the International Society of Performing Arts Administrators and the South Carolina Arts Commission and is dedicated to the Bicentennial. The commission stipulated that Silverman should write a piece of chamber music patterned after the 1731 Charleston concert as to instrumentation and style.

Red, White, And Blue Popular

Classic Colors

In the midst of the Bicentennial, red, white and blue can still hang in there as a color scheme that isn't necessarily patriotic or nautical.

The three-color classic is in fact more popular today if it is used in a way that allows it to be different from Colonial life-and-death type schemes.

Interior designers for a leading floor coverings manufacturer use red, white and blue in a simple nursery book-inspired room concept that has rousing contrast for dramatic results.

The "Goldilocks and the Three Bears" children's room employs blue shag carpet for a backdrop that is perfect counterpoint for the cheerful wall-paper and polka dot bedding to turn the decorator trick.

To avoid a crowded look, as well as to make maintenance-easier, furnishings are kept to a minimum. The concentration instead is on the lively striped crayon-proof wallpaper. Simply creates a "perfect child's play" atmosphere.

Bed headboards are simple do-it-yourself wooden boards that can be easily cut by the average handyman with ordinary tools. Mattresses are six-inch thick foam rubber. Eyes, nose and mouth are felt appliques glued on; when the child gets older, the ears (round attachments on headboards) can be removed to make way for maturity. Bow ties are simply bedpillows tied in the middle.

The same easy construction isolates a play house section — and again, do-it-yourself projects are in evidence with the shelving in the window area. One shelf is placed at the perfect height to be used as a desk, ideally located for available natural light. Electric lamp on the night table has an interesting base of assorted sized squares made by the handyman.

Probably the easiest DIY project in the entire room is the carpeting. With its own foam backing, no pad is necessary. It is easily cut with shears, and seams are joined with double-faced carpet tape.

Scrutable plastic chairs, stools and storage bin allow for a very clean, pick-up look at all times.

An-acoustical ceiling helps make the room fairly soundproof as well as child-proof.

Ideally designed to pair up a pair of brothers or sisters, the third Baby Bear's bed is whimsically suited for a doll, stuffed toy or pet (if Mom will allow!).

CHILDREN'S ROOM: Red-White-and-Blue is the color theme for this delightful children's room. "Goldilocks and the 3 Bears" live "happily ever after" in a room filled with clever and easy-to-keep-clean projects including carpeting and ceiling tile.

ATTENTION! Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

Earlier in the season she had been the first woman to conduct a New York Philharmonic gala pension fund concert. However, the Philharmonic had had a couple of women conduct before, Nadia Boulanger in 1939 and 1962 and Rosalyn Tureck, from the keyboard, in 1958.

Sarah Caldwell knows that women conductors have been having a difficult time getting work, as have women orchestra players. And women composers have been experiencing difficulty getting their orchestral works played. "I'm sure it has been difficult," she says. "I don't want to belittle the situation. But I guess I'm one of the fortunate people who has been able to do my own thing."

Her own thing hasn't been beating at the doors of orchestras, trying to get them to let her conduct. It has been the Opera Company of Boston. The Opera Company of Boston, since the city doesn't have a proper opera house, has performed in various movie theaters, an ice skating rink, gymnasiums, flower markets, athletic cages, with some of the rehearsals in a bowling alley.

Miss Caldwell is famed for her remarkable stagings. Some of those were devised to solve very difficult problems presented by the "opera house" of the moment.

The high, wide, shallow stage where "The Trojans" got its first United States staging — two years before the Met — couldn't have anything built on it. There wouldn't have been room for the singers to walk behind or in front of it. So there was one dramatic effect, more memorable than the Met's non-stop lavishness — a tall, wooden Trojan horse was wheeled on, a trap door opened in its side, a ladder was lowered and one man after another climbed out.

In the 1970 "The Good Soldier Schweik," presented on a dirt-floor athletic cage at MIT, Miss Caldwell used mixed media. "I'm trying to find a really expressive use of mixed media," she says. "I know it can be done. So many efforts have been abortive. I think the prosenium stage almost repels the mixture. One has to think very carefully about what each element can bring to the audience and how to combine them so they don't fight and it is not gimmicky."

"I feel so strongly that it is the impact of human personality on the audience that makes the art form of opera work.

"The Good Soldier Schweik" was done in a large athletic facility. We moved performers around to various places — battlefields, burial grounds. We divided the hall into three sections. When the performers were distant from certain segments of the audience, we had the performers filmed and their faces projected on large screens. The small wind chamber orchestra drove around in golf carts that looked like World War I tanks, so they were always with the performers. It was interesting. Everything we did, we did for a reason and the audience loved it."

Miss Caldwell, with her company presenting only 12 performances of four operas per year, still has made Boston a major United States opera center. The Opera Company of Boston has presented nine American premieres. American superstar Beverly Sills is sufficiently impressed with what is going on at the Opera Company of Boston to have sung in 13 different operas there in the last 10 years.

Miss Caldwell's next intention is to build a $12-million, three-theater opera center in Boston. That sounds impossible. But then, starting an opera company from scratch in 1957 in Boston sounded impossible, too.

This opera dynamo is soft spoken, her smile warm and sincere. She has been taken to the hearts of Bostonians and just about everybody else who meets her.

She was born in Maryville, Mo., 47 years ago and started playing violin at four. When she went to the New England Conservatory, "I was always tremendously interested in the theater but my original impulse was to be a violinist. The moment came when I had to make up my mind. I had several offers of jobs with symphony orchestras and an offer of a very modest — very modest — job in the New England Conservatory opera workshop. I took that."

"Later, when I was teaching at Boston university, as head of the opera department there, students graduated into a world in which there was no profession for them. I thought it would be tremendously interesting to see if we could find a way to make a company take roots in the city."

She chose Boston as a place to start an opera company only because she happened to be in Boston. She lives now in a suburb, Weston, with her widowed mother and a West Highland terrier named Cranberry.

Her trips abroad are spent searching for scores and doing research. The set for "Tosca," for instance, looked like the interior of the actual Italian church used in the libretto. As for a resting vacation, she says, "I think I could sit in the sun maybe 30 minutes without having a project to think about."

For the Opera Society of Boston, she chooses the operas, hires the singers, confers with the set and costume designers about her conception of the look of the opera, directs the stage action and conducts the orchestra. Of course she's always ready to raise money.

Miss Caldwell believes that any person, opera buff or not, seeing and hearing a well-presented opera, will enjoy it. What we need, she maintains, are more well-presented operas to give more people a chance to attend them. She firmly maintains that "a country that can sell green toothpaste can sell opera."

This season, Miss Caldwell has found herself much in demand as a guest conductor of orchestras.

First U.S. Concerts To Be Commemorated

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The first public concerts in the American colonies will be commemorated here in June by the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center in New York.

There will be three concerts at the historic Dock Theater in Charleston, the city in which United States concert history began in 1731.

Highlight of the program, to be given under the auspices of the Charleston Concert Association, will be the premiere of a work by American composer Stanley Silverman.

It was commissioned by the International Society of Performing Arts Administrators and the South Carolina Arts Commission and is dedicated to the Bicentennial. The commission stipulated that Silverman should write a piece of chamber music patterned after the 1731 Charleston concerts as to instrumentation and style.

Probably the easiest DIY project in the entire room is the carpeting. With its own foam backing, no pad is necessary. It is easily cut with shears, and seams are joined with double-faced carpet tape.

Scrubable plastic chairs, stools and storage bin allow for a very clean, pick-up look at all times.

An acoustical ceiling helps make the room fairly soundproof as well as child-proof.

Ideally designed to pair up a pair of brothers or sisters, the third Baby Bear's bed is whimsically suited for a doll, stuffed toy or pet (if Mom will allow!).

Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

Best Food Buys For February

February is a good month for most folks, says Maryann Beckman, Consumer Food Marketing Agent, because there are fewer days which help food budgets.

It's also a month of festive occasions and the foods that begin to arrive signal the coming of spring, at least in some areas of the country.

Frozen and canned red tart cherries will get special attention during February to tie in with Valentine's Day and Washington's birthday traditions.

Sauerkraut will also be featured in many markets to tie in with National Sauerkraut and Frankfurter week, Feb. 12-21.

Other canned or frozen fruits that will be good values are canned fruit cocktail, cling peaches and pears. Frozen concentrated grapefruit juice, especially, and frozen orange juice should also be good values for households that are also rich in Vitamin C. Canned green beans, corn, peas, tomatoes and tomato products of all kinds are the best vegetable values.

When it comes to fresh vegetables, there are many that are now in good supply at steady or slightly lower prices. The value leaders are broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, escarole and endive, other salad greens, mushrooms, parsnips, spinach, turnips and rutabagas.

Sweet potatoes and winter squash both decline in supply and increase in price this month. Supplies of tomatoes and sweet corn are on the increase though. Sweet corn quality is reported as excellent for this time of year. This is the second of the peak supply months for Chinese cabbage, too.

Lettuce demand is only moderate, so prices are lower. The Lower Rio Grande Valley in Texas is now in peak production so volume is increasing and prices dropping. Some California lettuce shows frost damage, so check quality before buying.

The white potato market is steady to firm, while dry onion supplies are small and high priced. Consumers began resisting buying onions in December and appear to continue to be doing so, for prices are three times as high as a year ago. Supplies will be small and high priced until the spring Texas crop starts in a few weeks. This may be the time you'll want to switch to dehydrated onion products instead of fresh.

Early season predictions from both Florida and California predicted record grapefruit and orange crops this year, as did Texas and Arizona. However, since then, both California and Florida have been hit with frosts and extremely cold weather, which has damaged oranges especially.

Since damage estimates aren't completely known yet, it's difficult to determine the extent of price increases on oranges, but they're bound to go up. California Navel oranges were reported as hardest hit. Texas and Arizona grapefruit missed the cold though, so ample grapefruit supplies should be available at most reasonable prices.

Other fruit leaders will be apples, now coming mostly from Controlled Atmosphere storages; bananas and winter pears. Pineapple supplies begin to increase in February, building toward their spring peak. Rhubarb shows up in markets again, as a spring tonic, but won't be in peak supply until March and April. Strawberries and watermelon, both primarily from Mexico at this time, increase in supply this month, too.

Pork cattle marketings for the rest of the first quarter could be the largest since mid-1974 and could be up as much as 10 percent over late 1975. Non-fed cattle slaughter will decline, however. What it all means is that you're likely to see more United States Choice grade beef and less grass-fed beef in markets, and perhaps some lower prices.

Significant increases in pork production do not seem likely until at least mid-year, so you'll continue to see high pork prices for a while. More chicken and beef coming to markets will help keep pork prices from going out of sight, however.

Broiler-fryer prices for February are likely to remain stable, with some continued features seen, too. Prices will advance slightly by March, when spring approaches and consumer demand increases, so this is a good month to tuck a few extra birds into the freezer for later spring eating.

Both turkey and egg prices are declining. Egg prices will likely be about five cents less than January, due to an increase in number of pullets coming into production. You'll likely see even more turkey specials this month than last, on whole birds as well as drumsticks.

AAUW Plans Programs On Finance

Two February programs, dealing with financial information concerning women, will be presented to members, their husbands, and guests, of the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph branch of American Association of University Women.

The programs, titled "The Woman Alone," will be presented by officials of twin city area banking institutions.

The first of the series will be held Wednesday, Feb. 11, with a 7:15 p.m. business meeting, followed by the program at 7:30 p.m., at Maud Preston Palenske Memorial library, St. Joseph.

Robert L. Vandenberg, senior vice president and senior trust officer at Farmers and Merchants National bank, Benton Harbor, and James E. Taylor, vice president and trust officer, also of F&M, Benton Harbor, will present "Living Trusts," practical considerations in the use of wills and trusts, in present-day estate planning.

The second meeting will be held Wednesday, Feb. 18, at 7:30 p.m., at Inter-City bank, 2600 Cleveland, St. Joseph. The program will be a panel discussion on "Women in the World of Credit."

Moderating the panel will be Robert B. Wheeler, branch manager and marketing director for ICB.

Panel members will include Atty. Rodger V. Bittner, of the law firm of Glozensky, Gleiss, Henderson and Bittner, who will discuss the Fair Credit Opportunity Act; James W. Falvey, vice president of ICB, discussing the woman in today's mortgage market; and Robert J. Small, vice president and manager of the personal loan department of ICB, who will discuss the woman in personal lending.

Mrs. Jerry (Mary Ann) Curry is chairman of the hospitality committee for the Feb. 11 meeting. Members of her committee are Mrs. Anson (Shirley) Kahn, Mrs. Duane (Barbara) Dittlinger and Mrs. Donald (Connie) Beck.

Hospitality chairman for the Feb. 18 meeting is Mrs. Dennis (Lynn) Bowen. Her committee includes Mrs. Morris (Martha) Nelson, Mrs. John (Carolyn) Spurr, and Mrs. Charles (Darlene) Murray. Refreshments will be served at both programs.

Only Hurts When You Laugh

Face it. There are certain accidents to others where one finds it difficult to suppress a grin.

That's the contention of the Health Insurance Institute, which provides these examples from insurance company files:

In Hollywood, the fire department reported that the only victim of a fire in a motel room was a cat overcome by smoke.

According to Fire Capt. Gary Rummell, it was revived by administering mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Recently a homeowner was installing a new TV aerial on his roof. He worked for several hours, always careful not to get too near the edge of the roof or lose his balance.

After tying down the last support, he stepped back to make sure the aerial was straight — and stepped right off the roof, falling into the flower bed below.

Then there was a doctor who told it exactly like it was. He wrote: "Patient hit by truck. No neurological function. No respiration. No cardiac action. This condition is incompatible with life."

An Auburn, Calif., woman spectacularly flunked her first driving test by ramming her car through the wall of the city's Department of Motor Vehicles.

Three persons in the building, described as "pedestrians," had to be treated for cuts and bruises.

Said Bob Griffiths, the examiner who rode with the woman, "She was really nervous." So was Bob when the car hit the building.

There's the unusual tale of a policyholder who had undergone an eight-hour brain surgery operation for which he was paid promptly by his insurance company.

But the very next day the company received another claim resulting from the same surgery, this one from the surgeon who was also a policyholder.

It turned out that the length of time and the delicate nature of the brain surgery had so frayed the doctor's nerves that he suffered a nervous breakdown.

He, too, received a series of payments.

Here's an accident report exactly as it was stated in an agent's insurance claim statement: "Policyholder was attending a safety award meeting and was struck by an award — a desk clock — and chipped a front tooth."

And finally, the Amphibious Ancient Bathing Association of Scotland insured six swimmers taking part in a 24 mile race in Loch Ness against attack by the Loch Ness Monster.

Swimming coach Dennis Sullivan's explanation: "We can't be too careful."

Only Hurts When You Laugh

Face it. There are certain accidents to others where one finds it difficult to suppress a grin.

That's the contention of the Health Insurance Institute, which provides these examples from insurance company files: — In Hollywood, the fire department reported that the only victim of a fire in a motel room was a cat overcome by smoke.

According to Fire Capt. Gary Rummell, it was revived by administering mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

— Recently a homeowner was installing a new TV aerial on his roof. He worked for several hours, always careful not to get too near the edge of the roof or lose his balance.

After tying down the last support, he stepped back to make sure the aerial was straight — and stepped right off the roof, falling into the flower bed below.

— Then there was a doctor who told it exactly like it was.

He wrote: "Patient hit by truck. No neurologic function. No respiration. No cardiac action. This condition is incompatible with life."

— An Auburn, Calif., woman spectacularly flunked her first driving test by ramming her car through the wall of the city's Department of Motor Vehicles.

Three persons in the building, described as "pedestrians," had to be treated for cuts and bruises.

Said Bob Griffiths, the examiner who rode with the woman, "She was really nervous." So was Bob when the car hit the building.

— There's the unusual tale of a policyholder who had undergone an eight-hour brain surgery operation for which he was paid promptly by his insurance company.

But the very next day the company received another claim resulting from the same surgery, this one from the surgeon who was also a policyholder.

It turned out that the length of time and the delicate nature of the brain surgery had so frayed the doctor's nerves that he suffered a nervous breakdown.

He, too, received a series of payments.

— Here's an accident report exactly as it was stated in an agent's insurance claim statement: "Policyholder was attending a safety award meeting and was struck by an award — a desk clock — and chipped a front tooth."

— And finally, the Amphibious Ancient Bathing Association of Scotland insured six swimmers taking part in a 24 mile race in Loch Ness against attack by the Loch Ness Monster.

Swimming coach Dennis Sullivan's explanation: "We can't be too careful."

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

More 'Sorry' Than 'Glad'

Dear Readers: Recently, "Grumpwich from Atlanta" wrote to say she made tremendous sacrifices to put her husband through professional school and now she feels left behind socially and intellectually. The unhappy woman (now 40) wondered how other wives who did the same thing feel about it. I told her I'd ask. Well, I did — and they let me know in very emphatic language. Although the "grumpers" invariably have a stronger compulsion to write than those who are FOR something, I was astonished that the women who said "I'm sorry I did it" outnumbered, by eight to one, those who said "I'm glad."

Dear Ann: I, too, put my husband through school. Sorry? You bet. After five years of slaving (two of those years were in a factory, the only job I could find), guess what he told me.

"You wouldn't fit in. Your grammar and vocabulary would be an embarrassment. You should have been studying evenings, after work." (He didn't say who would be doing the washing and ironing and marketing and cooking and cleaning.) If I had it to do over again — I'd have put MYSELF through and let him paddle his own canoe. — Blew It

Dear Ann: I put my husband through dental school and he put me through hell. The whole time I was working 60 hours a week, he was playing games with a girl in his class. I didn't have a clue. The week after he got his diploma, he told me I wasn't "his type" and opened an office with the girlfriend — whom he later married. — Just Call Me Bonehead

Dear Ann: I met Joe when we were in high school. He wanted to be an engineer. We both worked until his junior year, then Joe lost his job, so I worked a double shift three days a week. Joe graduated with honors and I was so thrilled I hawled for three days. That was 14 years ago. Today we have four children and a wonderful marriage. Joe tells everyone he couldn't have made it without me. He's just as proud of me as I am of him. — Happy in Hartford

Dear Ann: I'm a guy who put my girl through college. We were childhood sweethearts. In love as far back as I can remember. I went into my dad's business after one year of college and we were married. She wanted to be a nurse so I put her through. (For five years I ate plenty of canned junk and picked up lots of Chinese food.) After two years of nursing she divorced me and married a doctor because we had "nothing to talk about anymore." — The Boob

Dear Ann: I put my husband through law school and worked like a dog to do it. After 25 years of marriage he left me for a young chicken but I'm not crying. Let HER worry about his high blood pressure, his arthritis and kidney stones. At least I won't have to pay for his funeral, too. — Better Off From Chicago. The lady from Atlanta hit the nail on the head.

But I was dumber yet. I worked in an all-night diner and scripped and saved to put the jerk through four years of undergraduate school. The Honorable Doctor left me, not for a woman who was better educated than I, but — get this — a short, fat, bald, middle-aged guy. — It Only Hurts When I Laugh

Afro-American History Display

In recognition of Afro-American History Month, Benton Harbor public library will feature a display in the children's room of books about black Americans and books written by black authors.

Teachers, group leaders and their classes are invited to tour the library during the month.

The film, "Eisa and Her Cubs," will be shown during the pre-school story hour Wednesday, Feb. 4, from 10 to 10:45 a.m. The story is of the famous lioness and how she cares for her cubs.

The film will again be shown Friday, Feb. 6, at 4 p.m. as well as "Loon's Necklace," an Indian legend of how the loon got its feathers and "Castles Made of Sand," a story showing young and old people making sand castles, only to have them last a short time.

New craft books added to the children's room include "How to Make Something Out of Practically Nothing," Barbara Corrigan; "Decoupage Crafts," Florence Tenko and "Patchwork," Judith Choate and Jane Green.

Our whole household revolves around the constant illnesses of my older brother. He's now 29. Never a day passes that he doesn't complain of some pain or ache. He can't hold a job because his absentee rate is so high.

His doctor, a family friend, is sympathetic, even though he cannot find any basis for the symptoms. All of us are desperately in need of help.

Miss B.L., Calif.

Dear Miss L.: The medical, psychological and social forces that you describe are typical of hypochondria. This is an abnormal preoccupation with symptoms of illness.

Those burdened by this problem concentrate all their energies on their body functions, their food intake, and their minor pains and aches. It must not be denied that, even in the absence of a known cause, they really suffer, emotionally and physically, from their phantom diseases.

They seem to gain little or no support from repeated examinations by their doctors. A series of injections, antibiotics, or physical therapy may be effective. Soon, however, the benefits disappear and the hypochondriac returns to the distress of his non-existent diseases.

Many bounce from doctor to doctor, hoping that someone will free them from the yoke of suffering.

Even worse, the hypochondriac becomes an easy prey for exploitation by every form of quackery.

Their emotions and their finances often become totally exhausted and, eventually, are hopelessly ensnared by their own created diseases.

Your whole family now is being strangled by another person's fantasy. It must be clear to you that sympathy and understanding are not the complete answers to this massive problem.

Undoubtedly, a psychiatrist or a psychologist long ago should have probed into his emotional background, in order to uncover the origin of the conflict that lies within him.

This approach represents a radical departure from all other forms of treatment that have been tried up to now. It will take a great deal of courage on your brother's part to relinquish his comfortable refuge of hypochondria and to get at the cause of his emotional conflict. At this point you can offer your greatest contribution to his eventual return to physical and emotional good health. By following the suggestion of the psychiatrist, you can offer him support and encouragement.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has a special eye-care booklet available called, "What You Should Know About Glaucoma and Cataracts." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (eye booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

Ask the Jacobys

A Louisiana reader wants to know if we have found a particular suit to be lucky for us.

The answer is yes. Spades are our lucky suit. This isn't a matter of superstition. They are lucky for everyone because they outrank the other three.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Wanda White of Dallas lets her advanced pupils have the fun of bidding and playing today's hand.

At least the bidding is fun. Practically all of them arrive at six spades. The slam contract is not a good one, but most of the world's best players would also find their way to that unworld contract.

The play is no fun for them. They all lose a heart trick and trump trick.

Then Wanda points out that some chance to make a contract is better than no chance and the contract can be made.

American History Display

In recognition of Afro-American History Month, Benton Harbor public library will feature a display in the children's room of books about black Americans and books written by black authors.

Teachers, group leaders and their classes are invited to tour the library during the month.

The film, "Elsa and Her Cubs," will be shown during the pre-school story hour Wednesday, Feb. 4, from 10 to 10:45 a.m. The story is of the famous lioness and how she cares for her cubs.

The film will again be shown Friday, Feb. 6, at 4 p.m. as well as "Loon's Necklace," an Indian legend of how the loon got its feathers and "Castles Made of Sand," a story showing young and old people making sand castles, only to have them last a short time.

New craft books added to the children's room include "How to Make Something Out of Practically Nothing," Barbara Corrigan; "Decoupage Crafts," Florence Temko and "Patchwork," Judith Choate and Jane Green.

Our whole household revolves around the constant illnesses of my older brother. He's now 29. Never a day passes that he doesn't complain of some pain or ache. He can't hold a job because his absentee rate is so high.

His doctor, a family friend, is sympathetic, even though he cannot find any basis for the symptoms. All of us are desperately in need of help.

Miss B.L., Calif.

Dear Miss L.:

The medical, psychological and social forces that you describe are typical of hypochondria. This is an abnormal preoccupation with symptoms of illness.

Those burdened by this problem concentrate all their energies on their body functions, their food intake, and their minor pains and aches. It must not be denied that, even in the absence of a known cause, they really suffer, emotionally and physically, from their phantom diseases.

They seem to gain little or no support from repeated examinations by their doctors. A series of injections, antio-tics, or physical therapy may be effective. Soon, however, the benefits disappear and the hypochondriac returns to the distress of his non-existent diseases.

Many bounce from doctor to doctor, hoping that someone will free them from the yoke of suffering.

Even worse, the hypochondriac becomes an easy prey for exploitation by every form of quackery.

Their emotions and their finances often become totally exhausted and, eventually, are hopelessly ensnared by their own created diseases.

Your whole family now is being strangled by another person's fantasy. It must be clear to you that sympathy and understanding are not the complete answers to this massive problem.

Undoubtedly, a psychiatrist or a psychologist long ago should have probed into his emotional background, in order to uncover the origin of the conflict that lies within him.

This approach represents a radical departure from all other forms of treatment that have been tried up to now. It will take a great deal of courage on your brother's part to relinquish his comfortable refuge of hypochondriasis and to get at the source of his emotional conflict. At this point you can offer your greatest contribution to his eventual return to physical and emotional good health. By following the suggestion of the psychiatrist, you can offer him support and encouragement.

PBB Threat Is Not 'Significant'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — PBB contamination isn't a "significant health threat" to the public so far, but it will be years before its long term effects are known, a state study said.

The state Department of Public Health reported Monday research it has done on the problem since 1974 has so far failed to link any syndrome, group of symptoms, or signs of illness to exposure to the toxic fire retardant.

The general public does not face significant exposure to the chemical, which was accidentally mixed with cattle feed several years ago, resulting in widespread poisoning of Michigan livestock. But many persons in farm families directly exposed to the chemical have complained of tiredness, the report said.

The department said in its report, however, that "Nothing can be said concerning possible long term effects of PBB on human health, even at low levels, because there is no information on which to base such statements."

Between 10,000 to 12,000 people may have been directly exposed to PBB from contaminated farms, the report said.

About 4,000 of these people will be included in a proposed long-term study aimed at measuring the effect of PBB on humans over an extended period of time.

PBB, or polybrominated biphenyl, was accidentally mixed with cattle feed in 1973. Thousands of cattle and millions of chickens who ate the contaminated feed were destroyed. The report said that at least six babies have been born to parents who were exposed to PBB.

"Deliveries were normal, no abnormalities were reported, and the infants are progressing normally," the report said.

However the department has recommended mothers with significant levels of PBB not breastfeed their children to help decrease the infants' exposure to it.

The general public doesn't face a "significant exposure risk" to PBB from food sold. The federal government has said that animals with more than three tenths parts per million PBB in their bodies must be destroyed.

Contractor Antes Up $564,013

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Northrop Corp., one of the nation's largest defense contractors, has been forced to return to the Air Force $564,013 in improper costs charged for entertaining Pentagon employees, the Defense Department said today.

William P. Clements Jr., deputy secretary of defense, said the Pentagon also has suspended final payment on all Northrop contracts other than those with firm, fixed prices, until an audit is completed.

Meanwhile, it was learned the joint congressional committee on defense production is preparing to make public the names of dozens of Pentagon officials — including several generals — who were entertained at hunting lodges maintained by Northrop, Rockwell International Corp. and other defense contractors.

Clements, in announcing the suspension of payments to Northrop, said that in the future the firm will be required to demonstrate the reasonableness of all indirect overhead costs charged to the government, and that its figures will be checked until auditors are convinced they are valid.

Further details of the Northrop refund to the Air Force were not immediately available. Pentagon regulations prohibit defense contractors from charging for any expense incurred in entertaining government employees.

Clements also said audits are being conducted on 10 other major defense contractors to learn if they sought or obtained reimbursement for entertainment costs not allowable under Pentagon procurement regulations.

Clements identified the other firms as the Raytheon Corp., Rockwell, Hughes Aircraft Co., Martin Marietta Inc., Boeing Aircraft Corp., General Dynamics Corp., Lockheed Aircraft Co., Sperry Rand Corp., the Grumman Corp. and LTV Corp.

In addition, Clements said the Pentagon has opened "an informal confidential inquiry" regarding entertainment offered by a total of 43 defense contractors.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the joint panel on defense production, said evidence shows that corporate entertainment is "widespread, systematic, carefully planned and costly." He said it is aimed at creating "a network of obligations" which can be exploited to the company's benefit.

In testimony Monday, Thomas V. Jones, Northrop president, and Robert Anderson, Rockwell president, said the hunting, free drinks, lunches, dinners and tickets to sporting events were intended only to foster good will and improve communications between company officials and their Pentagon counterparts.

The executives said their companies never intended to take advantage of the social contacts to influence government contract decisions.

They also said all offers of entertainment and other gratuities have been stopped and will not be revived.

Michigan And MSU Get Cancer Grants

Grants totaling $290,584 for cancer research and clinical investigation have been awarded to the University of Michigan and Michigan State University, according to the Michigan division, American Cancer Society, headquartered in Lansing.

The grants, effective Jan. 1 of this year, include $290,583 to the U-M and $108,531 to MSU.

Charles Loud, executive director of the Berrien county cancer unit, 1501 Niles avenue, St. Joseph, said the areas of research include biochemistry, virology, and cell biology. He said 29 per cent of the money raised in Berrien county last year was funneled into research programs.

Loud said other disbursements by percentages of funds raised in Berrien were public education 17.2, community services 9.3, management and general 9.6, fund raising 11.7, patient services 12.7 and professional education 10.5.

Nursing Home Aide Charged After Fire

CHICAGO (AP) — A nurse's aide was charged today with arson and felony murder in connection with a North Side nursing home fire that claimed 15 lives and injured more than 30.

Cook County State's Atty. Bernard Carey announced that Denise Watson, 21, had been charged following two days of investigation. He declined to say whether she had signed a statement or cooperated with investigators after being arrested Monday.

Miss Watson had worked for less than three weeks at the Wincrest Manor Nursing and Rest Home when the fire broke out last Friday. Authorities said she had been questioned but not charged in connection with several other fires in Chicago as well as in her home town of Shawneetown, Ill.

Shortly before the charges were announced, the 18th death from the fire was reported. Lillian C. Perry, 85, died early today of smoke inhalation. A few hours earlier, Childe Tibbo, 94, also died of injuries suffered in the blaze.

Twenty-five elderly residents of the home remained hospitalized, 11 in critical condition. Miss Watson was arrested as she left St. Francis Hospital in Evanston where she had been under treatment for smoke inhalation.

Police Supt. James Rochford described her as having "a bad history of pyromania and involvement in a series of arson situations."

Carey's office had been considering civil action to have Miss Watson committed to a mental institution, a spokesman said, but withdrew petitions for such action shortly before announcing the criminal charges.

Most of the more than 30 persons injured in the blaze suffered smoke inhalation. Many were attending Mass in the home's top-floor chapel when the fire broke out.

Eleven To Go

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The judge in Patricia Hearst's trial for bank robbery set his sights today on completing selection of a jury that could begin hearing testimony Wednesday — two years to the day after the heiress was kidnapped by terrorists.

Nine more persons were chosen Monday for the pool of 30 prospects from which the jury will be seated, leaving 11 more to be picked.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter, who suggested last Tuesday as the trial began that a jury could be impaneled within two days, predicted the jury would be seated today.

Untaxable

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Local governments cannot tax alcohol or buildings owned by the state Liquor Control Commission, the state Court of Appeals has ruled. The appeals court said Monday state law stipulates that state property is untaxable.

AMPHITHEATER DOOMED: This surgical amphitheater located next to Harper building, Detroit's oldest hospital building, will be torn down along with Harper building despite efforts by local doctors, historians and officials to save them. Amphitheater, although crumbling, is now used for storage of old records. (AP Wirephoto)

How They Try To Hide Snakes, Ducks And Booze

DETROIT (AP) — Ann Broker has seen a lot of strange things in her five years as a U.S. Customs Inspector. — like the woman who tried to hide a dead duck under her skirt or the traveler who wrapped a pet snake around her waist.

The dead duck turned up when a woman tried to pass through customs from Windsor, Ont., to Detroit at the Ambassador Bridge with a suspiciously lumpy-looking dress. The woman was ordered to submit to a "strip search" and the bird was discovered.

The would-be smuggler was turned over to Canadian wildlife authorities because the duck was bagged without a hunting license.

Mrs. Broker says the strip searches, although necessary, are the least appealing part of her job.

Among the things she's found during such searches were 40-ounce bottles of liquor stuffed into women's girdles, pistols packed into brassieres and marijuana taped inside a wig.

"It's usually large women who try to smuggle in liquor, they bought at the duty-free store before they went into Canada," Mrs. Broker said.

"They think it won't be noticed because they don't expect to have to get out of their car. But if, by some fluke, they are pulled over for a search and have to get out, it becomes rather obvious."

There is apparently no limit to the things that people try to conceal, Mrs. Broker said. One woman who was searched had a pet snake wrapped around her waist — "supposedly to keep it warm."

Mrs. Broker is one of 23 women who are customs inspectors in the Detroit area. There are 77 male inspectors. They work with U.S. immigration inspectors to screen people and goods coming into the country.

The customs inspectors rotate assignments and working hours at the bridge and tunnel connecting Detroit and Canada and at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport and railroad and shipping terminals.

THIRTY-THREE YEARS

DETROIT (AP) — Walter J. Simons, a financial vice president and former treasurer of Chrysler Corp., is retiring April 30 after 33 years with the firm, the auto company announced Monday.

Wrecker's Ball Heading For Old Detroit Hospital

DETROIT (AP) — Harper Hospital is about to tear down Detroit's oldest hospital building and put up a parking lot.

Local doctors, historians and officials have attempted to save the 91-year-old Harper building, as well as an operating amphitheater the hospital says it will also tear down. The amphitheater is one of a few remaining in the country.

The hospital's 91-year-old Harper building, built as a replacement for a Civil War military hospital, will be torn down a year from now and be replaced by an 800-space parking structure. It was in this building that Detroit surgeons helped perfect the technique for the appendectomy.

The building has not housed patients since 1928, when it was remodeled for offices.

The old building also was the home for an ambulance service established in 1887. Drivers of the horse-drawn vehicles would race other hospitals' ambulances for patients. The first ambulance was demolished when it collided with a beer truck. The badly injured horse had to be killed with a sledge.

"It's a very beautiful building," said Beniah Groen, executive director of the Detroit Historic Preservation Committee. "I think, too, that one of the aspects that is so horrendous is that they want to replace it with."

Adjacent to the Harper Building is a 400-seat, three-story amphitheater, completed in 1903, where surgeons performed operations watched by medical and nursing students.

"The amphitheater is really a treasure," said Dr. Ned Chalot, past president of the Wayne County Medical Society, who headed an informal effort to save the buildings.

"I took my 13-year-old son around there the other day. He said he thought those things only existed in Frankenstein movies."

The crumbling amphitheater, used now for the storage of old records, will be torn down in the next few weeks when construction workers begin to tunnel under its foundation to make way for recovery rooms for surgical patients.

Hospital officials say saving the two structures is a matter of money. Officials say they would need $250,000 to shore up the amphitheater during construction and another $4.5 million to $5 million to restore.

The Harper building could be saved, officials said, only if money were provided to restore and maintain the building and to purchase additional land for the parking lot.

It's Frostbite Weather

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — It doesn't take record low temperatures to cause frostbite, says a Michigan State University medical expert.

Instead, he says, "A wind-chill factor of eight above is sufficient to cause tissue damage." Dr. Ben Webb says wet weather is most dangerous, and the ears, nose, cheeks, fingers and toes are the most susceptible to frostbite.

The best way to prevent it, he says, is to wear clothing that allows free air circulation and is not so warm that it causes perspiration. Mittens protect fingers better than gloves, he says, and exposed skin should be lubricated with a greasy lanolin lotion before being bared to the cold.

Frostbite occurs when ice crystals form in body tissues, from the skin possibly all the way to deep blood vessels. Symptoms include stinging and numbness. Then the frost-bitten area becomes hardened and acquires a yellowish waxy color, Webb said.

Frostbitten areas should be slowly warmed to between 100 and 105 degrees, he said. Serious cases could lead to blood clots and amputation and should be treated by a doctor, Webb said.

How They Try To Hide Snakes, Ducks And Booze

(AP) — Ann Arbor. Among the things she's found during such searches are 40-ounce bottles of liquor stuffed into women's girdles, pistols packed into brassieres and marijuana taped inside a wig. "It's usually large women who try to smuggle in liquor they bought at the duty-free store before they went into Canada," Mrs. Broker said. "They think it won't be noticed because they don't expect to have to get out of their car. But if, by some fluke, they are pulled over for a search and have to get out, it becomes rather obvious."

There is apparently no limit to the things that people try to conceal, Mrs. Broker said. One woman who was searched had a pet snake wrapped around her waist — "supposedly to keep it warm."

Mrs. Broker is one of 23 women who are customs inspectors in the Detroit area. There are 77 male inspectors. They work with U.S. immigration inspectors to screen people and goods coming into the country.

The customs inspectors rotate assignments and working hours at the bridge and tunnel connecting Detroit and Canada and at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport and railroad and shipping terminals.

THIRTY-THREE YEARS
DETROIT (AP) — Walter J. Simons, a financial vice president and former treasurer of Chrysler Corp., is retiring April 30 after 33 years with the firm, the auto company announced Monday.

Wrecker's Ball Heading For Old Detroit Hospital

DETROIT (AP) — Harper Hospital is about to tear down Detroit's oldest hospital building and put up a parking lot.

Local doctors, historians and officials have attempted to save the 91-year-old Harper building, as well as an operating amphitheater the hospital says it will also tear down. The amphitheater is one of a few remaining in the country.

The hospital's 91-year-old Harper building, built as a replacement for a Civil War military hospital, will be torn down a year from now and be replaced by an 800-space parking structure. It was in this building that Detroit surgeons helped perfect the technique for the appendectomy.

The building has not housed patients since 1928, when it was remodeled for offices.

The old building also was the home for an ambulance service established in 1887. Drivers of the horse-drawn vehicles would race other hospitals' ambulances for patients. The first ambulance was demolished when it collided with a beer truck. The badly injured horse had to be fitted with false teeth.

"It's a very beautiful building," said Beulah Groen, executive director of the Detroit Historic Preservation Committee. "I think, too, that one of the aspects that is so horrendous is what they want to replace it with."

Adjacent to the Harper Building is a 400-seat, three-story amphitheater, completed in 1903, where surgeons performed operations watched by medical and nursing students.

"The amphitheater is really a treasure," said Dr. Ned Chalat, past president of the Wayne County Medical Society, who headed an informal effort to save the buildings.

"I took my 13-year-old son around there the other day. He said he thought those things only existed in Frankenstein movies."

The crumbling amphitheater, used now for the storage of old records, will be torn down in the next few weeks when construction workers begin to tunnel under its foundation to make way for recovery rooms for surgical patients.

Hospital officials say saving the two structures is a matter of money. Officials say they would need $250,000 to shore up the amphitheater during construction and another $4.5 million to $5 million to restore.

The Harper building could be saved, officials said, only if money were provided to restore and maintain the building and to purchase additional land for the parking lot.

Wallace Suffers
Another Leg Injury

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, his paralyzed right leg injured in an accident aboard his campaign plane, left a hospital here early today with a cast on the leg to protect what was described as a strained ligament.

Wallace arrived in Montgomery shortly before midnight, his leg in a plastic inflatable cast put on late Monday in Panama City, Fla. After the examination here, Wallace was flown to the Governor's Mansion for a night's rest. He planned to return to Florida after today to continue his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The injury occurred Monday afternoon after a campaign stop in Pensacola, west of Panama City in the Florida Panhandle. An Alabama state trooper stumbled while carrying Wallace down the aisle of the aircraft and dropped him.

Billy Joe Camp, Wallace's press secretary, had said that the governor would make "a quick trip home" to consult with his personal physician today.

Camp said the decision was later made to take the governor straight to the hospital because Wallace "just wanted to get it over with." He said Wallace was examined by Dr. Mervel V.

Parker, an orthopedic surgeon, who confirmed the diagnosis of a "strained ligament" in the governor's knee.

Wallace told news reporters on arriving in Montgomery that the accident was a "disappointment." But he said he planned to continue the campaign today in Florida.

"I want to explain that the people who put me on the plane dropped me," Wallace said late Monday at a Panama City rally he attended after the plastic cast was put on. "I pulled a ligament. I'm all right though and I hope you know that."

Dr. W. Roland McArthur, an orthopedic surgeon who put the plastic cast on in Panama City, said the leg would have to remain immobile for at least a month.

"It normally takes four weeks for an injury of this type to heal," McArthur said.

Wallace — who is paralyzed from the waist down from injuries suffered when he was shot while campaigning in Maryland in 1972 — suffered a broken leg last year during a physical therapy session.

His opponents have made his health an issue in the campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination. But Wallace insists he is in good physical condition and able to carry on an active campaign.

"I'm as healthy as I ever was except that I can't walk," Wallace repeatedly says.

After the accident Monday, Wallace went to an interview at a local television station before going to the doctor, and then he went to the rally that night.

He got a resounding ovation from about 1,200 people at the rally when he said that his newest leg injury would not in any way affect his campaigning.

"After all, the president of the United States does not ruin the country with his feet," Wallace said. "He runs it with his head."

SNOW, RAIN

Mother Nature Zaps
Atlantic Coast Area

By ROBERT WELLS
Associated Press Writer
Mother Nature turned tables on the Atlantic Coast, dumping 14 inches of snow as far south as North Carolina while heavy rain fell on Maine. Several deaths were blamed on the storm.

The storm Monday was accompanied by strong winds, gusting up to 70 miles per hour in many parts of the Northeast, turning roads into something akin to carnival bumper-car rides, closing schools and bringing power outages throughout the region from downed power lines.

The National Weather Service said late Monday that the storm was moving into Canada but was still being felt in New York and New England. Travel advisories remained in effect for Vermont and northeast New York.

Temperatures were expected to approach zero overnight in the Northeast — or 40 to 50 below when the chill factor from the strong winds are taken into account.

A separate storm spread snow from Missouri into Kentucky and Tennessee overnight, and travelers' advisories were out for Kentucky, Tennessee and the southern portions of Illinois and Indiana. Some snow accumulations also were expected in southern Ohio. Still farther west, a winter storm threatened to bring snow to Montana, the Dakotas and northern Minnesota.

The rain in Maine, made worse by wind-driven high tides, brought floodwaters into downtown Bangor — forcing several motorists to swim to safety from their cars.

A bystander, Harold Goss, 27, swam more than 100 feet to help one such driver, 28-year-old Cynthia Calkins, get out of her submerged car. "We were just standing around and no one was doing anything, so I went in after her," Goss said.

Temperatures dropped sharply later in the day, bringing on some light snow. And authorities said the waters of the Penobscot and Kennebec rivers in Maine began receding, but not before causing damage that would run into the millions.

In Westmoreland, N.Y., two firemen suffered heart attacks while battling a fire. One, Leonard Brown, 60, died before snowbound ambulances — traveling on a path dug out by snowplows — could reach him.

The other fireman was reported in serious condition.

In Brewster, N.Y., Steven Blaney, 48, foreman of the village public works department, died of a heart attack while driving a snow plow.

Police also blamed the weather for the death of a mailman, Wallace Evans, 53, killed in a collision on slippery roads in Milford, Conn.

In Norfolk, Va., a Navy spokesman said one sailor was hurt seriously and six others suffered minor injuries in high winds and heavy seas that delayed the arrival of an amphibious group to this port Tuesday.

Natural Gas Deregulators Believe Victory Is Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of federal price controls on natural gas say they have the best chance in 20 years to win congressional approval of an end to such controls.

The basis for their optimism is that the Senate already has voted to phase out controls over a five-year period and the House is scheduled to take up the issue today after Republicans and Democrats meet in separate strategy sessions.

If natural gas price controls are lifted, it would mean higher heating and gas bills for residences and business alike. Natural gas producers say those higher prices are necessary to pay for the exploration and development of new gas supplies to relieve natural gas shortages.

If price controls are lifted, the Federal Energy Administration estimates that the average cost of heating a home with natural gas in 1980 would be about $290 a year, up from the $170 at 1974 rates.

The immediate focus in the House is a proposal by Rep. Bob Krueger, D-Tex., which would gradually end price controls. If the House votes to allow him, Krueger intends to offer his proposal on the floor as an amendment to another natural gas bill which is designed to provide emergency assistance in natural gas shortages.

The Ford administration is pushing for an end to regulated prices.

After a White House meeting Monday night among President Ford and other House leaders of deregulation forces, Rep.

Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, said the House vote on whether to allow Krueger to make his amendment "will be very close" but said he was optimistic it would pass.

Lawmakers who opposed deregulation argue that since lifting price controls won't materially affect the amount of gas produced this year and next year, Congress should spend more time investigating the issue more thoroughly.

There currently are two pricing arrangements for natural gas. Price controls are maintained at 52 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas sold in the interstate market. The intrastate market prices are unregulated, and gas there sells for between $1.25 and $1.95 per thousand cubic feet.

Ford Aides Working On Abortion Stand Statement

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House aides are working on a statement to explain President Ford's views on abortion, although he already is on record in favor of letting each state decide the issue.

With abortion rapidly becoming an election campaign issue, Press Secretary Ron Nessen was asked Monday to give Ford's position on the subject. Nessen refused, saying the President was preparing to explain his position fully and would make a public pronouncement.

"It is a complex matter," Nessen said, and Ford "wants to word his position properly ... He's working on it."

Ford's abortion views were given early in his administration by his first press secretary, Jerry Terhorst, who said Ford favored a constitutional amendment to reverse the 1973 Supreme Court decision liberalizing abortion laws. But Terhorst said, Ford opposed a "right to life" amendment that would outlaw abortions nationwide.

The Supreme Court decided a state cannot bar a woman from obtaining an abortion by a licensed physician during the first three months of pregnancy and that it can only regulate abortion to preserve and protect the mother's health in the second and third months. The court said states may ban abortions in the final three months of pregnancy.

But Terhorst said Ford personally preferred limiting abortion to cases where the mother's health was endangered or when pregnancy resulted from rape or incest. Ford opposed an abortion-on-demand law proposed in his home state of Michigan, Terhorst said, adding that Ford felt "there must be a remedy when abortion becomes necessary because of serious illness or a case of criminal attack."

Gary C. Berk and Gary V. Zanders, area students at Tri-State University in Angola, Ind., were named to the president's list and not the dean's list as reported in this newspaper Jan. 28.

Hagar Zone Board Stalls Action On 2 Subdivisions

The Hagar township zoning board postponed action until March 1 on tentative plans for two proposed housing subdivisions as the result of requests received last night.

Petitions containing 80 signatures were presented to the board requesting a delay on the proposed Maple Lane subdivisions in order to allow time for studying any financial costs which may involve present residents and taxpayers.

The petitions, presented by Edward Chabot, asked for a 60-day delay.

A letter submitted by Jerry Davis from Riverside school, signed by Paul Marsala, school board president, also requested a delay in zoning board action to the citizens of the Coloma area to discontinue the service provided by Coloma Ambulance, Inc., and join a countywide ambulance service. The resolution described the present service as "excellent."

The Coloma ambulance provides free emergency ambulance service to Coloma city and township residents.

The discussions on a countywide service were launched in Berrien Springs late last year but no action has yet resulted.

In other areas, the board extended until Monday, March 1, the deadline for tax payments. The deadline had been Feb. 15.

County Commissioner Robert Burkholz reported that an informational meeting would be held at the Coloma township hall, Wednesday, Feb. 25, at 7:30 p.m., dealing with three areas on Paw Paw Lake.

Burkholz said the areas to be discussed include weed control, lake level control, and flood control. The meeting is open to the public.

Township Clerk John Ferris announced a public hearing will be held at the township hall, Tuesday, Feb. 10, at 7 p.m., on the proposed Howe drain construction project.

The board took no action on changing the existing pay salaries of all elected officials. The board must act on any increases within 60 days of the annual township meeting, slated for Saturday, April 3. Annual salaries will remain at $7,500, supervisor; $3,000 for clerk and treasurer; and $200 for each of two trustees.

The board approved holding only one meeting per month beginning March 1. The action was taken because of reduced township business activity. The board had been meeting twice a month, and will meet again next Monday.

The board approved a request for a water ski jump permit, by the Chicagoland Water Ski Association, for 1978, at the same site along Paw Paw Lake, at the former Strong's resort.

Hagar Tax Deadline Extended To Feb. 27

The Hagar township board last night extended until Friday, Feb. 27, payment of property taxes without penalty.

The board approved the extension beyond the Feb. 15 deadline, to allow time for taxpayers to make their payments without a four per cent penalty fee.

In other areas, the board learned the township ambulance answered 125 calls during 1977, the first full year the service was operated by the township.

The board referred a request from Burton H. Pearson, president of Modern Wood Products, Inc., for the township to designate a portion of their property as an industrial development district to the township attorney to prepare for a public hearing on the request.

The request, if granted, would allow the firm to apply for an industrial facility exemption under a state law which allows industrial firms tax incentives for expansion or rehabilitation.

Two applications for exemptions were approved by the board last July.

Tank Modification

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egypt is arranging for modification of hundreds of its Soviet-supplied tanks so they can use Western parts and ammunition, U.S. intelligence sources report.

Cairo's objective is to reduce sharply Egypt's reliance on the Soviet Union for the essentials to keep Egyptian armored forces in running order, American analysts say.

Fennville Approves Transfer

FENNVILLE — The Fennville city commission last night gave its approval to the transfer of a liquor license from owners of the Stevens hotel to a new corporate structure they've formed to operate the hotel.

Owners of the hotel, 312 Main street, are Mayor Robert McCracken and his wife, Phyllis. They have now incorporated under the name Stevens Hotel, Inc., and remain the owners.

In other areas, the commission named Arthur Pahl to the city board of review; Michael Daleiden as street administrator; and Duane Hafer to the cemetery commission, all for three-year terms.

The commission also discussed, but took no action on, which land parcels in bid on as site for the city's fourth sewer system lagoon.

Lincoln Planners Call Public Hearing

The Lincoln township planning commission will hold a public hearing Monday, Feb. 10, at 7 p.m. to present a revised 20-year comprehensive plan and map for the development of the township.

The hearing will be held in the cafeteria of the Stevensville elementary school, 3045 St. Joseph avenue, Stevensville, according to Christine Welch, planning commission secretary.

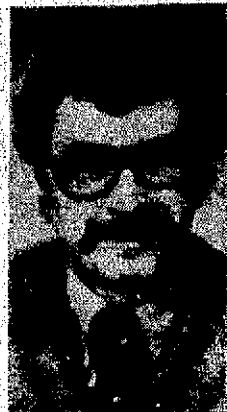

Copies of the revised plan and map will be available for review in the township office prior to the public hearing. The township office is open Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Purpose of the comprehensive plan is to review the current status of elements relating to the development of the township and prepare growth policies and objectives for the development of the township to the year 2000.

An existing plan adopted as a guide for the development of the township in 1960, has been used for basic input into this revised plan, Mrs. Welch said. The revised plan is not designed to replace that document, but rather to reevaluate its goals and policies through review of facts previously unknown, she said.

"Likewise, several years hence, this same procedure will be repeated again, with reassessment of changes which have occurred within and around the township," she said. "These are actions of a successful land use planning program, and we invite you, as concerned citizens, to take part in this program."

Bainbridge To Consider Mobile Home Park's Bid

The Bainbridge township board last night referred a request for expansion of the existing Meadowbrook Park mobile home subdivision to the township's planning commission.

Herbert Reimers, of St. Joseph, requested 50 acres adjoining the existing area be rezoned to mobile home park subdivision use to allow for the construction of 44 additional mobile home sites. The present park contains 42 sites.

According to Reimers, the addition would be to the south of the existing park, which is located on Park road, just south of Meadowbrook road.

Reimers said the 50 acres was optioned when the mobile home subdivision was first started in 1971, but development was stalled for a time by a township moratorium on construction.

Reimers said the property is presently zoned agricultural and would have to be rezoned to mobile home park subdivision.

In other areas, the board approved a tentative plat map for the proposed East Napier subdivision, to contain five lots, at the corner of Bainbridge Center road and Napier avenue, pending county health department certification for suitable drinking water.

The developer was identified as J. W. Knefel, 7374 East Napier, Benton Harbor.

If certification is granted, the township planning commission plans to set a public hearing on the request to rezone the property from agricultural to residential.

Supervisor Leonard Smith Jr. reported the board has established a fee of $5 for copies of the township's new ordinance book.

A Judge Can Do It

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A judge can require defendants to pay insurance companies for damage done during commission of a crime, the State Court of Appeals has ruled. In its ruling, the appeals court reviewed Michigan's law allowing judges to require "meet and proper" restitution as a condition of probation. It is within a judge's discretion to require payment either to an individual or an insurance company, the appeals court said.

The court upheld probation imposed by Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Susan Borman on Anthony Nickson for taking a car without the owner's permission. The judge put Nickson on three years' probation, on the condition he pay for damage to the car. An insurance company initially picked up the damage costs but Judge Borman ordered Nickson to reimburse the firm. Nickson appealed that order but was turned down by the appeals court.

A Landmark Event in Seventh-day Adventist History! This is the TEST for the Sealing of Christ's Followers!

When God's "chosen people," the ancient Israelites, sank into the very depths of apostasy, during the reign of that wicked king and queen, Manasse and Jezebel, God sent His servant Elijah with a message that caused the monarch to tremble! (1 Kings 17:18).

Again, centuries later, when God's "chosen people" became ungrateful with the offerings of Satan, the enemy of all righteousness, and a definite reform was needed, God sent His servant John the Baptist with an "Elijah message," designed to prepare the way for their long looked for Messiah. John laid the ax at the roots of the tree! (Matt. 3:10). He called the church leaders a "generation of vipers." (Matt. 3:7).

A FINAL ELLIJAH MESSAGE IS DUE NOW

In this our day, surely all must agree that another "Elijah message" is sorely needed as we near the end of all things, as the return of our Redeemer draws nearer with each passing day, at a time when iniquity abounds, as never before and law enforcement agencies are at their wits end in search of ways and means to combat the appalling rising tide of crimes of every description, and our present day churches are failing efforts to meet the challenge of this hour. (In fact many of the churches are guilty of contributing to the awful break-down of morality and Christian integrity, by the examples they set of worldly practices and environments within the confines of their churches). For example, a layman of one popular denomination has authored a booklet entitled, "Has the Methodist Church Gone Mad?" In it he points our literature which the church committee recommended for the youth and children that was so pornographic, filthy, and lewd in nature that it was burned from the U.S. mails. (Book Rev. 10:1-4 for inspired description of our present day churches.—Babylon.)

We repeat — It is in a time such as this solemn hour of human history, that the question is asked: Is not that "Elijah message" already long overdue? Yes, surely an Elijah message which lays the ax at the tree's roots is now due, and that is what God promised to send. (Mal. 4:5-6, Acts 2:17-19).

Whether we like it or not, that hour has struck on God's great time clock for a message of deliverance from sin, Satan, and "sinners in Zion" (the church) to be proclaimed. Make 1978 "Freedom Year!"

WHO ARE GOD'S CHOSEN PEOPLE NOW?

Doubtless the question will be asked: Who are God's "chosen people" in this our day? What church of this time lays claim to that title? Only one church, to our knowledge, lays claim to being the true "remnant church." Read the literature of the Seventh-day Adventist writers as found in the church periodicals and note the designation used time and again — "the remnant church."

And we hasten to affirm that a thorough, unbiased study of the history of the rise of that corporate body of Bible believers, should serve to convince any honest seeker for truth that the SDA church was at one time well able to claim that highly honored distinction among world's multitude of church denominations.

Why might SDA be thus designated, do you ask? One reason is found in Rev. 12:17 and 19:10. They kept the commandments of God, and had the Spirit of Prophecy — a living prophet in their midst. They were obedient with God's best, living warning message to proclaim to all the world — the three angels' messages of Rev. 14:6-11. A Bible founded teaching of Christ as our great High Priest, pleading His shed blood in behalf of every penitent sinner before the Father in the most holy of the Sanctuary in heaven, was another distinguishing characteristic of the original SDA church. We might extend the list on and on, but the outstanding characteristic was without doubt the Gift of Prophecy as manifested through Ellen G. White, whom the Lord used, among other things, to predict future events with unflinching accuracy!

Latest news from Burbank SDA church! The edifice ordered vacated, pending court decision!

Yet we must hasten to add this undeniable truth, namely: If the history of ancient Israel proves anything at all, it proves that a church which was once God's "Chosen People" cannot rest assured that it will continue EVER to be the case! We read: "He came to His own (chosen people), and His own received Him not." (John 1:11). Why? Because of apostasy! Did Old Testament prophets forecast that rejection of the world's Redeemer? They did — definitely so! (Isaiah 53).

Ukrainian, did Ellen G. White foresee the "falling away" of the SDA church, as one of the last day events? She did — definitely so! Note this: "And those Catholics, (Seventh-day Adventists, who have had great light), which are called into heaven (in point of privilege), shall be brought down to hell for if the mighty works, which have been done in them, had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day. But I say unto you, That it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgment than for thee." (E. G. White, in Review & Herald, Aug. 1, 1893.) (Matt. 11:23, 24).

THAT VITAL TEST IS HERE & NOW!

Question: What did E. G. White declare will be the great TEST for every SDA church member? Was it to be the MARK of the beast of Rev. 13? No, not the mark, but the IMAGE of that "beast," the papacy. Note the statement: "The Lord has shown me clearly that the image of the beast will be formed before probation closes; for it is to be the great test for the people of God, by which their eternal destiny will be decided. This is the test that people of God must have before they are sealed." (Bible Conference, No. 7, p. 974).

Question: What is an image? It is a likeness. In other words, any action which a church may take which is like that of the "beast" power — The Church of Rome — would be forming an image of the church.

In Rev. 13, according to the pioneer teaching of the SDA church, is found a prophecy revealing that a time will come when our own nation, the USA, will form an image to the beast — the papacy. That is to be done by the churches demanding civil legislation — laws — which will deny the true followers of Christ the right to worship God according to the dictates of their consciences — a right guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States of America.

Question: Was the Seventh-day Adventist denomination taken that last, final step into total apostasy? Yes, she has! The battle now raging between So. Calif. Conference of SDA and the SDA church of Burbank, Calif., is a case in point. (See report in the "Daily Review" the Burbank Daily newspaper of April 7, 1975).

A long-standing, ugly, festering carbuncle so to speak, has at last come to a head, and has burst wide open, and the stench thereof is reaching out far and wide! That is to say, the warfare between the two parties involved, has reached the final stage. The charges brought against the Burbank SDA church by the SDA conference are many and grave in nature, so we are told, but all of that is beside the point!

What is of tremendous significance to every SDA church member is this: The So. Calif. Conf. of SDA has appealed to the civil power of the State to enforce their demands upon the Burbank SDA church! That act is forming an IMAGE of the "beast" — the Roman Catholic Church.

That image is to be the SEALING TEST for members of the SDA church in the world event!

Of course we know full well that the man comprising the SDA church hierarchy will go all out to defend their action, but be not deceived! They will contend that the Burbank church is in rebellion against higher authority — they are teaching card heresies, & etc. — all of which may or may not be true, but in the light of this statement of truth from the pen of the SDA church's own revered prophetess, we see that defense attorneys vanish into thin air. Note this declaration of truth: "The doctrine that God has committed to the church the right to control the consciences, and to define and punish heresy, is one of the most deeply rooted of papal (Roman Catholic) errors." (E. G. White, in G.C., p. 273).

PROPHECY FULFILLED!

Another from the same author: "It was apostasy that led the early church to seek the aid of the civil government, and this proposed the way for the development of the papacy, — the beast." (Ibid, p. 443). Question: If it was apostasy which led the church back then to seek the aid of civil government to enforce her demands, then what would lead the SDA church in the same way now? APOSTASY!

HAS THE SDA CHURCH TAKEN THAT LAST FATAL PLUNGE INTO PAPAL APOSTASY?

Keeping in mind that the act of appealing to the civil government to enforce its demands constitutes forming an IMAGE of the beast — the papacy, note this report from a journal published by a SDA church layman: "SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA FOR THE COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA CONFERENCE OF SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS, An unincorporated association, Plaintiff, BURBANK SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST CHURCH, an unincorporated association, (eight named members of the church), and DOES ONE THROUGH ONE HUNDRED Defendants."

It was on April 23, 1975, that the So. Calif. Conference filed suit in the Los Angeles County Superior Court against the Burbank SDA Church and seven of its members. The date for further court proceedings is not known at this time by this reporter.

The cost for the litigation for the So. Calif. Conf. is estimated to be $10,000 or more.

We wonder if very many SDA church members are pleased to see the Lord's money used in that way? The words of Paul the apostle come to mind in this connection: "Bare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints?" Thus we see that the act of appealing to a civil court to settle church matters is absolutely contrary to Bible teachings. 1 Cor. 6:1.

God grant that we shall stand this "great test" and be found with the victorious group described in Rev. 15:2-3.

1. And I saw another sign in heaven, great and marvelous, seven angels having the seven last plagues; for in them is filled up the wrath of God.
2. And I saw as it were a sea of glass mingled with fire; and them that had gotten the victory over the beast, and over his image, and over his mark, and over the number of his name, stand on the sea of glass, having the harps of God.
3. And they sing the song of Moses, the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying, "Great and marvelous are thy works, Lord God Almighty; just and true are thy ways, thou King of saints."

THE SEALING TEST IS HERE — THAT IMAGE HAS BEEN FORMED. THE SDA CHURCH HAS PASSED THE POINT OF NO RETURN

For many years devoted students of both the Bible and the writings of E. G. White, have not ceased to warn against what has now taken place in the SDA church. As an example of the all-important matter of the sealing, we read: "Mark this point with care: Those who received the pure spirit of truth, wrought in them by the power of the Holy Spirit, represented by a mark by the seal in their hearts, that sign and that cry for all the millennium that 'be done' in the church." The church mentioned is the SDA church. Then she says, read the 9th chapter of Ezekiel, (Vol. 2, p. 267 of this).

This can mean only one thing: Right at the solemn time of the sealing of God's saints, there will be discernible practices in the SDA church. How true her prophetic word!

And this from the same pen: "Laws and rules are being made of the centers of the work (of SDA headquarters) that will soon be broken into pieces. That are not to die, if the cards are drawn much tighter, if the rules are made much fiercer, if men continue to bind their followers closer and closer to the commandments of men, money will be stored by the Spirit of God to break every shackle and snare that binds men in Christ Jesus. If men will not come to the terms made by the leading workers, they will not tolerate them. They do not care what results may follow their iniquities. With them it is rule or ruin... God will move upon men of humble position in society... such will be seen hurrying hither and thither, constrained by the Spirit of God to bring the light to others. Children will be impelled by the Spirit to go forth and declare the message from heaven. The Spirit will be poured out... and raising all off men's consciences, his leading rules and commandments, they will declare the truth with the might of the Spirit's power. Multitudes will receive the truth and join the ranks of the Lord." (E. G. White, in R & H, July 23, 1895).

THE ARMY OF THE LORD WHO ARE THEIR SOLDIERS OF THE CROSS?

They are blood bought, born-again men and women both young and old, and youth and children. They come from every nation, kindred, tongue, and people, whether rich or poor, black or white, learned or unlearned. All are one in Christ Jesus their Lord and Master.

They believe: The Bible is God's holy, inspired word — the 10 commandments are His standard of righteousness and judgment — the return of their Redeemer is very near. God has a final judgment hour, warning message to go to all the world (Matt. 24:14, Rev. 14:6-11). They believe that it is a message of mercy which levels all men-made church barriers to the ground. Churches have had their day! With widespread rampant, with lawlessness everywhere, with crime rate skyrocketing (150% increase since 1960) and our churches totally unable to stem the awful rising tide of evil. — — —

It is at this time that the great God of Heaven takes the reins into His own hands in order to fulfill His promise to FRESHEN the work on earth IN SHORT ORDER (Hosea 9:28).

COME! Enlist in THE ARMY OF THE LORD. March with us under that blood-stained Banner of Prince Emmanuel! That army goes forth, conquering and to conquer! It knows no defeat! (Rev. 19:11-21). It is God's last and final Holy Spirit directed movement on earth (His second Pentecost). This is the last — there is none to follow — THIS IS IT!

Countywide Ambulance Plan

COLOMA — The Coloma township board last night went on record against joining a county-wide ambulance service discussed previously by some Berrien county communities.

By a unanimous vote, the board approved a resolution stating it would be a disservice to the citizens of the Coloma area to discontinue the service provided by Coloma Ambulance, Inc., and join a county-wide ambulance service. The resolution described the present service as "excellent."

The Coloma ambulance provides free emergency ambulance service to Coloma city and township residents.

The discussions on a county-wide service were launched in Berrien Springs late last year but no action has yet resulted.

Hagar Zone Board Stalls Action On 2 Subdivisions

The Hagar township zoning board postponed action until March 1 on tentative plans for two proposed housing subdivisions as the result of requests received last night.

Petitions containing 90 signatures were presented to the board requesting a delay on the proposed Maple Lane subdivisions to allow time for studying any financial costs which may involve present residents and taxpayers.

The petitions, presented by Edward Chabot, asked for a 60-day delay.

A letter submitted by Jerry Davis from Riverside school, signed by Paul Marsala, school board president, also requested a delay in zoning board action on the subdivision approval.

The delay was requested by Marsala to allow time for the school board to study problems the subdivision could cause the school with the large influx of children into a small school.

L. F. Whelan of 1055 North Shore drive, Benton Harbor, the developer of the two proposed subdivisions, one containing 36 lots and the second 16 lots, agreed to meet with school board members before Feb. 14 to discuss the problems.

Whelan agreed not to build more than 20 homes by Jan. 1, 1978 and presented to the zoning board a copy of restrictions to be imposed in the subdivisions and the construction standards.

Chairman Erich Kerlikowske

suggested the developer agree to build class B homes or better in the subdivision.

Whelan said he would prefer to see specifications of a class B home before agreeing.

The subdivisions, formerly referred to as Maple Lane subdivision, have officially been renamed Wedgewood subdivision and Wedgewood subdivision No. 1. Both subdivisions totally cover 30 acres, and would be located in the interior of the existing Crising Estates subdivision.

The zoning board agreed to the delay after Whelan said that time period would still allow the proposal to proceed when the weather permits in the early spring.

Extended To Feb. 27

The Hagar township board last night extended until Friday, Feb. 27, payment of property taxes without penalty.

The board approved of the extension beyond the Feb. 15 deadline, to allow time for taxpayers to make their payments without a four per cent penalty fee.

A Landmark Event in Seventh-day Adventist History! This is the TEST for the Sealing of Christ's Followers!

When God's "chosen people," the ancient Israelites, sank into the very depths of apostasy, during the reign of their idolatrous king and queen, Ahab and Jezebel, God sent His servant Elijah with a message that caused the monarch to tremble! (1 Kings 17, 18).

Again, centuries later, when God's "chosen people" became engrossed with the enticements of Satan the enemy of all righteousness, and a definite reform was needed, God sent His servant John the Baptist with an "Elijah message," designed to prepare the way for their long looked for Messiah. John laid the ax at the roots of the trees (Matt. 3:10). He called the church leaders a "generation of vipers." (Matt. 3:7).

A FINAL ELIJAH MESSAGE IS DUE NOW

In this our day, surely all must agree that another "Elijah message" is sorely needed as we near the end of all things, as the return of our Redeemer draws nearer with each passing day, at a time when iniquity abounds as never before and low enforcement agencies are at their wits end in search of ways and means to combat the appalling rising tide of crimes of every description, and our present day churches are failing utterly to meet the challenge of this hour. (In fact many of the churches are guilty of contributing to the awful breakdown of morality and Christian integrity, by the examples they set of worldly practices and amusements within the confines of their churches). For example, a layman of one popular denomination has authored a booklet entitled, "Has the Methodist Church Gone Mad?" In it he points out literature which the church committee recommended for the youth and children that was so pornographic, filthy, and lewd in nature that it was barred from the U.S. mails. (Read Rev. 18:1-4 for inspired description of our present day churches—Babylon.)

We repeat — it is in a time such as this solemn hour of human history, that the question is asked: Is not that "Elijah message" already long over-due? Yes, surely an Elijah message which lays the ax at the tree's roots is now due, and that is what God promised to send. (Mal. 4:5-6, Acts 2:17-19).

Whether we like it or not, that hour has struck on God's great time dock for a message of deliverance from sin, Satan, and "sinners in Zion" (the church) to be proclaimed. Make 1976 "Freedom Year."

WHO ARE GOD'S CHOSEN PEOPLE NOW?

Doubtless the question will be asked: Who are God's "chosen people" in this our day? What church at this time lays claim to that title? Only one church, to our knowledge, lays claim to being the true "remnant church." Read the literature of the Seventh-day Adventist writers as found in the church periodicals and note the designation used time and again — "the remnant church."

And we hasten to affirm that a thorough, unbiased study of the history of the rise of that corporate body of Bible believers, should serve to convince any honest seeker for truth that the SDA church was at one time well able to claim that highly honored distinction among earth's multitude of church denominations.

Why might SDAs be thus designated, do you ask? One reason is found in Rev. 12:17 and 19:10. They kept the commandments of God, and had the Spirit of Prophecy — a living prophet in their midst. They were entrusted with God's last, final warning message to proclaim to all the world — the three angels' messages of Rev. 14:6-11. A Bible founded teaching of Christ as our great High Priest, pleading His shed blood in behalf of every penitent sinner before the Father in the most holy of the Sanctuary in heaven, was another distinguishing characteristic of the original SDA church. We might extend the list on and on, but the outstanding characteristic was without doubt the Gift of Prophecy as manifested through Ellen G. White, whom the Lord used, among other things, to predict future events with unflinching accuracy!

Yet we must hasten to add this undeniable truth, namely: If the history of ancient Israel proves anything at all, it proves that a church which was once God's "Chosen People" cannot rest assured that they will continue EVER to be the case! We read: "He came to His own (chosen people), and His own received Him not." (John 1:11). Why? Because of apostasy! Did Old Testament prophets foretell that rejection of the world's Redeemer? They did — definitely so! (Isaiah 53).

Likewise, did Ellen G. White foretell the "falling away" of the SDA church, as one of the last day events? She did — definitely so! Note this: "And thou Capernaum, (Seventh-day Adventists, who have had great light), which art exalted unto heaven (in point of privilege), shalt be brought down to hell: for if the mighty works, which have been done in thee, had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day. But I say unto you, That it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgement than for thee." (E. G. White, in Review & Herald, Aug. 1, 1893.) (Matt. 11:23, 24).

THAT VITAL TEST IS HERE & NOW!

Question: What did E. G. White declare will be the great TEST for every SDA church member? Was it to be the MARK of the beast of Rev. 13? No, not the mark, but the IMAGE of that "beast," the papacy. Note the statement: "The Lord has shown me clearly that the image of the beast will be formed before probation closes; for it is to be the great test for the people of God, by which their eternal destiny will be decided...This is the test that people of God must have before they are sealed." (Bible Comments, No. 7, p. 976).

Question: What is an image? It is a likeness. In other words, any action which a church may take which is like that of the "beast" power — The Church of Rome — would be forming an image of the church.

In Rev. 13, according to the pioneer teaching of the SDA church, is found a prophecy revealing that a time will come when our own nation, the USA, will form an image to the beast — the papacy. That is to be done by the churches demanding civil legislation — laws — which will deny the true followers of Christ the right to worship God according to the dictates of their consciences — a right guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States of America.

Question: Has the Seventh-day Adventist denomination taken that last, final step into total apostasy? Yes, she has! The battle now raging between So. Calif. Conference of SDA and the SDA church of Burbank, Calif., is a case in point. (See report in the "Daily Review" the Burbank Daily newspaper of April 7, 1975).

A long-standing, ugly, festering carbuncle so to speak, has at last come to a head, and has burst wide open, and the stench thereof is reaching out far and wide! That is to say, the warfare between the two parties involved, has reached the final stage. The charges brought against the Burbank SDA church by the SDA conference are many and grave in nature, so we are told, but all of that is beside the point!

What is of tremendous significance to every SDA church member is this: The So. Calif. Conf. of SDA has appealed to the civil power of the State to enforce their demands upon the Burbank SDA church! That act is forming an IMAGE of the "beast" the Roman Catholic Church.

That image is to be the SEALING TEST for members of the SDA churches the world over!

Of course we know full well that the men comprising the SDA church hierarchy will go all out to defend their action, but be not deceived! They will contend that the Burbank church is in rebellion against higher authority — they are teaching rank heresies, & etc. — all of which may or may not be true, but in the light of this statement of truth from the pen of the SDA church's own revered prophetess, we see their defence contentions vanish into thin air. Note this declaration of truth: "The doctrine that God has committed to the church the right to control the conscience, and to define and punish heresy, is one of the most deeply rooted of papal (Roman Catholic) errors." (E. G. White, in G.C., p. 293).

PROPHECY FULFILLED!

Another from the same author: "It was apostasy that led the early church to seek the aid of the civil government, and this prepared the way for the development of the papacy, — the beast." (Ibid, p. 443). Question: If it was apostasy which led the church back there to seek the aid of civil government to enforce her demands, then what would lead the SDA church to do the same now? APOSTASY!

HAS THE SDA CHURCH TAKEN THAT LAST FATAL PLUNGE INTO PAPAL APOSTASY?

Keeping in mind that the act of appealing to the civil government to enforce its demands constitutes forming an IMAGE of the beast — the papacy, note this report from a journal published by a SDA church layman: "SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA FOR THE COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA CONFERENCE OF SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS, An unincorporated association...Plaintiffs, BURBANK SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST CHURCH, an unincorporated association, (eight named members of the church), and DOES ONE THROUGH ONE HUNDRED, Defendants."

It was on April 23, 1975, that the So. Calif. Conference filed suit in the Los Angeles County Superior Court against the Burbank SDA Church and seven of its members. The date for further court proceedings is not known at this time by this reporter.

The cost for the litigation for the So. Calif. Conf. is estimated to be $10,000 or more.

We wonder if very many SDA church members are pleased to see the Lord's money used in that way? The words of Paul the apostle come to mind in this connection: "Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints?" Thus we see that the act of appealing to a civil court to settle church matters is absolutely contrary to Bible teaching. 1 Cor. 6:1.

God grant that we shall stand the "great test" and be found with the victorious group described in Rev. 15:1-3.

1. And I saw another sign in heaven, great and marvelous, seven angels having the seven last plagues; for in them is filled up the wrath of God.
2. And I saw as it were a sea of glass mingled with fire; and them that had gotten the victory over the beast, and over his image, and over his mark, and over the number of his name, stand on the sea of glass, having the harps of God.
3. And they sing the song of Moses, the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying, "great and marvelous are thy works, Lord God Almighty; just and true are thy ways, thou King of saints."

THE SEALING TEST IS HERE — THAT IMAGE HAS BEEN FORMED. THE SDA CHURCH HAS PASSED THE POINT OF NO RETURN!

For many years devout students of both the Bible and the writings of E. G. White, have not ceased to warn against what has now taken place in the SDA church. As an example of the all-important matter of the sealing, we read: "Mark this point with care: Those who received the pure mark of truth, wrought in them by the power of the Holy Ghost, represented by a mark by the man in linen, are those 'that sigh and that cry for all the abominations that be done' in the church." The church mentioned is the SDA church. Then she says, read the 9th chapter of Ezekiel. (Vol. 3, p. 267 of Test.).

This can mean only one thing: Right at the solemn time of the sealing of God's saints, there will be abominations practiced in the SDA church. How true her predictions!

THE ARMY OF THE LORD WHO ARE THESE SOLDIERS OF THE CROSS?

They are blood bought, born-again men and women both young and old, and youth and children. They come from every nation, kindred, tongue, and people, whether rich or poor, black or white, learned or unlearned. All are one in Christ Jesus their Lord and Master.

They believe: The Bible is God's holy, inspired word — the 10 commandments are His standard of righteousness and judgment — the return of their Redeemer is very near. God has a final judgment hour, warning message to go to all the world (Matt. 24:14, Rev. 14:6-11). They believe that is a message of mercy which levels all man-made church barriers to the ground. Churches have had their day! With wickedness rampant, with lawlessness everywhere, with crime rate skyrocketing (150% increase since 1960) and our churches totally unable to stem the awful rising tide of evil. — — —

It is at a time like this that the great God of Heaven takes the reins into His own hands in order to fulfill His promise to FINISH the work on earth in SHORT ORDER (Romans 9:28).

COME! Enlist in THE ARMY OF THE LORD. March with us under that Blood-stained Banner of Prince Emmanuel! That army goes forth, conquering and to conquer! It knows no defeat! (Rev. 19:11-21). It is God's last and final Holy Spirit directed movement on earth (His second Pentecost). This is the last — there is none to follow — THIS IS IT!

ALL ABOUT FOODS

"MAKE BELIEVE MEALS"

Do you have a hard time talking while you're chewing? Of course you do, but it's not as serious as it seems. And that's why most of the foods you see served on stage are only make-believe.

For instance, if you see the leading lady gaily sipping from a glass, don't worry. It's only colored water, or cold tea at best.

Of course, a fine performer can make you "see" things that aren't really there. Like the actress in one play who pretended to be floating and removing bones from a fish that didn't exist. Or the actor who pretended to enjoy popcorn made by his cousin. Also, there were women on the table, and one night one of them suddenly slipped over and set fire to his dress.

Sometimes, however, real food is used. One famous example was a long-ago Broadway play, for which the producer converted a dressing room into a kitchen and imported a cook from New York. As a result, a real dinner was served during one performance. The performers loved it at first, but they were grilling pretty fast up with cardboard and southern fried chicken by the time the play closed nearly seven months later.

Another example was an early London production of Dickens' Christmas Carol. In the play, Tiny Tim sat by the stage fire while the other Cratchits dined. The children brought him good things to eat. The audience around the room of the time, until his poor was discovered. The child who played Tiny Tim was given his food to his sister on the other side of the set.

And here, for my "Gift Line", I'll just remind you that, if you like bargains in good food Schneck's has the best store in town. Come in and enjoy it!

Decatur To Apply For $300,000 In Federal Funds

DECATUR — The Decatur village council last night, following a public hearing, approved applying for $300,000 in federal community development funds for 1978. Some of the projects for which the funds are to be used, if the grant is approved by the federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) department, are as follows, according to Keith Leighton, village president:

Paving of village parking lots; razing of old buildings; recreational development; construction of sidewalks and water mains on residential streets; plus outright grants or low interest loans for repairing homes of low income families.

The village also seeks funds for installation of storm sewers, but the board was informed by Les Cripps of Berrien Springs, consultant, that storm sewer construction has a low priority as far as HUD is concerned.

In December, a grant of $63,000 from HUD was approved for the village, about $100,000 less than the village had initially applied for in September, 1975. That grant will be used for demolition of substandard housing, housing rehabilitation loans, and possibly some off street parking for the village.

At the council's regular meeting, which followed the public hearing, the council discussed a proposed ordinance which would increase the village water rates by approximately 20 per cent to each user starting in June. No final action on the ordinance was taken.

Presently homeowners pay a flat rate of $5.50 twice a year for under 15,000 gallons used per six-month period. Under the proposed ordinance, homeowners would be billed $1.50 per month or $9 per six-month period for under 10,000 gallons used in the period.

Salary Ordinance Passes First Test

HARTFORD — Hartford city council in special session last night gave first reading approval to an ordinance to keep the 1978 salaries of the city's clerk, treasurer and assessor at last year's level.

Final action on the measure is expected to be taken at the council's next regular meeting, Feb. 8, according to Mayor Wayne Nelson.

If approved, the salary of Clerk Jewell would remain at $5,000 while Treasurer Lucille Jann would stay at $7,000 and Assessor Robert Beatty, the same at $2,650.

The measure passed first reading in a 6 to 1 vote. Councilman Michael Duffy, cast the lone no vote. Voting for it were Nelson, and councilmen Charles Engle, Eugene Hadley, Milton Weinberger, Harold Jackson, and Mrs. Lois Hudson.

In a related action, the council unanimously approved a motion to advance the three city officials their weekly pay, based on their proposed salaries, for January. The three had not received any pay since Dec. 31. Last week, the city council, by a 3 to 1 vote, stalled a move to maintain 1975 pay levels for the three. Then a motion to approve a proposed ordinance raising the pay of Mrs. Story and Mrs. Mann and cutting the pay of Beatty died for the lack of second.

Councilmen then unanimously agreed to send the issue to its finance committee for further study.

In other areas, the council voted to extend the 1975 city tax payment deadline from Feb. 14 to Feb. 28, thus waiving any additional collection fees or interest until that time.

The council also authorized Hadley to get in touch with the Peerless-Midwest company, LaGrange, Ind., concerning recent problems with water pump No. 2, which the company installed.

Midland Sheriff Quits

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Midland County Sheriff William Maxwell, the focus of an investigation into alleged wrongdoings, has resigned effective today. Maxwell's resignation came Monday in a letter to the county clerk. The letter also said Undersheriff Larry Smith and one of Maxwell's administrative assistants would no longer be with the department. Maxwell said Capt. William Dehn will take over as undersheriff. Maxwell gave no reason for the resignation. He has been involved in a legal battle with the Midland County Board of Commissioners over the alleged wrongdoings and the county prosecutor is continuing a probe into those allegations. Specifics of the probe have not been made public, although the prosecutor was expected to issue a report today.

Lake Board Votes Delay Of Proposed Sewer Study

BRIDGMAN — The Lake township board last night agreed it will not give its approval to a proposed area-wide study of sewer needs until the Cook nuclear generating plant annexation question is settled and the township can proceed with the sale of $5 million in bonds for a water distribution system.

Wade Shuler, township supervisor, said the board unanimously passed a resolution to withhold approval of the sewer study because the chance that the nuclear plant may be annexed to the city of Bridgman has held up sale of the bonds.

A request to sell the bonds has not been approved by the Michigan Municipal Finance commission because the township may lose the nuclear plant's tax base to the Bridgman, Shuler said.

The plant makes up about 30 per cent of the township's approximately $113 million state-equalized valuation, Shuler said.

The township needs completion of the water distribution system before it needs sewers, Shuler said.

Lake township is one of the few municipalities in the state that is able to finance water or sewer construction through a tax levy on its own tax base without state or federal help. However, Shuler said, if the nuclear plant is annexed to Bridgman, the township could not sell the $5 million in bonds because it would no longer be able to repay them from a levy on its tax base.

The state boundary commission is expected to issue a decision soon on Bridgman's petition to annex the plant.

Completion of an area-wide study of waste water treatment facilities is now required of all municipalities before they will be awarded additional state and federal grants for sewage treatment construction projects.

The state department of natural resources has proposed that a study be completed for an area including the townships of Lake, Beroda and part of Wexsaw, the village of Beroda and the city of Bridgman.

The local governments would be required to finance 20 per cent of the study's cost with the remainder provided from state and federal sources.

Each municipality must approve financing their share of the study before it can begin.

In other areas, the board noted that residents may bring their dogs to the Lake township fire station on Shawnee road on Saturday, Feb. 7, from 1 to 5 p.m. for dog licenses and vaccinations.

Berrien Sheriff Announces Firing Of Jail Guards

Berrien county Sheriff Forrest "Nick" Jewell announced this morning he is firing two guards who are charged with permitting male trustees to enter the female cell block at the county jail in St. Joseph. Jewell also said the guards will be arrested following receipt of warrants from the Berrien prosecutor's office charging them with violation of state law forbidding male and female prisoners to be placed in a common jail area.

The prosecutor's office said this morning that warrants had been authorized for the arrest of both guards.

"The taxpayers deserve a school system that is responsive to the needs of both students and the community but which is within the limitations of what taxpayers can afford."

He said that for the students to receive a good education, what is needed is community support, attitude and interest. Those are more important than "fancy facilities and overtaxed citizens," he said.

Speaking for the recall committee, Wiles said, "The voters have expressed their opinions very emphatically."

He said his group's primary goal now is to work closely with the replacement board members.

Yesterday's election brought to a head a bitter controversy surrounding actions of the ousted board members.

In 1975, school district voters defeated operating tax proposals three times, and in September, the board citing a lack of finances curtailed several school programs including varsity athletics. A fact-finding committee of citizens and teachers then formed to study the district's problems. Later in September, the group issued a series of recommendations to the board which in part called for reinstatement of some of the programs, but also called for the resignation of Beyer.

Some of the programs were later reinstated, but the board steadfastly refused to ask Beyer to quit his $28,900 a year post.

In October, Beyer and Pifer came under fire from French who alleged that the two were responsible for 17 different instances of mishandling school funds and using improper procedures in conducting school district business.

French charged that Beyer was responsible for employing his wife and three children in the school district under improper and questionable circumstances and that they had on certain occasions received too much pay.

By November, the recall effort had begun which culminated yesterday in the ousting of the five board members.

The controversy has not yet ended, however. The state superintendent of schools, Dr. John Porter, has asked the state treasury department to perform a detailed audit of school district finances and has turned over some of French's original 17 charges to the state attorney general.

The 11 election workers began counting the ballots at 8:40 p.m. and announced the results over four hours later at 1 a.m. today, according to Mrs. Sutherby.

She said there was a steady flow of voters arriving at the middle school polling place throughout most of the day, and the line never exceeded seven or eight people.

He said there was no indication that any sort of payment was made to the guards, "just that the trustees requested the guards to allow them in the area."

"In my 20 years with this department, nothing involving employees has ever come close to this. I don't understand how two guards could put their jobs and future in jeopardy over something so irresponsible."

Both Curry and Anderson were hired by the sheriff's department last year; Curry on Feb. 18 and Anderson on Oct. 31. Jewell said they were subjected to a "very extensive investigation" before being hired and that "from all indications, prior to this they were top-notch people."

He said the two guards were being terminated for violation of departmental rules and regulations, but would be arrested for violation of state law.

He said the female trustees on duty during the visits were properly working outside the cell block area and were not aware of the violations.

Jewell said the two guards were being terminated for violation of departmental rules and regulations, but would be arrested for violation of state law.

GRAND RAPIDS MAN

Driver Flees Car; Claims Abduction

James E. Riley, 33, of Grand Rapids, was arrested in Stevensville yesterday afternoon after another Grand Rapids man told police he had been abducted at knife-point from his home.

Police said Riley was being held in the Berrien county jail, St. Joseph, on a charge of armed robbery.

Winfred Peterson, 58, of Grand Rapids, told troopers he was forced to drive his auto from Grand Rapids after being abducted from his home yesterday morning by a knife-wielding man.

Peterson said he sustained a knife wound to his face in a struggle with his abductor before jumping from his auto at the Sunoco service station, Red Arrow highway at I-94, Bridgman, about 1:15 p.m. yesterday. The pair had stopped at the service station for gasoline, police said.

Some 30 minutes later, about 1:45 p.m., Riley turned himself into police at the Pro service station, located near Stevensville just off I-94, troopers said.

Peterson told police he would seek his own treatment for the knife wound.

Troopers said Peterson's auto was recovered at the Stevensville service station. A steak knife believed used to cut Peterson and a ring, believed owned by Peterson were confiscated, police said.

Emergency Parking Plan In Effect

Charles Yarbrough. "Wouldn't you recommend suspending the hiring freeze entirely?" Yarbrough asked Farmer. "Why should we go through this every week?"

Yarbrough's questions came during discussion of a resolution recommended by Farmer that the commission lift the hiring freeze to permit the police department to hire one auxiliary officer and allow the cemetery superintendent to hire seasonal employees as needed.

The resolution eventually was approved by a 7-0 vote with Yarbrough abstaining.

It is the third time in four meetings since the hiring freeze was instituted Dec. 26 that the commission has granted exceptions to the policy, which was designed to save money for next year's budget.

On Jan. 13 the commission lifted the freeze to fill five positions in city hall and on Jan. 27 lifted the freeze again to permit hiring of an administrative aide for the personnel department and three employees for the library.

Under questioning by Yarbrough, Farmer said the policy kept commissioners abreast of all hirings and admitted that "there will be more" hirings of the freeze requested in the future.

He also said that cemetery employees would be hired only on an "as-needed basis" and would be processed through his office and that most of the expense of the auxiliary policeman would be reimbursed to the city by schools or other organizations that requested his services.

The commission approved the city's application to purchase 35 parcels of land in Benton Harbor from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources at a cost of $1 per parcel.

The 35 parcels, located throughout the city, are land which has reverted to the state because taxes were not paid in the properties. Acting City Manager Farmer said the city would buy the parcels from the state and either rehabilitate dwellings on the parcels or demolish them.

Miss Alice Cantfield, of 468 East Empire avenue, appeared before the commission and questioned the mayor and commissioners on the procedures used to allow citizens to appear before the commission to complain. She also questioned recent trips made by the mayor and commissioners paid through the city's general fund and federal Community Development funds.

The commission accepted bids for demolition of substandard housing. Approved were bids for demolition of a house at 419 Ohio, by A-1 Septic Tank Service of Berrien Springs, for $585; 493 Catalpa, A-1 Septic, $648, and 186 Kirby, Wright Bros. Excavating of Eau Claire, $400.

Mayor Charles Joseph offered two names for nomination as youth representatives at city commission meetings. Nominated were Sylvia Powell, 18, 287 Second street, and Roger Lang, 21, of 615 East Main street. The youth representatives would have a seat at commission meetings and could offer discussion on issues but would not have voting power.

For $300,000 In Federal Funds

DECATUR — The Decatur village council last night, following a public hearing, approved applying for $300,000 in federal community development funds for 1976. Some of the projects for which the funds are to be used, if the grant is approved by the federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) department, are as follows, according to Keith Leighton, village president:

Paving of village parking lots; razing of old buildings; recreational development; construction of sidewalks and water mains on residential streets; plus outright grants or low interest loans for repairing homes of low income families.

The village also seeks funds for installation of storm sewers, but the board was informed by Les Cripps of Berrien Springs, consultant, that storm sewer construction has a low priority as far as HUD is concerned.

In December, a grant of $83,000 from HUD was approved for the village, about $100,000 less than the village had initially applied for in September, 1975. That grant will be used for demolition of substandard housing, housing rehabilitation loans, and possibly some off street parking for the village.

At the council's regular meeting, which followed the public hearing, the council discussed a proposed ordinance which would increase the village water rates by approximately 20 per cent to each user starting in June. No final action on the ordinance was taken.

Presently homeowners pay a flat rate of $8.50 twice a year for under 15,000 gallons used per six-month period. Under the proposed ordinance, homeowners would be billed $1.50 per month or $9 per six-month period for under 10,000 gallons used in the period.

Salary Ordinance Passes First Test

HARTFORD — Hartford city council in special session last night gave first reading approval to an ordinance to keep the 1976 salaries of the city's clerk, treasurer and assessor at last year's level.

Final action on the measure is expected to be taken at the council's next regular meeting, Feb. 9, according to Mayor Wayne Nelson.

If approved, the salary of Clerk Jewell Story would remain at $7,800 while Treasurer Lucille Mann would stay at $7,000 and Assessor Robert Beatty, the same at $2,650.

The measure passed first reading in a 6 to 1 vote. Councilman Michael Duffy, cast the lone no vote. Voting for it were Nelson, and councilmen Charles Engle, Eugene Hadley, Milton Wehmeier, Harold Jackson, and Mrs. Lois Budreau.

In a related action, the council unanimously approved a motion to advance the three city of-

The proposed schedule of fees for any amounts used over the 10,000 figure is as follows: From 10,000 to 29,999, an additional 30 cents per thousand gallons; from 30,000 to 59,999, an additional 25 cents per thousand; from 60,000 to 150,000, an additional 20 cents; and anything over 150,000 gallons, a charge of 18 cents per thousand gallons.

At the end of the six-month period, the total gallons used by customers will be figured and customers will be billed accordingly, if they used more than the 10,000 gallon minimum.

Currently customers are charged $8.50 per six months for up to 15,000 gallons used; an extra 25 cents per thousand gallons up to 30,000 gallons used; 20 cents per thousand between 30,000 and 100,000 gallons; and 15 cents for any amount over 100,000 gallons used.

The council accepted the high bid of $801 of John Kusmack of Decatur, for a 1964 city-owned truck. Five bids were submitted ranging from $360 to $801.

The council also approved parallel parking on Main street, to begin as soon as the weather permits.

A resolution was also passed by the council that trucks of Modar Inc., on West Sherwood street must be covered when loading, unloading and hauling scrap materials and sawdust.

Officials their weekly pay, based on their proposed salaries, for January. The three had not received any pay since Dec. 31.

Last week, the city council, by a 3 to 3 vote stalled a move to maintain 1975 pay levels for the three. Then a motion to approve a proposed ordinance raising the pay of Mrs. Story and Mrs. Mann and cutting the pay of Beatty died for the lack of second.

Councilmen then unanimously agreed to send the issue to its finance committee for further study.

In other areas, the council voted to extend the 1975 city tax payment deadline from Feb. 14 to Feb. 29, thus waiving any additional collection fees or interest until that time.

The council also authorized Hadley to get in touch with the Peerless-Midwest company, LaGrange, Ind., concerning recent problems with water pump No. 2, which the company installed.

Midland Sheriff Quits

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Midland County Sheriff William Maxwell, the focus of an investigation into alleged wrongdoings, has resigned effective today. Maxwell's resignation came Monday in a letter to the county clerk. The letter also said Undersheriff Larry Smith and one of Maxwell's administrative assistants would no longer be with the department. Maxwell said Capt. William Dehn will take over as undersheriff. Maxwell gave no reason for the resignation. He has been involved in a legal battle with the Midland County Board of Commissioners over the alleged wrongdoings and the county prosecutor is continuing a probe into those allegations. Specifics of the probe have not been made public, although the prosecutor was expected to issue a report today.

Lake Board Votes Delay Of Proposed Sewer Study

BRIDGMAN — The Lake township board last night agreed it will not give its approval to a proposed area-wide study of sewer needs until the Cook nuclear generating plant annexation question is settled and the township can proceed with the sale of $5 million in bonds for a water distribution system.

Wade Shuler, township supervisor, said the board unanimously passed a resolution to withhold approval of the sewer study because the chance that the nuclear plant may be annexed to the city of Bridgman has held up sale of the bonds.

A request to sell the bonds has not been approved by the Michigan Municipal Finance commission because the township may lose the nuclear plant's tax base to the Bridgman, Shuler said.

The plant makes up about 90 per cent of the township's approximately $163 million state equalized valuation, Shuler said.

The township needs completion of the water distribution system before it needs sewers, Shuler said.

Lake township is one of the few municipalities in the state that is able to finance water or sewer construction through a tax levy on its own tax base without state or federal help. However, Shuler said, if the nuclear plant is annexed to Bridgman, the township could not sell the $5 million in bonds because it would no longer be able to repay them from a levy on its tax base.

The state boundary commission is expected to issue a decision soon on Bridgman's petition to annex the plant.

Named by Jewell as the guards involved were William Curry, 29, 2704 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph; and Hildred Leon Anderson, 25, 1946 Britain avenue, Benton Harbor.

Asked if there was any indication of sexual activity between the trustees and women prisoners, Jewell replied:

"There were allegations to that effect, but there were also denials by several of the women...who were supposed to have participated."

"There is no indication at this time that the guards participated in any sexual misconduct."

Jewell said an investigation of alleged violations started last Thursday after a female prisoner who was being released from the jail told a matron that two guards had on several occasions in the past two weeks permitted male trustees to enter the female cell block.

He said the subsequent investigation headed by Capt. Ronald Imoos indicated that two trustees were involved and that they had been permitted to enter the female cell block on four occasions — twice for periods of about 10-15 minutes and twice for much shorter periods of time.

He said visits had been permitted in both open, dormitory-type cell blocks and in those having separate cells and that it appeared that the guards had remained outside in the guard corridor while the trustees were inside.

He said the female matrons on duty during the visits were properly working outside the cell block area and were not aware of the violations.

Jewell said the two guards were being terminated for violation of departmental rules and regulations, but would be arrested for violation of state law.

He also said it appeared that the offense would be a misdemeanor punishable by not more than 90 days in jail if the guards are found guilty.

He said he did not believe any charges would be brought against the trustees involved.

Both Curry and Anderson were hired by the sheriff's department last year, Curry on Feb. 18 and Anderson on Oct. 31. Jewell said they were subjected to a "very extensive investigation" before being hired and that "from all indications, prior to this they were top-notch people."

He said there was no indication that any sort of payment was made to the guards, "just that the trustees requested the guards to allow them in the area."

"In my 20 years with this department, nothing involving employees has ever come close to this. I don't understand how two guards could put their jobs and future in jeopardy over something so irresponsible."

Charles Yarbrough.

"Wouldn't you recommend suspending the hiring freeze entirely?" Yarbrough asked Farmer. "Why should we go through this every week?"

Yarbrough's questions came during discussion of a resolution recommended by Farmer that the commission lift the hiring freeze to permit the police department to hire one auxiliary officer and allow the cemetery superintendent to hire seasonal employees as needed.

The resolution eventually was approved by a 7-0 vote with Yarbrough abstaining.

It is the third time in four meetings since the hiring freeze was instituted Dec. 29 that the commission has granted exceptions to the policy, which was designed to save money for next year's budget.

On Jan. 13 the commission lifted the freeze to fill five positions in city hall and on Jan. 27 lifted the freeze again to permit hiring of an administrative aide for the personnel department and three employees for the library.

Under questioning by Yarbrough, Farmer said the policy kept commissioners abreast of all hirings and admitted that "there will be more" hirings of the freeze requested in the future.

He also said that cemetery employees would be hired only on an "as-needed basis" and would be processed through his office and that most of the expense of the auxiliary policeman would be reimbursed to the city by schools or other organizations that requested his services.

The commission approved the city's application to purchase 35 parcels of land in Benton Harbor from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources at a cost of $1 per parcel.

The 35 parcels, located throughout the city, are land which has reverted to the state because taxes were not paid the properties. Acting Manager Farmer said the would buy the parcels from state and either rehabili dwellings on the parcels demolish them.

Top Berrien
GOP Leaders
Ask Leaves

The two top officers of the Berrien County Republican committee said today they are requesting six-month leaves of absence from the posts to campaign for David Stockman, candidate for U.S. Congress from the Fourth District.

They are Mrs. Carol (Allen) Stockman, committee chairman and mother of candidate Stockman, and St. Joseph Atty. John L. Globensky, vice chairman.

Mrs. Stockman and Globensky said the leaves are to avoid any claims of partisan conflicts with their county committee duties. The formal request for leaves will be acted on at the county executive committee's meeting Feb. 14.

The leaves would be until after the Aug. 3 primary.

A special committee of Robert Burkholz, Judith Hecht and Joseph Gurbert II has been named to make nominations for an interim chairman and vice chairman. The executive committee is expected to act on the nominations at its meeting Feb. 14.

Mrs. Stockman and Globensky were elected to their posts by the GOP executive committee in December, 1974, for two-year terms.

Mrs. Stockman also served as the party's executive secretary and these duties are now being filled by Janis Osborn of Stevensville.

Mrs. Stockman, first woman to hold the county chairmanship, said county GOP membership rules have doubled in size the past year.

Globensky is a partner in the law firm of Globensky, Gleiss, Henderson and Bither. He is a past president of the Berrien Bar association.

Bridgman Acts On Assessment Plan

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman city commission last night gave preliminary approval to a measure establishing how much the city and property owners will pay for certain special assessment-type projects in the future.

The ordinance, which was approved on first reading, will become effective. If it wins approval on a second reading at the next commission meeting.

Under the ordinance, property owners would be charged 40 per cent and the city

60 per cent for future capital improvement projects affecting their property, unless the project cost is under $1,000, or less than $1 per lineal foot. Then, the city will assume the whole cost, according to Clerk Phyllis Weber.

The ordinance provides for uniform financial obligations to be incurred for construction and repair of streets, sidewalks, curbs and gutters, storm drains, sanitary sewers and water main extensions. The ordinance will be published in a local newspaper before being considered on second reading, commissioners said.

In other areas, the commission authorized Commissioner James Benbenek to have an ordinance prepared which will prohibit the use of snowmobiles on any city street.

Benbenek also announced that the commission is forming a parking committee to study parking needs for the city. He said the move was prompted by recently passed state laws which will phase out the use of angle parking on city streets by 1979 or 1980.

The ordinance review committee was authorized to obtain one of the city's attorneys to advise the commission on how to consolidate and update existing city ordinances. The cost of the legal opinion is not to exceed $500.

The commission agreed to match a Lake township fund of $2,000 for upkeep of the township's cemetery and for providing ambulance rescue service.

The commission gave permission to the Bridgman Jaycees to sell tickets door to door through Feb. 28 for the Bridgman Queens dance which will be held the night of Feb. 28.

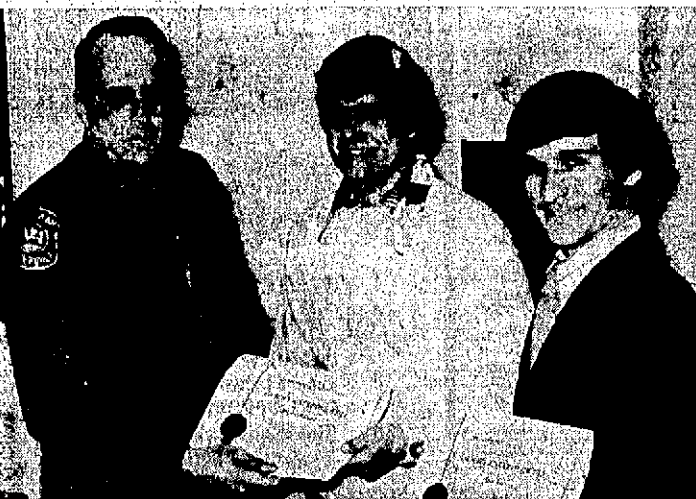

The commission authorized Mrs. Nifedora Krumrie to paint murals on the West end of Lake street for the cost of paint and materials. The cost is to be absorbed by the park fund, commissioners said.

Clerk Weber reported that the commission in special session Jan. 24, approved joining with four other local governmental units in a proposed sewer study for the areas involved, which include, Bridgman city, Baroda village, Lake and Baroda townships, and a major portion of Weesaw township. The commission named the Berrien county board of public works as lead agent in applying for federal funds for the study.

Treasurer; Assets Are Up 18%

Eugene B. Rokely, association president, made the announcement during the association's annual meeting. At the same time he announced several staff changes involving the Coloma office of the Buchanan-based association.

Rokely said Koenigshof's retirement as treasurer was effective Jan. 1. He was first elected to the board in 1958 and has been an association officer since 1961.

Barry R. Borst, vice president and controller for the association, was elected treasurer. He joined LaSalle in 1967.

In the staff changes, Dale E. Kreitner, assistant vice president and Coloma branch manager, has been promoted to the association's headquarters in Buchanan as a vice president and senior lending and savings officer. He joined LaSalle in 1969 as Coloma branch manager.

Gary A. Dolezan, former assistant branch manager at Coloma, was elected branch manager. He joined LaSalle in 1974.

Paul (Herb) Kramer Jr. has been appointed to the post of assistant branch manager at Coloma. He started with LaSalle in 1974 in the mortgage department at the Buchanan office.

Fire Destroys Boat Plant

ST. CHARLES, Mich. (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Browning-Aero Craft Marine boat plant Monday. The one-story facility where boats were manufactured was worth about $400,000, said Chief of Police Robert Meier, quoting figures provided by an official at Browning-Aero.

1,798 Traffic Deaths

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — There were 1,798 traffic deaths in Michigan last year, the lowest annual count in 13 years, the State Police said Monday. The figure was 77 below the 1974 toll, a spokesman said. Last month's death count was 100, the lowest death count for that month in 14 years, the spokesman added. The January count was 16 per cent less than the January 1975 figure of 120, and 51 less than the average for January in the last five years, the spokesman added.

SOUTH HAVEN COUNCIL VOTES 4-3

It's 'Go' For $300,000 Grant

By TOM RENNER

SOUTH HAVEN — South Haven city council by a 4 to 3 vote last night authorized filing a pre-application with the federal government for a $300,000 community development grant.

If approved, the grant will be aimed at rehabilitation of existing substandard houses on the city's southwest side, a beached up code enforcement program and several public works projects including a major improvement of Indiana avenue and Water street, creation of a lot for pre-school children and riverfront beautification.

The proposal has been the subject of criticism from some area residents who fear acceptance of the federal funds will result in additional government-ordered housing for low-income families. The city presently has a 50-unit public housing program for low-income families.

The pre-application was prepared by the city housing commission whose members have stressed they are not trying to promote the construction of new public housing.

"Our decaying neighborhoods have created a tremendous cancer in our community," said Alderman Robert Warren in endorsing the program. "We (the housing commission) agree that South Haven doesn't need more low-income housing because we already have it by our deteriorating neighborhoods."

In favor of filing the pre-application was Mayor Richard Lewis and aldermen Warren, Ronald Kuzlik and Wilbur Ingraham. Opposed were aldermen Rex Lineberry, Norvan Books and Matthew Georg.

"South Haven people don't want this program period even though we are going to sacrifice some things," said Lineberry.

Aldermen who voted no also questioned the city's ability to generate its share of funds which includes $102,000 toward the Indiana project and $20,000 for Water street and river beautification.

The pre-application must be filed by Feb. 15. The city should hear sometime in April if it may make a final application.

In other areas, council tabled until its Feb. 17 meeting a decision on whether or not to allow the drinking of beer and wine in public places such as parks and beaches.

City Atty. William Verdunk told council a decision is necessary because there are two ordinances on the books which contradict each other. A 1905 ordinance prohibits drinking alcoholic beverages in any public place while a 1956 law prohibits the consumption of spirituous liquors but appears to allow beer and wine.

"It is simply a matter of the council deciding which ordinance they wish to be in effect," noted Verdunk in a letter.

Mayor Lewis invited citizen

comment on the matter.

Mayor Lewis announced he has established a telephone hotline to his home, stressing, however, that it is not intended for the airing of complaints that should be handled by city departments. He said the number is 637-1781.

Mrs. George (Lynn) Cheeseman, 522 Lyon street, asked the council to consider appointing more women to city boards and commissions.

Mrs. Cheeseman said she was

Hellenga Won't
Seek Re-Election

THREE OAKS — Alfred Hellenga, Three Oaks township supervisor for 10 years, announced last night he will not seek re-election in the office in this year's township elections.

Hellenga, a Republican, said he plans to devote his time to other interests which he did not specify.

He made the announcement during the regular meeting of the township board here.

The supervisor, clerk and treasurer will be among township offices at stake in the

Nov. 2 general election.

In other areas, the board accepted the low bid for insurance of the township's properties from the Ray Wrona agency of Three Oaks.

Wrona's bid of $2,007 for three years was lower than bids of $1,010 a year from the Drier agency of Three Oaks and of $1,113 a year from the Gerald Nye agency of Three Oaks.

The board voted to extend the deadline for paying taxes from Feb. 15 to Feb. 23. Treasurer Robert Martin said that 41 per Robert F. Koenigshof, treasurer of LaSalle Federal Savings and Loan association and chairman of its board of directors, has relinquished the treasurer's duties.

Eugene B. Rokely, association president, made the announcement during the association's annual meeting. At the same time he announced several staff changes involving the Coloma office of the Buchanan-based association.

Rokely also reported that LaSalle assets at the end of 1975 stood at $48,014,340, an 18 per cent increase over a year ago, or an increase of $7,125,466. Savings deposits increased by 17.8 per cent up to $43,220,175 and loans stand at $43,189,000, an increase of 15.83 per cent.

Rokely said Koenigshof's retirement as treasurer was effective Jan. 1. He was first elected to the board in 1959 and has been an association officer since 1961.

Barry R. Borst, vice president and controller for the association, was elected treasurer. He joined LaSalle in 1967.

In the staff changes, Dale E. Kreitner, assistant vice president and Coloma branch manager, has been promoted to the association's headquarters in Buchanan as a vice president and senior lending and savings officer. He joined LaSalle in 1969 as Coloma branch manager.

Gary A. Dolezan, former assistant branch manager at Coloma, was elected branch manager. He joined LaSalle in 1974.

Paul (Herb) Kramer Jr. has been appointed to the post of assistant branch manager at Coloma. He started with LaSalle in 1974 in the mortgage department at the Buchanan office.

Former assistant treasurer Betty Russell was promoted to mortgage loan officer at the Buchanan office. She joined LaSalle in 1962 as a teller and progressed through the association as teller supervisor, savings officer and loan officer.

Directors re-elected for three-year terms were Bernard E. Ellis, Walter Williams Jr., and George L. Sullivan.

Fire Destroys Boat Plant

ST. CHARLES, Mich. (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Browning-Aero Craft Marine boat plant Monday. The one-story facility where boats were manufactured was worth about $400,000, said Chief of Police Robert Meier, quoting figures provided by an official at Browning-Aero.

1,798 Traffic Deaths

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — There were 1,798 traffic deaths in Michigan last year, the lowest annual count in 13 years, the State Police said Monday. The figure was 77 below the 1974 toll, a spokesman said. Last month's death count was 100, the lowest death count for that month in 14 years, the spokesman added. The January count was 16 per cent less than the January 1975 figure of 120, and 51 less than the average for January in the last five years, the spokesman added.

SOUTH HAVEN COUNCIL VOTES 4-3

It's 'Go' For $300,000 Grant

By TOM RENNER

South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — South Haven city council by a 4 to 3 vote last night authorized filing a pre-application with the federal government for a $300,000 community development grant.

If approved, the grant will be aimed at rehabilitation of existing substandard houses on the city's southwest side, a beefedup code enforcement program and several public works projects including a major improvement of Indiana avenue and Water street, creation of a lot for pre-school children and riverfront beautification.

The proposal has been the subject of criticism from some area residents who fear acceptance of the federal funds will result in additional government-ordered housing for low-income families. The city presently has a 50-unit public housing program for low-income families.

The pre-application was prepared by the city housing commission whose members have stressed they are not trying to promote the construction of new public housing.

"Our decaying neighborhoods have created a tremendous cancer in our community," said Alderman Robert Warren in endorsing the program. "We (the housing commission) agree that South Haven doesn't need more low-income housing because we already have it by our deteriorating neighborhoods."

In favor of filing the pre-application were Mayor Richard Lewis and aldermen Warren, Ronald Kozlik and Wilbur Ingraham. Opposed were aldermen Rex Lineberry, Norvan Books and Matthew Goerg.

"South Haven people don't want this program period even though we are going to sacrifice some things," said Lineberry.

Aldermen who voted no also questioned the city's ability to generate its share of funds which includes $102,000 toward the Indiana project and $20,000 for Water street and river beautification.

The pre-application must be filed by Feb. 15. The city should hear sometime in April if it may make a final application.

In other areas, council tabled until its Feb. 17 meeting a decision on whether or not to allow the drinking of beer and wine in public places such as parks and beaches.

City Atty. William Verdonk told council a decision is necessary because there are two ordinances on the books which contradict each other. A 1905 ordinance prohibits drinking alcoholic beverages in any public place while a 1956 law prohibits the consumption of spirituous liquors but appears to allow beer and wine.

"It is simply a matter of the council deciding which ordinance they wish to be in effect," noted Verdonk in a letter. Mayor Lewis invited citizen comment on the matter.

Mayor Lewis announced he has established a telephone hotline to his home, stressing, however, that it is not intended for the airing of complaints that should be handled by city departments. He said the number is 637-1781.

Mrs. George (Lynn) Cheeseman, 522 Lyon street, asked the council to consider appointing more women to city boards and commissions.

Mrs. Cheeseman said she was

Hellenga Won't Seek Re-Election

THREE OAKS — Alfred Hellenga, Three Oaks township supervisor for 10 years, announced last night he will not seek re-election to the office in this year's township elections.

Hellenga, a Republican, said he plans to devote his time to other interests which he did not specify.

He made the announcement during the regular meeting of the township board here.

The supervisor, clerk and treasurer will be among township offices at stake in the

Nov. 2 general election.

In other areas, the board accepted the low bid for insurance of the township's properties from the Ray Wrona agency of Three Oaks.

Wrona's bid of $2,007 for three years was lower than bids of $1,010 a year from the Drier agency of Three Oaks and of $1,113 a year from the Gerald Nye agency of Three Oaks.

The board voted to extend the deadline for paying taxes from Feb. 15 to Feb. 29. Treasurer Robert Martin said that 41 per

NBA, Players Close To Robertson Case Settlement

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Basketball Association and the Players Association appear close to an agreement that would settle the controversial Oscar Robertson case out of court and remove a major obstacle from a possible merger with the American Basketball Association.

The NBA Board of Governors disclosed Monday that substantial progress had been made on the Robertson issues toward a settlement that would end the litigation, scheduled for trial June 1 in the Southern District Court of New York.

"The action today (Monday) is a major, major step," said NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien. "I'm a pessimist by nature, but I'm sitting here today in optimism."

Larry Fleisher, general counsel for the Players Association, said there was a 50-50 chance now that the case would not go to trial.

The Robertson lawsuit, filed in 1970, challenged the NBA option clause and the legality of the college draft.

The key issue is similar to the National Football League's Rozelle Rule, recently ruled illegal by a federal judge in Minneapolis. This involves compensation to a club who loses a player to another league team when the player players out the option year of his contract.

Fleisher said recently, "As long as there is this demand for compensation, the case can't be settled."

O'Brien said the NBA's Advisory Committee worked through Sunday night and almost up to the Board of Governor's 10 a.m. meeting Monday hammering out the compromise that will be submitted to the Players Association today by Fleisher. He said also that there had been extensive negotiations last week.

Fleisher said Monday night that 10 players hadn't arrived yet for tonight's 26th annual All-Star game, which would preclude an early meeting. He expected to get his group together sometime after noon.

"I think there is enough in this agreement for me to go to the players and say this is what has been agreed upon," Fleisher said.

Neither O'Brien nor Fleisher would disclose the specifics of the compromise, declaring that the information first had to be delivered to Judge Robert Carter, before whom the case was to be tried.

But sources said the agreement would provide for elimination of the option clause from NBA contracts after this season. The compensation clause would remain in effect until 1980, then would be replaced by a clause providing for right of first refusal.

That means when a player's contract runs out, he may negotiate with any team in the league. But his original club has the right to match any offer, in order to keep the player from leaving.

As for the draft, the agreement would provide that if a player is drafted and not signed within one year, he goes back into the pool and is eligible to be drafted again.

This is subject to vote by the Players Association. If they okay it, and Judge Carter approves the agreement, it could open the way to merger discussions between the NBA and the American Basketball Association.

Meanwhile, the East is favored in tonight's All-Star game.

Perhaps one of the factors in establishing the East as the favorite is that the team has four of the five players who started in last year's victory.

That group includes guard Walt Frazier of the New York Knicks, who was the Most Valuable Player in the 1975 game after scoring 30 points. The other repeat starters are forwards Elvin Hayes of Washington and John Havlicek of Boston, and center Bob McAdoo of Buffalo, the league's No. 1 scorer. Joining them will be guard Dave Bing of Washington.

Hayes, however, is nursing an injured wrist, and probably will see only limited action.

The East's reserves include center Dave Cowens of Boston (another former MVP), forwards Rudy Tomjanovich of Houston, George McGinnis of Philadelphia and John Drew of Atlanta, and guards Doug Collins of Philadelphia, Randy Smith of Buffalo and JoJo White of Boston.

The West will have one former MVP on its squad, starting forward Rick Barry of Golden State, winner of the award in 1967.

Starting along with Barry will be forward Bob Dandridge of Milwaukee, center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of Los Angeles and guards Brian Winters of Milwaukee and Nate Archibald of Kansas City.

Golden State's Al Attles, coach of the West, will have a bench including forwards Curtis Rowe of Detroit, Jamaal Wilkes of Golden State and Scott Wedman of Kansas City, rookie center Alvan Adams of Phoenix and guards Fred Brown of Seattle, Phil Smith of Golden State and Norm Van Lier of Chicago.

The nationally televised game was scheduled to begin at 9:40 p.m., EST. If it is a sellout, an All-Star game attendance record of 18,516 would be set.

Austrian Record Skier

Olympics' Opening Ceremony Wednesday

INNSBRUCK (AP) — By the time you read this, Anton Steiner may have fallen on his backside and ended his hopes of getting into the Olympics. No matter. He typifies the spirit of the Games that began in ancient Greece and have endured wars and disasters.

Steiner, a well-scrubbed, cherub-faced, 17-year-old Austrian, broke the downhill record on the terrifying Patscherkofel Mountain course Monday by more than 6.5 seconds. That alone might indicate that he is an Olympic gold medal hopeful.

As a matter of fact, he may not even make the Austrian team. Two more practice runs will decide which three skiers the Austrians select to join Franz Klammer for their highly-rated squad in the Winter Games.

In an interview after his sensational run Monday, Steiner conceded that he never had thought seriously about the Olympics. "Now I think that I, Werner Grissman, Klaus Eberhard and Josef Walcher should compete for the three places left on the Austrian team," he said.

The fourth berth already is locked up by Klammer, the gold medal favorite who has won four World Cup downhill races this season.

Austrian team officials have said the three fastest in the trials will join Klammer on the team, which is heavily favored in the dangerous, 75-mile-per-hour downhill.

Steiner flashed down the 3,145-meter trail in 1:49.04 minutes Monday to break the record of 1:55.78 set last year by Klammer, who said he took it easy in finishing third and sixth in the two downhill runs.

In other action Monday, hockey teams from Czechoslovakia, Poland and West Germany won preliminary games to qualify for Olympics medal competition. The United States, Japan and the heavily-favored Russians were expected to do the same today.

Speed skaters Sheila Young of Detroit, Lean Poulos of Northbrook, Ill., Peter Mueller of Mequon, Wis., and Dan Carroll of St. Louis carried high hopes for the United States in their respective races.

They and the remainder of the U.S. speed skating team arrived in Innsbruck Monday from Switzerland where Miss Young, 25, set a world record of 40.91 seconds in the 500-meter race. Miss Poulos, 24, won the 1,500-meter event in a U.S. record time of 2:13.98 minutes and Mueller, 21, won the men's 500 meters.

Those results in an international speed skating meet gave the American team more hope than ever for several medals. The other best bet, figure skater Dorothy Hamill of Riverside, Conn., was suffering from a cold and sore calf muscles from working out only two hours instead of her usual six.

The East Germans put on a strong bobsled showing in trials Monday, setting a record of 56.28 seconds over the 1,220-meter course. They also eclipsed another record in the 70-meter ski jump on Henry Glass' jump of 83.5 meters — 2.5 meters longer than one set Sunday by Ivo Felix of Czechoslovakia.

The opening ceremony is set for Wednesday afternoon.

Scheffler Wins 'Best Game'

From Associated Press

"This is the kind of game this team needed...a win, and we came from behind," said Purdue Coach Fred Schaus, whose Boilermakers finally brought a smile back to his face.

They broke a four-game losing streak, their longest in 12 seasons, with a 91-76 Big Ten basketball win Monday over Iowa.

In other conference action, Michigan pounded Wisconsin 107-86, Minnesota glided past Illinois 72-62 and Michigan State dumped Northwestern 91-71.

Number one-ranked Indiana and lowly Ohio State were idle. Purdue, now 5-4 in the Big Ten and 10-8 over-all, hit for 63 per cent from the floor in the second half.

But a balanced scoring attack, with all five starters hitting in double figures, isn't the reason the Boilermakers won, said Schaus. "We played good defense in the second half. This is the type of game I had hoped for about three games back. I told Tom Scheffler (6-10 Purdue center) I thought this was his best game ever at Purdue. He's now taking the ball to the basket very well."

The Boilermakers came back from a 48-36 halftime deficit and late in the game cinched the contest by reeling off 10 straight points.

Jordan, a sophomore, led all scorers with 21 points. Scheffler added 17.

Iowa Coach Lute Olson, whose team dropped to 4-5 in the conference and 13-6 overall, said a number of his players were bothered by the flu in the last few days.

The Boilermakers took 32 foul shots while Iowa took only nine. Rickey Green pumped in 32 points as Michigan was en route to its largest scoring output of the season. The loss was the Badgers' eighth in a row, started early last month by Michigan, 106-81.

Green's teammate contributed 19 and Phil Hubbard hit for 18.

Wisconsin's Dale Koehler scored 36 to take game honors.

Michigan now is 8-2 in the Big Ten and 14-4 for the season, while Wisconsin plummeted to 2-8 in conference play and 8-10 over-all.

Michigan State, led by hotshooting Terry Furlow's 33 points, proved a poor host in dumping Northwestern.

MSU hit for 56 per cent of its first-half shots, with center Greg Kelsner and guard Bob Chapman combining for 31 points.

Chapman finished with 24 points and Kelsner added 21. Dowagiac junior Edgar Wilson wound up with 10 for MSU, his third straight game in double figures.

MSU Coach Gus Ganakas praised McKinney, who scored 17 points playing despite an injury. "...he still played, plus they had two players out sick, yet they didn't give up."

NU Coach Tex Winter added, "We put some players on the floor tonight who played with a lot of heart and courage. Michigan State is a mighty good basketball team. We could have played with all our players and State probably would have won anyway. They will have to be reckoned with if they keep playing like they did tonight."

Gopher sophomore center Mike Thompson, playing in the wake of a ticket sales-incident, took scoring honors with 30 points as Minnesota drubbed Illinois.

Squires May Become ABA's Fourth Fatality Of Season

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Are the Virginia Squires on the verge of becoming the American Basketball Association's fourth fatality of the season or is this just another management gimmick to pump new blood into what for months has appeared to be a terminally ill patient?

The answer may come late today when management learns whether it has been able to sell 50 of the 100 advertising banners in Norfolk's Scope — at $5,000 a shot — it says must be sold by Friday for the franchise to survive.

At a hastily-called news conference Monday, the Squires announced they would cease operations — and join Baltimore, San Diego and Utah in folding this season — unless $500,000 is raised.

"Unless we can have 100 banners sold by this Friday, the Squires are going down the tubes, it's that simple," said Walter McTague, an insurance man and a minor investor who's spearheading the campaign to sell the banners.

But more imminent is a deadline the Squires have set for today.

Beset by creditors and unable to meet Monday's $60,000 payroll, management said it must have 50 banners sold by the time of a 4:30 p.m. meeting to look at the situation.

Eighteen banners have been sold so far, and McTague said "at the meeting we're going to ask for signed commitments. If we don't get 'em sold or committed at that time, the decision has already been made that the Squires will fold."

McTague denied the Squires were merely trying to get the franchise through another payday and come up with still another method to create capital — something they've been doing since last November, when things supposedly had been settled.

There were reports the Squires' franchise was dangerously close to being terminated by the league at last week's ABA meeting in Denver, but Van Cunningham, the team's general managing partner, reportedly convinced league officials the banner campaign would succeed.

Despite an 8-39 record that's the worst in pro basketball and three different coaches this season, attendance has improved steadily since the club first disclosed its financial troubles in November.

Steeler Free On Bond After Cocaine Charge

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Earnie Holmes, a member of the vaulted Steel Curtain front four of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League, was free on bond today after being charged with possession of 250 milligrams of cocaine.

Holmes, 27, a native of Newton, Tex., was arrested Saturday and released Monday on $1,000 bond after being formally charged before Justice of the Peace Roy Byrd.

It is the second time Holmes was charged with a criminal offense. He was placed on five years probation in 1973 after he pleaded guilty in Youngstown, Ohio, to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Moeller After 1,000th Career Point Bears Start Stretch Drive

If there was ever a time for the St. Joseph eagles to put together a long winning streak, it's now.

The second-place Bears (5-1 in the Big Seven) begin a February stretch drive this week by hosting Portage Central (1-4 in the league) tonight and Los Norrix (2-3) Friday.

This month will find St. Joe playing six games — all conference clashes — including a regular season ending encounter with league-leading Holland (7-1) at home.

Meanwhile, Marc Moeller of Pennville will probably top the coveted 1,000-point career plateau in a non-league tilt at Bangor tonight. The 6-4 senior, who leads southwestern Michigan scorers with a 23.3 average, now had 881 career points.

In other league games tonight, Blossomland, Joos Brandywine (7-2) and Dowagiac (4-5) square off at the Chippewa, while Niles (3-4) travels to Los Norrix in another Big Seven tilt.

Southwestern Athletic Conference games include Lawrence (2-4) at Decatur (4-1) and Lawton (3-5) at Martin (2-4).

St. Joe coach George Gaundert knows there's a tough trail ahead for his Bears. "We certainly would like to go into that last game tied with Holland," declares the veteran mentor. "But we realize we have five more games before that one. The only bright spot about the two games this week is that they are both at home."

Central has been an inconsistent team most of the season, posting a 8-7 overall record. Russ VanDulme, a 6-8 senior center, has been a major factor in scoring with a 13.8 average and in rebounding, pulling down about 10 per cent.

Norrix, on the other hand, has been a hot commodity since mid-December. The Knights are 10-3 this season, winning their last seven in a row. Alan Moorehead lipped his scoring average to 18.3 last Friday night when he canned 31 points in Norrix's win over Lakeview. He also pulled down 25 rebounds in the game, setting a new school record.

Gaundert was pleased with his team's offensive rebounding and fast break against Lakeshore Saturday night. "We had 22 offensive rebounds against Lakeshore and that's the most we've had this season," he says. "If that game is any indication, the work on our fast break is starting to pay off."

Cory Benford leads the Bears in scoring with a 14.2 average. "Even though Moeller often has defenses specially designed against him, he still has hit 30 points or better seven times this season," he says. "We don't mind a zone and chaser on Marc." Pennville's head coach, Tom Pelon declares, "It just opens up other players. Besides, Marc just gets a lot of weak side rebounds and puts them in."

Elsewhere, Alledale was scheduled to play at Covert tonight, but because of an incident following a girls' basketball game, Alledale has decided to forfeit the Allegan-Ottawa contest.

Giants Expected To Start Packing For Toronto Move

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, put up for sale as they were running out of cash last year, may start packing today for a new home in Toronto.

The Canadian group hoping to move the baseball team should get clearance from the National League no later than next Monday, when major league owners meet in New York, if San Francisco Superior Court Judge John Benson rules today against the city in its attempt to get an injunction preventing any move.

A temporary restraining order obtained Jan. 12 prevented owners from taking any action at a mid-January meeting, but they heard presentations from the Toronto people and were promised by San Francisco Mayor George Moscone that a huge damage settlement will be sought if the Giants leave.

No one interested in keeping the franchise here, its home since the 1958 move from New York's Polo Grounds, has come forth with an offer matching the Toronto one: $8 million plus $5.25 million to pay off the anticipated cost of breaking the long-term Candlestick Park lease.

"We worked for 11 months to find a local buyer. There just wasn't an acceptable offer," said James Hunt, a lawyer for the Giants. "There doesn't seem to be any real alternative for the court but to let the team move."

Williams Nets 28 In Village Variety Victory

Other action saw Lou Harvey and Reggie Walker net 24 and 21, respectively, in Durabro Products' 86-77 win over Ausco's, which got 26 points from Neal Lewis and 16 from Charles Oshy.

Bertrac Bonding took Johnnie's Fashion 76-75 with Tim Thiesen and Ron Mandarino getting 20 and 16 points respectively. Willie Lacey had 25 in a losing effort.

Bilesko Sparks 76er Victories

Tom Bilesko led the 76ers to a pair of North-East Branch Y.M.C.A. basketball league victories, scoring 20 in a 44-12 win over the Bucks and 15 in a 38-12 triumph over the Hawks.

The Bucks also lost to the Bulls 28-24, with Kevin Steinke having 15 points for the winners. He also netted 10 in the Bulls' 21-12 victory over the Hawks.

Meanwhile, the Tigers also posted a pair of victories, downing the Chiefs 28-10 behind Quincy Turner's 18 points and taking the Mets 16-13.

Other action saw the Chiefs down the Jets 18-10 behind Darren Rudley's 10 points.

Negaunee Two Points Ahead Of Buchanan

Undeclared Buchanan and Negaunee have been close all season while topping the Class C high school Associated Press poll.

But the ties between the schools aren't strictly in the poll. Negaunee mentor Dave Hallgren once coached the Gaels at Gallien, which is just a skip and a jump down the road from Bucktown.

Hallgren produced a 58-18

record at Gallien in four seasons ending with the 1964-65 campaign, including a regional championship.

Now he would like to see his Negaunee Miners go all the way to the top in the state's Class C basketball finals.

"We made the semifinals last year," Hallgren says. "But we've never gone all the way."

The Miners are on the right track. The Upper Peninsula team heads the Class C Associated Press Prep Poll this week for the second straight week.

"We've got a bunch of dedicated kids who worked hard to get there," Hallgren says of the team's top ranking. "And they're working hard to stay on top. It's harder to stay there than it is to get there."

"But we'd like to be there when the season's all over," Hallgren says.

Hallgren says the key to the school's success lies in its entire basketball program right down to the seventh grade. Hallgren praised the coaches and said the program helped to bring the kids along.

All the teams in the program have compiled a record of 53-6. The varsity is 15-0 this season.

Buchanan stands second in this week's Class C poll. Two points behind Negaunee. Other highly-ranked southwestern Michigan teams include South Haven, third, in Class B; Gallien, sixth in D, and Covert, tied for 10th in D.

Moeller After 1,000th Career Point Bears Start Stretch Drive

If there was ever a time for the St. Joseph cagers to put together a long winning streak, it's now.

The second-place Bears, (5-1 in the Big Seven) begin a February stretch drive this week by hosting Portage Central (1-6 in the league) tonight and Loy Norrix (3-3) Friday.

This month will find St. Joe playing six games — all conference clashes — including a regular season ending encounter with league-leading Holland (7-1) at home.

Meanwhile, Marc Moeller of Fennville will probably top the coveted 1,000-point career plateau in a non-league tilt at Bangor tonight. The 6-4 senior, who leads southwestern Michigan scorers with a 29.5 average, now had 991 career points.

In other league games tonight, Blossomland foes Brandywine (7-2) and Dowagiac (4-5) square off at the Chiefs' tepee, while Niles (3-4) travels to Loy Norrix in another Big Seven tilt.

Southwestern Athletic Conference games include Lawrence (2-6) at Decatur (6-1) and Lawton (3-5) at Martin (2-6).

St. Joe coach George Gaunter knows there's a tough trail ahead for his Bears. "We certainly would like to go into that last game tied with Holland," declares the veteran mentor. "But we realize we have five tough games before that one. The only bright spot about the two games this week is that they are both at home."

Central has been an inconsistent team most of the season, posting a 6-7 overall record. Russ VanDuine, a 6-8 senior center, leads the team in scoring with a 13.8 average and in rebounding, pulling down about 10 per cent.

Norrix, on the other hand, has been a hot commodity since mid-December. The Knights are 10-3 this season, winning their last seven in a row. Alan Moorehead upped his scoring average to 18.3 last Friday night when he canned 31 points in Norrix's win over Lakeview. He also pulled down 25 rebounds in the game, setting a new school record.

Gaunter was pleased with his team's offensive rebounding and fast break against Lakeshore Saturday night. "We had 22 offensive rebounds against Lakeshore and that's the most we've had this season," he says. "If that game is any indication, the work on our fast break is starting to pay off."

Cory Benford leads the Bears in scoring with a 14.2 average.

Even though Moeller often has defenses specially designed against him, he still has hit 30 points or better seven times this season. "We don't mind a zone and head coach Tom Pelon declares. "It just opens up other players. Besides, Marc just gets a lot of weak side rebounds and puts them in."

Elsewhere, Allendale was scheduled to play at Covert tonight, but because of an incident following a girls' basketball game, Allendale has decided to forfeit the Allegan-Ottawa contest.

Giants Expected To Start Packing For Toronto Move

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, put up for sale as they were running out of cash last year, may start packing today for a new home in Toronto.

The Canadian group hoping to move the baseball team should get clearance from the National League no later than next Monday, when major league owners meet in New York. If San Francisco Superior Court Judge John Benson rules today against the city in its attempt to get an injunction preventing any move.

A temporary restraining order obtained Jan. 12 prevented owners from taking any action at a mid-January meeting, but they heard presentations from the Toronto people and were promised by San Francisco

Mayor George Moscone that a huge damage settlement will be sought if the Giants leave.

No one interested in keeping the franchise here, its home since the 1958 move from New York's Polo Grounds, has come forth with an offer matching the Toronto one, $8 million plus $5.25 million to pay off the anticipated cost of breaking the long-term Candlestick Park lease.

"We worked for 11 months to find a local buyer. There just wasn't an acceptable offer," said James Hunt, a lawyer for the Giants. "There doesn't seem to be any real alternative for the court but to let the team move."

Williams Nets 28 In Village Variety Victory

Dave Williams scored 28 points while leading Village Variety to a 78-72 triumph over South Haven in the Benton Harbor recreation men's basketball league. Ken Harrington netted 25 for the losers.

Other action saw Lou Harvey and Reggie Walker net 24 and 23, respectively, in Durable Products' 86-77 win over Ausco's, which got 26 points from Neal Lewis and 16 from Charles Osby.

Bertuca Bonding took Johnnie's Fashion 76-75 with Tim Thiesen and Ron Mandarino getting 20 and 18 points respectively. Willie Lacey had 25 in a losing effort.

L.C. Fleming tallied 17 in the Bachelor 14 Club's 80-76 victory over Bargain Center. Hal Beckum and June Tanner had 24 and 18, respectively, for the losers.

Bilesko Sparks 76er Victories

Tom Bilesko led the 76ers to a pair of North-East Branch YM-CA basketball league victories, scoring 20 in a 44-12 win over the Bucks and 15 in a 38-12 triumph over the Hawks.

The Bucks also lost to the Bulls 26-24, with Kevin Steinke having 15 points for the winners. He also netted 10 in the Bulls' 21-12 victory over the Hawks.

Meanwhile, the Tigers also posted a pair of victories, downing the Chiefs 26-10 behind Quincy Turner's 18 points and taking the Mets 16-13.

Other action saw the Chiefs down the Jets 18-10 behind Darren Rudley's 10 points.

Negaunee Two Points Ahead Of Buchanan

Undefeated Buchanan and Negaunee have been close all season while topping the Class C high school Associated Press poll.

But the ties between the schools aren't strictly in the poll. Negaunee mentor Dave Hallgren once coached the Gaels at Gallien, which is just a skip and a jump down the road from Bucktown.

Hallgren produced a 59-18

record at Gallien in four seasons ending with the 1964-65 campaign, including a regional championship.

Now he would like to see his Negaunee Miners go all the way to the top in the state's Class C basketball finals.

"We made the semifinals last year," Hallgren says. "But we've never gone all the way." The Miners are on the right track. The Upper Peninsula team heads the Class C Associated Press Prep Poll this week for the second straight week.

"We've got a bunch of dedicated kids who worked hard to get there," Hallgren says of the team's top ranking. "And they're working hard to stay on top. It's harder to stay there than it is to get there."

"But we'd like to be there when the season's all over."

Hallgren says the key to the school's success lies in its entire basketball program right down to the seventh grade. Hallgren praised the coaches and said the program helped to bring the kids along.

All the teams in the program have compiled a record of 53-6. The varsity is 15-0 this season.

Buchanan stands second in this week's Class C poll, two points behind Negaunee. Other highly-ranked southwestern Michigan teams include South Haven, third in Class B; Gallien, sixth in D, and Covert, tied for 10th in D.

It's Never Too Cold For Steelhead Fishing Charter Boats Keep Toes Toasty

By JOHN VANDEN HEEDÉ
Conservation Editor

It's never too cold to go fishing for trophy steelhead on the St. Joseph River.

Charter boat captains now working the waters below the dam at Berrien Springs can keep toes toasty while satisfying angling appetites.

Veteran captain Emil Dean and newcomers Ken Neidlinger and Chuck Knipschild are now making consistent catches of steelhead, including a few approaching the 20-pound class.

Dean, who hails from Bear Lake and has been chartering steelhead fishermen since 1968, including the last three winters on the St. Joe, almost has all the comforts of home on his 16-foot river boat. A completely enclosed cabin includes a 10,000 B.T.U. heater and a double burner stove.

And Neidlinger, a St. Joseph captain in his first winter as a charter captain, has an 18-foot boat covered with canvas. He also has a heater and a burner for brewing coffee or heating soup.

But don't get the idea it's as nice as summer, when you can often stretch out in the sun while on a charter trip out on Lake Michigan.

"It takes a special kind of guy," says Dean, who notes you still must be out in the elements when fishing.

All three captains agree that their customers are mostly avid fishermen, and not the first-timers and tourists who often charter on Lake Michigan during warm weather. Also, very few women take up the winter sport.

"They have a love for steelhead," adds Neidlinger on his customers. "They would rather fish steelhead than anything else."

Catches in recent weeks have generally been running at about three to five fish per day, which aren't large by summer standards, but are hard to match in the winter time.

"The name of the game is trophy fish," declares Dean, who says fish are averaging in the eight to 10-pound range.

And the St. Joe is one of Michigan's top steelhead rivers. "I've never had fishing like this anywhere in the wintertime," states Dean.

The river water has been exceptionally clear this winter because consistently freezing temperatures have limited runoff, and this probably enables the fish to see lures and bait easier, but Dean thinks the large plants in recent years are the reason for the good fishing.

More than half a million steelhead have been released in the St. Joseph since the first plants were made in 1970.

The first steelhead mature and return from Lake Michigan on spawning runs when about two years, when they run 16 to 18 inches in length. They are spring spawners, with the peak being between mid-March and mid-April in the St. Joe.

Dean's declaration about the good fishing at Berrien Springs is backed up by district Department of Natural Resources biologist Dave Johnson, who says creel census figures show "this year has been by far the biggest year to date."

There are two commonly used fishing methods for steelhead, spawn (fish eggs) and artificial lures (flatfish and tadpoles). It's believed that spawn catch more fish, but flatfish take more linkers.

St. Joseph River charter boat captains charge $90 per day for two persons.

Another advantage of winter fishing is the solitude. "I like it better than fall fishing because you're not bucking the crowds," continues Dean.

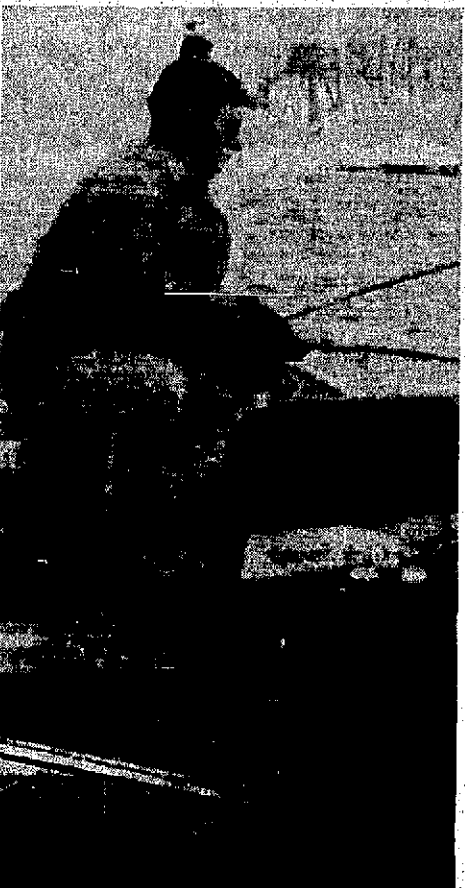

And if you're a charter captain, the river is also better for business. High winds and waves often chase boats off Lake Michigan. Dean recalls having 22 charters scheduled for last September but only being able to get six parties out on the big lake.

There's also a challenge in river fishing. You've got to know the fishing holes, and working spawn effectively takes technique and experience.

"I think it's much harder," relates Neidlinger. "There's much more work involved in putting fish in the boat. Out on Lake Michigan there are large schools of fish, and you just troll in the area."

So if you willing to chip ice off your line and risk getting a numb thumb for an opportunity to get a luncheon this year before your buddies in the fishing fraternity try steelhead fishing this winter.

TRAIL AROUND

By JOHN VANDEN HEEDÉ

The South Haven Riding Club is starting a campaign to get the horse trail on the new Kal-Haven State Park extended all the way to South Haven.

The park is an abandoned railroad right-of-way running between South Haven and Kalamazoo, but the horse trail only goes about halfway, extending from Kalamazoo to the Allegan State Game Area.

"This leaves us on the west end out," declares Diane Powers, secretary of the South Haven Riding Club. "We are trying to get the horse trail extended to South Haven by writing cards or letters to our representative in United Michigan Horseman."

"As it stands right now, they don't feel there is enough interest in horses in this area to warrant extending the equestrian trail this far."

(The United Michigan Horsemen representative is Patricia Perplch, P.O. Box 494, Lansing, Mich. 48902.)

Department of Natural Resources district park supervisor Paul A. Wigg says plans now call for ending the trail at Allegan because that's where it turns to join the present horse trails in the game area.

But he doesn't rule out the possibility of changes in the Kal-Haven trail. He says it is at least a couple of years away and public hearing on the project could bring about alterations.

The basic overall plan envisions construction of three non-motorized trails within the 28 mile right-of-way. One trail for bicycles would be hard surfaced and located on the former rail bed. A second trail for hikers would meander along side the bike trail. A third for horses would be located on the side opposite the hiking trail.

Although the former railroad ownership has a nearly uniform width of 100 feet, additional sites, as yet unidentified, would be needed for trail parking and staging facilities at the park's east end. Additional sites for rest areas may be needed along the route.

The project would be a cooperative effort between the DNR and the Department of State Highways and Transportation.

St. Joseph Chub Hearing Thursday

A public hearing on proposed new rules to protect Lake Michigan's chubs will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday in the courthouse at St. Joseph.

The Department of Natural Resources is seeking to establish a token quota of chubs for a handful of commercial fishermen. Biologists say that the chub population faces extermination if netting is not curbed.

A limited catch was established six months ago under an emergency rule, but it hasn't been enforced since Gary

The Southwestern Michigan Steelheaders will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 10, in the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn.

District Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologist Dave Johnson will speak on area fish plants for 1978, and prospects for this year's fishery.

Also on the program will be charter boat captain Emil Dean of Bear Lake. He will discuss St. Joseph River steelhead fishing.

Charter members of the local chapter will also receive certificates at the meeting.

Gun Show On Sunday

The first gun show of 1978 at the Berrien County Sportsman's Club is slated for Sunday, Feb. 8, starting at 8 a.m.

The South Haven Riding Club is starting a campaign to get the horse trail on the new Kal-Haven State Park extended all the way to South Haven.

The park is an abandoned railroad right-of-way running between South Haven and Kalamazoo, but the horse trail only goes about halfway, extending from Kalamazoo to the Allegan State Game Area.

"This leaves us on the west end out," declares Diane Powers, secretary of the South Haven Riding Club. "We are trying to get the horse trail extended to South Haven by writing cards or letters to our representative in United Michigan Horseman."

St. Joseph Chub Hearing Thursday

A public hearing on proposed new rules to protect Lake Michigan's chubs will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday in the courthouse at St. Joseph.

The Department of Natural Resources is seeking to establish a token quota of chubs for a handful of commercial fishermen. Biologists say that the chub population faces extermination if netting is not curbed.

A limited catch was established six months ago under an emergency rule, but it hasn't been enforced since Gary Diepenhorst, a commercial fisherman operating at Saugatuck and Holland, filed for an injunction in December.

The emergency rule expired Jan. 18, and the DNR has decided not to seek an extension because of the injunction possibility. Instead, the DNR is seeking a permanent rule on limiting the chub harvest.

After public hearings at St. Joseph and Traverse City, the DNR will take its recommendation to the Natural Resources Commission. Approval from the NRC would put the measure before the legislature's joint rules committee.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service estimates that the adult chub population dropped 64 per cent between 1973 to 1974, from 15 million pounds to 5.4 million. Figures are not tallied for 1975, but biologists fear another population drop.

Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana have banned unlimited chub fishing in their waters of Lake Michigan.

Dowagiac Votes To Remove 71 Parking Meters

DOWAGIAC — Dowagiac city council voted 4 to 2 last night to remove 71 of the 170 parking meters in the city.

The meters affected will be those in the downtown business area along three blocks of Front street and on Beeson and Commercial streets. The removal will give shoppers free parking on a two-hour limited basis.

Voting against the action were third ward councilmen Joseph Silva and Clarence Self. Voting for the proposal were Robert Hess, David Groner, DeVee Hunsburger, and Maurice Oppenheim.

The meters have been unused since late November, first as part of the Christmas shopping program, then because of council consideration of this action.

An agreement among 31 merchants in the downtown area and the city was the key to the removal order. The merchants agreed to pay $100 annually for each meter to the city for lost revenue on the 71 meters. The three-year agreement was negotiated during an hour and a half meeting last week between City Manager Henry Graper, Jr. and a dozen of the merchants.

Graper said the merchants were concerned about competition with local shopping centers which provide free parking for their customers.

Graper also said the parking spots will be marked with two-hour parking limit signs and patrolled for violations of that regulation.

Oppenheim, a merchant in the downtown area, felt the plan was important. "The general public is irritated by these meters," he said.

He said that he had talked with many people and that most of them wanted the meters abolished. Silva, however, disagreed, saying that he had talked to 500 people recently and that most of them wanted the meters.

Silva charged that Graper had coerced several signers of the city-merchants agreement by telling them that the city would vote it and they would have to pay anyway.

Graper denied the charge, saying, "I take direct affront to that. There was never any coercion. No one was told that they had to sign anything."

Graper reported that the $7,000 annually received from merchants for the parking meters would be about the same as currently received from coins in the meters.

In other areas, the council voted to remove five lots in the Plato subdivision from residential to light commercial, after receiving a recommendation for the rezoning from the city planning commission.

The five lots are owned by Dowagiac Manufacturing company. The firm has indicated it plans to build a low-profile metal building on the lots which it will rent to Holbury plastics company.

The planning commission had heard objections for several months from nearby property owners living in the 300 and 400 blocks of East Prairie Road, the street adjoining the five lots.

However, Dowagiac Manufacturing to settle the dispute, agreed to deed the property owners who adjoined the lots 50 feet from each lot to serve as a buffer.

The company also agreed to plant a row of trees between the expansion and the private homes and agreed to pave the street leading from East Prairie Road to the plant.

Graper reported that $200,000 of bonds to finance a sewerage plant addition are being held up pending the outcome of litigation.

The court case does not involve Dowagiac, Graper said, but the state has stopped approving bond issues until the court case has been settled.

Graper expressed concern because the city has already had approval from the Farmer's Home administration to borrow the money and with that money and federal environmental Protection agency money had awarded a construction contract to Solitt construction of South Bend for $3,500,000.

The council tabled a written request for funds from Tom Lowry of Marcellus, pageant coordinator for the Cass county Bicentennial for a proposed July pageant.

Lowry was asking for money to help in financing the $5,000 pageant to be held at the Cass county fairgrounds. According to Lowry, the pageant will feature scenery, costumes and special sound and lighting effects. The pageant will culminate in a large fireworks display.

The council tabled the request because the Dowagiac Jaycees have usually had a fireworks demonstration July 4 at the Dowagiac airport. Graper said Jaycees should be given time to formulate a request for funds.

The council reappointed Russell Wright and Larry Greenwood to the special association board for three-year terms.

COVERT TOWNSHIP

Collection Deadline For Taxes Extended

COVERT — The Covert township board last night voted to extend the 1975 tax collection deadline from Feb. 14 to Feb. 29, and to reduce the collection fee penalty after Feb. 14, from four to one per cent.

Mrs. Carolyn Stuckum, township treasurer, reported that only 13 per cent of the township's property taxes have been collected, well below previous collections at this time last year.

She gave no reason for the collection of only $27,487 of the $1,730,822 billed this year. As of March 1, township taxes must be paid to the county clerk's office in Paw Paw, along with higher interest penalties for late tax payments.

Mrs. Stuckum also reported that dog license sales are behind last year. So far, only 112 dog licenses have been sold, while 318 were sold last year before the March 1 cutoff date. A dog vaccination clinic will be held Friday, Feb. 20, from 7 to 8 p.m., at the township hall, at which time dog licenses may be purchased.

In other areas, the board was informed that field work for a township sewer study will be started by the firm of Williams & Worles, Grand Rapids, as soon as weather permits.

A $28,778 federal grant to pay for the sewer and water feasibility study was approved by the Environmental Protection agency in early January. Total cost of the study is expected to be about $30,700. If the study determines that a public sewage disposal system here is feasible, township electors would decide the fate of construction of the system at the polls.

The board approved a request from Bernard Thomas of Covert, to operate a taxi service in Covert township as soon as he is able to file bonding and insurance credentials with the township board. Covert has not had a local taxi service in a number of years, according to the board.

William A. Cutting, Paw Paw accountant, has again been hired to audit the township's books, with the stipulation the audit be completed before June. Cutting has audited the township's books for the past three years.

It was announced that CETA employees would begin numbering grave sites at the township cemetery as soon as weather permits.

Berrien Springs Studies Storm Sewer Project

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Plans for a proposed $111,870 storm sewer improvement project were presented to the Berrien Springs village council last night.

The council took no action on the study prepared by Wightman and Associates, St. Joseph, engineers, but Edgar Kesterke, village president, said a request for funds to cover the estimated project cost might be included in the village's application for 1976-77 federal community development funds. The funds would be sought through the Federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) department.

Thomas Denoue, Wightman engineer, told the council the proposed plans call for additional storm sewer lines north of Perry street and for some improvements to present lines in the same area. He said present lines are not adequate to handle water runoff from the area.

The engineer's report singled out five areas in the section with flooding or standing water problems. He said the areas are Kimmel street between Madison and Mars streets; Mars street between Kimmel and Cass streets; the intersection of Union and Kimmel streets; the intersection of Hamilton and Cass streets and Mechanic street north of Hamilton street.

Kesterke said a Feb. 9 public hearing and special council meeting has been scheduled to consider the application for HUD funds.

Denoue recommended that the state highway department be requested to pay $10,100 of the project cost because US-31 and rights-of-way for the highway would receive 9.1 per cent of the benefits of the proposed improvements. The figure represented 9.1 per cent of the project cost.

Denoue requested and received permission from the council to forward a copy of his report to the highway department so that it can consider the engineer's recommendation the department share part of the project costs.

In other areas, the council approved a hike of $2,000, from $4,000 to $6,000, on initial funds that can be spent on improvements to sub-standard housing in the village under a previously established federal program. The increase was needed because bids for proposed improvements on some houses involved so far were higher than estimated costs, Kesterke said.

The village has a $57,700 federal grant to finance the improvements to housing. If sought by the homeowner and if the homeowner meets income and other requirements.

Meeting time of the council's regular Feb. 18 meeting was changed from 7:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. because the village primary election will be held on that date.

COVERT TOWNSHIP

Collection Deadline For Taxes Extended

COVERT — The Covert township board last night voted to extend the 1975 tax collection deadline from Feb. 14 to Feb. 28, and to reduce the collection fee penalty after Feb. 14, from four to one per cent.

Mrs. Carolyn Stuckum, township treasurer, reported that only 13 per cent of the township's property taxes have been collected, well below previous collections at this time last year.

She gave no reason for the collection of only $227,487 of the $1,730,822 billed this year. As of March 1, township taxes must be paid to the county clerk's office in Paw Paw, along with higher interest penalties for late tax payments.

Mrs. Stuckum also reported that dog license sales are behind last year. So far, only 112 dog licenses have been sold, while 318 were sold last year before the March 1, cutoff date. A dog vaccination clinic will be held Friday, Feb. 20, from 7 to 9 p.m., at the township hall, at which time dog licenses may be purchased.

In other areas, the board was informed that field work for a township sewer study will be started by the firm of Williams & Works, Grand Rapids, as soon as weather permits.

A $29,775 federal grant to pay for the sewer and water feasibility study was approved by the Environmental Protection Agency in early January. Total cost of the study is expected to be about $39,700. If the study determines that a public sewage disposal system here is feasible, township electors would decide the fate of construction of the system at the polls.

The board approved a request from Bernard Thomas of Covert, to operate a taxi service in Covert township as soon as he's able to file bonding and insurance credentials with the township board. Covert has not had a local taxi service in a number of years, according to the board.

Dowagiac Votes To Remove 71 Parking Meters

DOWAGIAC — Dowagiac city council voted 4 to 2 last night to remove 71 of the 170 parking meters in the city.

The meters affected will be those in the downtown business area along three blocks of Front street and on Beeson and Commercial streets. The removal will give shoppers free parking on a two-hour limited basis.

Voting against the action were third ward councilmen Joseph Silvia and Clarence Solf. Voting for the proposal were Robert Hess, David Groner, DeVee Hunsburger, and Maurice Oppenheim.

The meters have been unused since late November, first as part of the Christmas shopping program, then because of council consideration of this action.

An agreement among 31 merchants in the downtown area and the city was the key to the removal order. The merchants agreed to pay $100 annually for each meter to the city for lost revenue on the 71 meters.

The three-year agreement was negotiated during an hour and a half meeting last week between City Manager Henry Graper Jr. and a dozen of the merchants.

Graper said the merchants were concerned about competition with local shopping centers which provide free parking for their customers.

Graper also said the parking spots will be marked with two-hour parking limit signs and policed for violations of that regulation.

Oppenheim, a merchant in the downtown area, felt the plan was important. "The general public is irritated by these meters," he said.

He said that he had talked with many people and that most of them wanted the meters abolished. Silvia, however, disagreed, saying that he had talked to 200 people recently and that most of them wanted the meters.

Silvia charged that Graper had coerced several signers of the city-merchants agreement by telling them that the city would vote it and they would have to pay anyway.

Graper denied the charge, saying, "I take direct affront to that. There was never any coercion. No one was told that they had to sign anything."

Graper reported that the $7,100 annually received from merchants for the parking meters would be about the same as currently received from coins in the meters.

In other areas, the council voted to rezone five lots in the Plato subdivision from residential to light commercial, after receiving a recommendation for the rezoning from the city planning commission.

The five lots are owned by Dowagiac Manufacturing company. The firm has indicated it plans to build a low-profile metal building on the lots which it will rent to Holbury plastics company.

The planning commission had heard objections for several months from nearby property owners living in the 500 and 600 blocks of East Prairie Ronde, the street adjoining the five lots.

However, Dowagiac Manufacturing to settle the dispute, agreed to deed the property owners who adjoined the lots 50 feet from each lot to serve as a buffer.

The company also agreed to plant a row of trees between the expansion and the private homes and agreed to pave the street leading from East Prairie Ronde to the plant.

Graper reported that $800,000 of bonds to finance a sewerage plant addition are being held up pending the outcome of litigation.

The court case does not involve Dowagiac, Graper said, but the state has stopped approving bond issues until the court case has been settled.

Graper expressed concern because the city has already had approval from the Farmer's Home administration to borrow the money and with that money and federal environmental Protection agency money had awarded a construction contract to Sollitt construction of South Bend for $3,599,000.

The council tabled a written request for funds from Tom Lowry of Marcellus, pageant coordinator for the Cass county Bicentennial for a proposed July pageant.

Lowry was asking for money to help in financing the $5,000 pageant to be held at the Cass county fairgrounds. According to Lowry, the pageant will feature scenery, costumes and special sound and lighting effects. The pageant will culminate in a large fireworks display.

The council tabled the request, because the Dowagiac Jaycees have usually had a fireworks demonstration July 4 at the Dowagiac airport. Graper said Jaycees should be given time to formulate a request for funds.

The council reappointed Russell Wright and Larry Greenwood to the special assessment board for three-year terms.

FADED PHRASES: "Boy, is she uppity," "He's the spittin' image of his paw" and "They're the cream of society." Sandwich Favorite of Danny ("The Practice") Thomas: Canadian bacon and melted Swiss cheese sprinkled with brown sugar and toasted. Recommended: If you like to hear the songs of yesteryear, go catch Jimmy Carroll in NYC's Gaslight Club. Just walk up to his piano and ask, "What's old, Jimmy?" Hal Prince's new musical is "Pacific Overtures." (Seasons Greetings!) The Broadway theaters are thriving — with "A Chorus Line," "A Musical Jubilee," "Habeas Corpus," "Chicago," "Equus," "Same Time Next Year," "The Norman Conquests," and "The Wiz" all doing big business. Three recent revivals — "The Glass Menagerie," "The Royal Family" and Sweet Bird of Youth — received praise from the critics. And long runners include "Pippin," "The Magic Show," "Absurd Person Singular," "Grease," and "Shenandoah." Perfect Merger: George Hamm, a waiter at The Saloon in Beverly Hills, is going to marry Helen Egges this month. Name That Tune: A boutique at Madison Avenue and East 88th street, (Manhattan) sells only music boxes of every size and type!

KITCHEN-SNOOPING: Mix mashed bananas, currant jelly and orange juice, then brush on chicken legs and breasts (after browning) and pop under broiler (Quo Vadis, NYC). A mixture of sour cream, chopped pickle, green onions and horseradish is excellent to serve with corned beef or tongue (Gaslight Clubs). A tasty side dish is boiled noodles mixed with butter, grated cheese and almonds (Spindletop, NYC).

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: A TAUREAN, though appearing unobservant, never misses a trick. Many SCORPIANS have a "Mona Lisa" smile. Tenacity, holding on to what they possess, is a strong characteristic of CANCERIANS. "It's not Santa who goes for a sleigh ride," says Alan King, now getting the Christmas bills. "It's Dad!" "Jazz at Noon," now the only luncheon entertainment in Manhattan, is a popular feature at Shepherd's, in the Drake Hotel, NYC. George Barrie's Brut Productions has a feature for children, "Hugo," a hippo. (Sounds a little weighty — right? Incidentally, this is the third one-word title Brut has produced — "Whiffs," "Hedda" and the aforementioned "Hugo.") Shutterbug Wives: Ann Turkel is photographing husband Richard Harris for a syndicate, and Pat York, wife of British Star Michael York, is doing likewise. Alex Guinness plays a helpful butler in "Murder by Death." (Guinness is good for you!)

'Gold' Coin A Fake

OSCODA, Mich. (AP) — A gold-colored coin which has bitterly divided members of a family feuding over its ownership has turned out to be a fake distributed during an automobile promotional campaign. But Servio Manderovich of Oscoda says he will continue to press his lawsuit against his brother-in-law, Dale Arsenau, also of Oscoda, for possession of the coin.

Pooch's Past Ruled Out

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A dog's previous good or bad behavior cannot be used to sway the jury in dog-bite suits, the Michigan Supreme Court has ruled. Airing a dog's history before a jury is "irrelevant and prejudicial," the high court said. State law, the Supreme Court held Friday, allows a jury to consider only two issues: whether a dog bite occurred and whether it was "without provocation." The high court overturned a Kent County Circuit Court jury verdict in favor of a 7-year-old girl, who was bitten by a neighbor's dog. She was shoved by another youngster and accidentally stepped on the tail of the dog, which was chained and lying in its backyard.

EMU Band Claims A Record

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — The Eastern Michigan University band claims to have broken a world's record for continuous playing. Band officials say 51 members of the university's orchestra, symphony and marching band hit their first note Friday night with all but two members playing until 8:00 a.m. Sunday. Band members said the 50-hour musical marathon bettered the previous Guinness World Book record by two hours and was ended with the school's light song. School officials say up to 300 persons were on hand to witness the new event. Receipts from tickets sales are slated for the band's scholarship fund, officials said.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Uncertain At Start

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices were mixed in an uncertain showing in the stock market today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks slipped about a point in the early going, but gainers took a slight over-lever over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers noted continuing encouragement over signs of an improvement in business activity.

But they said the market was held back by doubts over the future course of interest rates, which have shown evidence of leveling off lately after a broad downtrend through most of January.

Today's early prices included General Cigar, up 1/4 at 18 1/2; Neptune International, up 1/4 at 17 1/2; Weyerhaeuser, down 1/4 at 43 1/4; and UAL, unchanged at 28.

On Monday the Dow Jones Industrial average slipped 3.83 to 971.35.

Gainers outpaced losers by about a 4-3 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index edged up .04 to 53.58.

Big Board volume, at an even 24 million shares, was the lightest in four weeks. Activity was held down by a winter storm in New York which prompted the NYSE to delay its opening an hour and 15 minutes from its usual 10 a.m. starting time.

At the American Stock Exchange, which opened half an hour late, the market value index registered a .38 gain to 98.7.

Michigan Gas Utilities Promotes 3

MONROE, Mich. — Michigan Gas Utilities company, in a move to streamline its organization, has promoted three executives to new positions as senior vice presidents. It was announced by the utility's President Donald E. Anderson.

Promoted to senior vice president were Paul L. Schreier, vice president-finance and treasurer; William F. Eckles, vice president for distribution; and S.N. Wellborn, Jr., vice president of planning and gas supply. The promotions were approved by the board of directors at a meeting in New York.

In addition, Harry P. Borchert has been named vice president for rates and regulatory affairs. He formerly was vice president in charge of marketing and customer services. Anderson said that because of the increasing importance of state and federal regulations over utilities it was necessary to assign Borchert full time to these activities.

Michigan Gas Utilities provides natural gas in 11 counties in Southern Michigan including Berrien, and part of Van Buren.

Sodus Will Plan For Bicentennial

SODUS — Melvin Nelson, spokesman for the Sodus Township Bicentennial committee, said a planning meeting of the committee has been called for 7 p.m. tonight.

Nelson said the meeting would be held in the Sodus township fire station. Chairman Chester Hahn said organizational matters and planning for activities will be carried out at the meeting, according to Nelson. The meeting is open to the public.

SOCIAL SECURITY'S SHORT-RANGE PROBLEM

(Second in a series of five columns)

Because of the combined impact of years of high inflation and high unemployment, the Social Security system will pay out $6 billion more in benefits than it will collect in taxes in '78.

Next year, another $6 billion deficit is in sight.

This is no cause for panic. Even after next year's deficit, there still will be about $35 billion in Social Security trust fund reserves.

But of course this situation cannot be allowed to continue indefinitely. The President recognized the challenge with his proposals last month. Congress must not duck because it is an election year. This is the year for solutions — well ahead of any crisis date — to provide that additional financing will be on hand when it is needed. Such action would be in accord with established congressional policy on Social Security.

Such action also would restore public confidence in the program, damaged by a recent rash of unwarranted — in fact, vicious almost beyond understanding — attacks on Social Security's soundness and viability.

All our institutions have lost credibility in the past few years. And the savage slash at Social Security have caused deep anxiety among both old and young.

Even forgotten is the vital fact that Social Security benefits are among the greatest weapons we have against a prolonged economic slump.

There are several ways to meet the short-term financing problem of the Social Security program — without setting an arbitrary limit on benefit increases to the elderly, disabled, widowed and orphaned to help them keep up with inflation.

(1) The rate of the SS tax, now 5.65 per cent each for employer and employee and 7.9 per cent for the self-employed, could be increased. Robert J. Myers, former chief actuary of the Social Security Administration, and now an adviser to the life insurance industry, proposes an increase of 0.5 per cent each next year (1977) at the latest. President Ford has recommended an increase of 0.3 each, as of 1977.

But increasing the rates would hit all covered workers, working to the working poor as well as to middle and higher income workers. This also would affect all employers, who would have to contribute more for employees on the payroll and new employees hired. These additional costs might cause them to cut back on hirings — or pass on the costs to us in the form of higher prices for their products.

(2) Instead of hiking the rate, Robert M. Ball, former Commissioner of Social Security, recommends that Congress raise the maximum amount of earnings taxable for SS, to $25,000, beginning in 1977.

This raise would not affect the SS taxes paid by the four out of five workers whose earnings fall below the maximum subject to Social Security taxes. That maximum is expected to be $16,000 in 1977, up from 1976's maximum of $15,300.

Those paying the tax on earnings between $16,000 and $25,000, Ball points out, would get added SS protection from the additional taxes. For instance, if you're 55 years old and earning $25,000 or more from 1977 to retirement at 65, you could look forward to a monthly benefit more than $100 higher than you otherwise would collect.

(3) Still another proposal calls for general revenue funds to be contributed to the Social Security trust funds. But this would bring with it the danger that the program might eventually become a welfare system with benefits based on an ignominious "means test." A fundamental strength of the Social Security program is that benefits are paid as an "earned right."

Committees of Congress have heard these (and other) proposals, too. Congress can act with comparative ease to pass legislation before the election — and thereby to wipe out fears about the soundness of the system.

If Congress fails to act, Social Security is a virtual-clinch to become a political football in the 1978 election campaign. That would harm us all.

Tomorrow: Social Security's long-range problem.

GRAIN INSPECTIONS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says it is taking the advice of its own auditors for cutting some of the red tape in handling foreign complaints about U.S. grain but apparently has rejected a recommendation for trial inspections at overseas ports.

Bendix Reaching New Line

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — The Bendix Corporation is preparing to establish the first North American factory for producing electronic injectors for automotive fuel control systems, according to Douglas P. Crane, president of the Bendix Automotive Group.

Crane said equipment for the new, high-volume production facility will cost $8 million. It will be located in an existing plant here that will be converted for injector production.

The project will be carried out in two phases, or sections, and each will have a production capacity of 1.2 million injectors annually, or 2.4 million injectors each year when the facility is in full operation, Crane said.

Installation of equipment for the first section will begin this summer with production scheduled to begin in mid-1977 for model year 1978, he added.

The facility will occupy a 56,000-square foot area in the Bendix Electronics and Engine Control Systems Group plant here. This area has been used for producing brake shoes for the automotive replacement parts market but that operation will be moved to Bendix plants in Tennessee, Indiana and Canada, explained Crane.

Crane said there will be an increase of some 170 employees at the Newport News facility when the first injector production section is in operation. There is no timetable for equipping the second section, he added. It will be activated as the need develops.

Bank Net Income Is Record $1 Million

NILES — Year-end figures released by First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan revealed that the bank's net income in 1976 exceeded $1 million for the first time in its history.

The earnings figure was included in the preliminary financial report of Western Michigan corporation, the bank holding company of which First National is a subsidiary. Consolidated net income for the bank rose from $54,000 in 1974 to $1,048,000 in 1976, the report said.

Donald F. Walter, Western Michigan and First National president, stated that the earnings record was the result of an emphasis on profit margins and profitable accounts rather than upon deposit and loan growth for their own sake. He said the 22.8 per cent net income increase for the year was a consequence of efforts to control costs.

The bank's total operating revenue for the year was $6,873,000, up five per cent from a year ago. Earnings per share in 1976 were $2.57, up from the $2.33 reported in 1974.

The bank added approximately $650,000 of retained earnings to its capital accounts during the year as a base for increased deposit and lending activity.

Year-end deposits of $118,211,000 reflected an increase of nearly $10 million from a year ago. Loan balances were at $76,270,000, representing a modest annual increase.

The bank advanced $69 million in loans during the year. Walter said this was a decline from normal demand; a decline he attributed to the impact the economic recession is having on the bank's market area.

First National became a wholly-owned subsidiary of Western Michigan corporation on Nov. 10, in an exchange of stock. The holding company was locally organized by the bank, and the bank is currently its only asset. Financial information on the two companies is consolidated.

COUNCIL MEETS

Baroda Joins Sewage Plant Study Move

BARODA — Baroda village council last night adopted a resolution designating the Berrien county board of public works as lead applicant for a federal Environmental Protection Agency grant for a step-one waste water treatment study.

The resolution also approved the area of study designated recently by the Department of Natural Resources. It includes Baroda and Lake townships, and the northern part of Weesaw township. Baroda village and Bridgman city. Baroda village had previously been included in a study area which also included St. Joseph, Lincoln, Roylton, Benton and Hugat townships, cities of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor and the villages of Stevensville and Shiohram.

The council agreed to pay its share of the cost for the study. President Jerry Pitley reported the village will be permitted to use a study made earlier of the village, which will cut its share.

If approved the EPA would pay for 75 per cent of the study costs. The state would pay five per cent and the local municipalities the rest.

In other business, the council accepted the resignation of Elmer H. Zielke as building inspector and appointed Trustee Howard Goul as a temporary replacement. Zielke, who has occupied the post for two years, has moved to Bridgman.

Approval was given to pay village officials $10 for each extra meeting attended and to increase the hourly wage for labor done in the village from $3 to $4.

Gaul agreed to contact residents on Hills road and Lemon Creek road, from Rugles road to First street, regarding a possible speed limit increase from 25 to 35 miles per hour on the two roads.

The council plans to make a decision at the next meeting. It was agreed to leave the speed limit on the Stevensville - Baroda road at 25 miles per hour.

Mrs. Ellen Tallas, clerk, reported a public hearing will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the township hall regarding a $300,000 community development grant being sought jointly with Baroda township from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Mrs. Tallas reported Monday, Feb. 8 at 8 p.m. is the deadline for registering for the March 8 election. Registration may be made at the clerk's home at 8055 Fifth street.

Trustee Larry Nye was given permission to begin work on an ordinance prohibiting billboards in the village.

Pitley announced all cars parked on village streets from 2 to 6 a.m. will be towed away at the owner's expense and that all dogs running loose in the village will be impounded.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Uncertain At Start

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices were mixed in an uncertain showing in the stock market today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks slipped about a point in the early going, but gainers took a slight over-lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers noted continuing encouragement over signs of an improvement in business activity.

But they said the market was held back by doubts over the future course of interest rates, which have shown evidence of leveling off lately after a broad downtrend through most of January.

Today's early prices included General Cigar, off 1/4 at 16 1/2; Neptune International, up 1/8 at 17 1/2; Weyerhaeuser, down 1/8 at 43 1/4, and UAL, unchanged at 28.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average slipped 3.93 to 971.35.

Gainers outpaced losers by about a 4-3 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index edged up .04 to 53.59.

Big Board volume, at an even 24 million shares, was the lightest in four weeks. Activity was held down by a winter storm in New York which prompted the NYSE to delay its opening an hour and 15 minutes from its usual 10 a.m. starting time.

At the American Stock Exchange, which opened half an hour late, the market value index registered a .38 gain to 96.67.

In addition, Harry F. Borchert has been named vice president for rates and regulatory affairs. He formerly was vice president in charge of marketing and customer services. Anderson said that because of the increasing importance of state and federal regulations over utilities it was necessary to assign Borchert full time to these activities.

Michigan Gas Utilities provides natural gas to 11 counties in Southern Michigan including Berrien and part of Van Buren.

SOCIAL SECURITY'S SHORT-RANGE PROBLEM

(Second in a series of five-columns)

Because of the combined impact of years of high inflation and high unemployment, the Social Security system will pay out $6 billion more in benefits than it will collect in taxes in '76.

Next year, another $6 billion deficit is in sight.

This is no cause for panic! Even after next year's deficit, there still will be about $35 billion in Social Security trust fund reserves.

But of course this situation cannot be allowed to continue indefinitely. The President recognized the challenge with his proposals last month. Congress must not duck because it is an election year. This is the year for solutions — well ahead of any crisis date — to provide that additional financing will be on hand when it is needed. Such action would be in accord with established congressional policy on Social Security.

Such action also would restore public confidence, in the program, damaged by a recent rash of unwarranted — in fact, vicious almost beyond understanding — attacks on Social Security's soundness and viability.

All our institutions have lost credibility in the past few years. And the savage stabs at Social Security have caused deep anxiety among both old and young. Even forgotten is the vital fact that Social Security benefits are among the greatest weapons we have against a prolonged economic slump.

There are several ways to meet the short-term financing problem of the Social Security program — without setting an arbitrary limit on benefit increases to the elderly, disabled, widowed and orphaned to help them keep up with inflation.

(1) The rate of the SS tax, now 5.85 per cent each for employee and employer and 7.9 per cent for the self-employed, could be increased. Robert J. Myers, former chief actuary of the Social Security Administration, and now an adviser to the life insurance industry, proposes an increase of 0.5 per cent each next year (1977) at the latest. President Ford has recommended an increase of 0.3 each, as of 1977.

But increasing the rates would hit all covered workers, socking it to the working poor as well as to middle and higher income workers. This also would affect all employers, who would have to contribute more for employees on the payroll and

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — The Bendix Corporation is preparing to establish the first North American factory for producing electronic injectors for automotive fuel control systems, according to Douglas P. Crane, president of the Bendix Automotive Group.

Crane said equipment for the new high-volume production facility will cost $8 million. It will be located in an existing plant here that will be converted for injector production.

The project will be carried out in two phases, or sections, and each will have a production capacity of 1.2 million injectors annually, or 2.4 million injectors each year when the facility is in full operation, Crane said.

Installation of equipment for the first section will begin this summer with production scheduled to begin in mid-1977 for model year 1978, he added.

The facility will occupy a 56,000-square foot area in the Bendix Electronics and Engine Control Systems Group plant here. This area has been used for producing brake shoes for the automotive replacement parts market but that operation will be moved to Bendix plants in Tennessee, Indiana and Canada, explained Crane.

Crane said there will be an increase of some 170 employees at the Newport News facility when the first injector production section is in operation. There is no timetable for equipping the second section, he added. It will be activated as the need develops.

Bank Net Income Is Record $1 Million

NILES — Year-end figures released by First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan revealed that the bank's net income in 1975 exceeded $1 million for the first time in its history.

The earnings figure was included in the preliminary financial report of Western Michigan corporation, the bank holding company of which First National is a subsidiary. Consolidated net income for the bank rose from $854,000 in 1974 to $1,049,000 in 1975, the report said.

Donald F. Walter, Western Michigan and First National president, stated that the earnings record was the result of an emphasis on profit margins and profitable accounts rather than upon deposit and loan growth for their own sake. He said the 22.8 per cent net income increase for the year was a consequence of efforts to control costs.

The bank's total operating revenue for the year was $9,873,000, up five per cent from a year ago. Earnings per share in 1975 were $2.57, up from the $2.33 reported in 1974.

The bank added approximately $650,000 of retained earnings to its capital accounts during the year as a base for increased deposit and lending activity.

Year-end deposits of $118,211,000 reflected an increase of nearly $10 million from a year ago. Loan balances were at $76,270,000, representing a modest annual increase.

The bank advanced $69 million in loans during the year. Walter said this was a decline from normal demand, a decline he attributed to the impact the economic recession is having on the bank's market area.

First National became a wholly-owned subsidiary of Western Michigan corporation on Nov. 10, in an exchange of stock. The holding company was locally organized by the bank, and the bank is currently its only asset. Financial information on the two companies is consolidated.

COUNCIL MEETS

Baroda Joins Sewage Plant Study Move

BARODA — Baroda village council last night adopted a resolution designating the Berrien county board of public works as lead applicant for a federal Environmental Protection Agency grant for a step-one waste water treatment study.

The resolution also approved the area of study designated recently by the Department of Natural Resources. It includes Baroda and Lake townships, and the northern part of Weesaw township. Baroda village had previously been included in a study area which also included St. Joseph, Lincoln, Royalton, Benton and Hagar townships, cities of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor and the villages of Stevensville and Shoreham.

The council agreed to pay its share of the cost for the study. President Jerry Piley reported the village will be permitted to use a study made earlier of the village, which will cut its share. If approved the EPA would pay for 75 per cent of the study costs. The state would pay five per cent and the local municipalities the rest.

In other business, the council accepted the resignation of Elmer H. Zielke as building inspector and appointed Trustee Howard Gaul as a temporary replacement. Zielke, who has occupied the post for two years, has moved to Bridgman.

Approval was given to pay village officials $10 for each extra meeting attended and to increase the hourly wage for labor done in the village from $3 to $4.

Gaul agreed to contact residents on Hills road and Lemon Creek road, from Ruggles road to First street, regarding a possible speed limit increase from 25 to 35 miles per hour on the two roads. The council plans to make a decision at the next meeting. It was agreed to leave the speed limit on the Stevensville - Baroda road at 25 miles per hour.

Mrs. Ileen Tollas, clerk, reported a public hearing will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the township hall regarding a $300,000 community development grant being sought jointly with Baroda township from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Mrs. Tollas reported Monday, Feb. 9 at 8 p.m. is the deadline for registering for the March 8 election. Registration may be made at the clerk's home at 9050 Fifth street.

Trustee Larry Nye was given permission to begin work on an ordinance prohibiting billboards in the village.

Piley announced all cars parked on village streets from 2 to 6 a.m. will be towed away at the owner's expense and that all dogs running loose in the village will be impounded.

Sta-Rite's Earnings Are Down

DELAVAN, Wis. — Sta-Rite Industries, Inc. has announced 1975 earnings of $1,210,435, or 59 cents a share, and also the selection of a new president and chief executive officer.

Stuart W. Tisdale assumed his new duties with the beginning of February as new president and chief executive officer of the firm. Sta-Rite operates a Skidmore division at Benton Harbor.

Tisdale, 47, succeeds Henry S. Lauterbach, who will continue as chairman of the board of directors. Tisdale has been executive vice president of Dover Corp. in New York City for the past 18 months.

Previously, he served as president of the Singer Co. climate control division and was with Singer a total of 10 years in divisional management assignments.

Sta-Rite earnings of $1,210,435 were down 63 per cent from the $3,272,109 earnings, $1.84 per share, for 1974. Total sales for the year were $86,059,535, off 12 per cent from last year's record $98,193,540.

Earnings were adversely affected by over $2 million pre-tax losses in write-offs of discontinued product lines.

Michael Stewart, 20, Portage, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of forging a welfare check, was put on probation for two years and assessed fines and costs of $200.

Arraigned in circuit court were:

Edward Schoening, 59, Chicago, who pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted carrying of a concealed weapon on Nov. 26, 1974, in Antwerp township.

Sidney W. Dunning, 33, rural South Haven, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted larceny in a building, a Covert township dwelling on Nov. 2, 1975.

The judge sentenced Miss Jackson to two years probation on the latter charge, but placed her on five years probation and ordered restitution of $1,528, plus the jail term, for the welfare fraud charge.

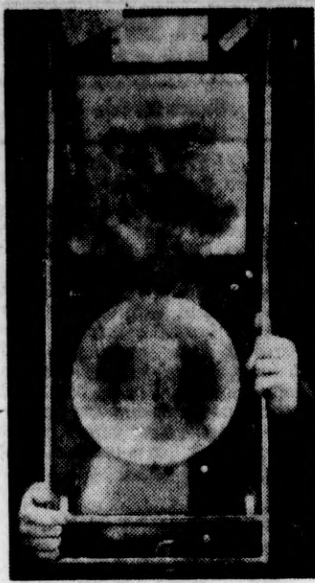

Miss Jackson told Hughes she knew the difference between right and wrong but had had trouble making ends meet. "What you did was dishonest, and there's no excuse for dishonesty," the judge responded.

Miss Jackson obtained $78 by cashing one of the institute's checks Aug. 10 at the Plaza branch of the Farmers and Merchants bank, and also obtained $1,528 in ADC funds for which she was ineligible between September of 1973 and June, 1974. She was charged with failing to report other income during that time.

She was dismissed from the institute in October, and immediately took a job as head bookkeeper for Berrien County Action, Inc. Neither charge involves her employment with BCA and her employment was terminated there on Oct. 24, according to county Comprehensive Employment Training act officials.

Western Electric Sale Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Communications Commission task force is joining the Justice Department in recommending that American Telephone & Telegraph be forced to sell its huge manufacturing subsidiary, Western Electric Co.

The task force issued its 1,500-page study of the telephone company Monday. It recommends breaking off Western, which manufactures about 90 per cent of the Bell System's equipment, as a move that would lower rates to consumers and increase competition.

The divestiture proposal is in line with a still-pending anti-trust suit filed by the Justice Department more than a year ago in an effort to force AT&T to spin off Western Electric and other subsidiaries.

BUCHANAN TOWNSHIP New Designation For Roads Asked

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan township board last night adopted a resolution asking the Berrien county road commission to help clear up confusion between Terre Coupe roads north and south of Buchanan city.

The township board wants the county road commission to designate that stretch of the road north of the city North Terre Coupe road, and a small section of the road southeast of the city, South Terre Coupe road.

The resolution was adopted at the request of Township Fire Chief Charles Wesner who said the designations would clear up any confusion in future fire calls.

In other areas, the board named Melvin Phiscator, Frank Trapp and Donald Flenar to the township board of review.

It also approved the request of the Buchanan Garden club to plant flowers around signs announcing the Buchanan city limits.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Window Kicked Out At St. Joe Store

A young St. Joseph man was arrested early today by St. Joseph police on a warrant charging malicious destruction of property, a window at Ollie's, Inc., 304 State street.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Stephen Mark Weed, 18, of 1603 Niles avenue. Police reported finding the five by seven foot window broken when an alarm sounded at the store about 2:30 a.m. Saturday. Witnesses told police a man kicked at several store windows along State street before the window at Ollie's was broken. They said the man fled on foot. The window was valued at $200.

A Benton township woman told Benton Harbor police her purse was snatched by two boys as she walked on Britain avenue near McCord street early today.

Delores Williams, 25, said she was unhurt in the incident about 2:15 a.m. She reported two boys between 14 and 16 years of age came from behind, grabbed her purse and fled on foot.

Lee Adopts New Pay Formula

PULLMAN — The Lee township board last night adopted a new pay formula for township board of review members.

Under the formula, the three members will each receive $25 a day with an additional prorated amount to be paid for each hour worked over six.

Board of review members last month had asked the township board to change their pay to a flat $5 an hour each instead of $25 per day.

The review board normally holds three meetings in March yearly to review disputed property assessments.

OLD FENNVILLE MIDDLE SCHOOL RAZED: Old Fennville middle school, portions of which were built at turn of century, is shown in process of being razed by Wayne Broughton Construction company, Fennville. Building was closed in fall of 1973 for safety reasons and middle school students are now housed in building, which was Fennville's first high school. Old middle school on Main street served entire K-12 student body of Fennville school district until 1957, according to James Tackmann, superintendent. Broughton is paying school district $1,500 for acre of land old middle school was built on, and is demolishing building at his own expense. (Becky Covey photo)

MACOMB PROSECUTOR SAYS NO Tunnel Warrant Is Refused

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — Macomb County Prosecutor George Parris has refused to issue criminal charges against a Livonia underground contractor for its part in a Mount Clemens tunnel explosion which killed one man and injured five others.

Labor Department director Keith Molin, who recommended a criminal warrant be issued against Greenfield Construction Co., said Parris' decision Monday "is a setback to the cause of job safety in Michigan."

"The proximate cause of Junior Hayes' death was Junior Hayes himself," said Parris. "There was no finding of any willful negligence, any intentional wrongdoing by Greenfield Construction Co."

Uluos "Junior" Hayes, a foreman, was killed last November when an explosion occurred in a tunnel being built by the Livonia company.

Junior Hayes was instructed to get out of the tunnel in the event he discovered methane gas. He didn't do this and the explosion resulted," Parris said at a news conference.

Molin said he would ask Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley if there are any other ways Greenfield can be prosecuted for its negligence, which Parris acknowledged existed. Kelley may prosecute the case himself if he feels Parris erred in denying the warrants.

"How many fatal tunnel explosions must a company be involved in before it can be held accountable for its actions?" said Molin, who asked Parris to charge Greenfield with willfully neglecting state safety rules.

Greenfield was a contractor on a Port Huron tunnel where an explosion in 1971 killed 21 workers. It has also been criminally charged with violating state safety rules in the death of a Dearborn trench worker last November.

The labor department charged Greenfield with 39 safety violations, and the health department charged it with another eight violations found in the Mount Clemens tunnel after the explosion. The company can still be fined several thousand dollars for these by the departments themselves.

Testimony by survivors of the Mount Clemens blast showed Hayes knew an amber warning light was indicating dangerous gas levels, but turned on a mining machine anyway.

Inspectors say the high gas levels were responsible for the explosion, and a spark from the machine could have ignited the gas.

Berrien Families Sought As Hosts For Europeans

Families in the Berrien county area are being sought to host English-speaking visitors from Europe in their homes for a 10-day period this year.

Announcement of the Bicentennial program was made by the American Host-Meet The Americans, Hotel Commodore, Suite 2100, Park avenue at 42nd street, New York, N.Y., 10017, phone (212) 683-6567.

The deadline for information on the program is March 1.

Arrangements for serving as a host family may be made by writing to American Host-Meet The Americans, Hotel Commodore, Suite 2100, Park avenue at 42nd street, New York, N.Y., 10017, phone (212) 683-6567.

European visitors have been accommodated by the program.

Now in its 15th year, the American Host-Meet The Americans program has been endorsed by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration as a nationwide home hospitality program for the Bicentennial year. To date, more than 8,000 European visitors have been accommodated by the program.

Host families are required to provide a private room and meals for their guest as well as the opportunity to meet their friends and neighbors and to see places of interest in the area.

American Host arranges all transportation. Host families are asked to meet their guest upon arrival in the area. Visitors and host families will have the opportunity to correspond for at least a month before meeting.

Detroit Tremor Recorded

FLAT ROCK, Mich. (AP) — The first earthquake in Michigan in 28 years hit the downtown area of Detroit Monday afternoon, rattling windows and frightening residents but causing no damage, officials said.

The tremor measured 3.25 on the Richter scale, reported Henry N. Pollack, professor of geology at the University of Michigan.

Residents in 10 southern Wayne County communities were shaken by the tremor, police reported. Police in Flat Rock, New Boston, Gibraltar, Grosse Ile and Rockwood said residents flooded them with telephone calls inquiring about the quake.

"I'd call it a minor tremor," Pollack reported. "We recorded it on our seismograph." He said the last major tremor in Michigan was in 1947.

Police said residents reported feeling the tremor in an area stretching more than 10 miles from Trenton south, to Rockwood and some 30 miles from the New Boston across Lake Erie to Colchester, Ont.

Pollack said that the tremor in August 1947 occurred in the Branch County area and "may have been slightly stronger than this one." The effects of that tremor stretched from Detroit to Chicago and toppled some chimneys, he said.

Pollack said the exact point of origin of the earthquake won't be determined until seismograph readings are collected from other points in Michigan and adjoining states and Canada.

Flat Rock police said they received 25 to 30 phone calls from residents in the area reporting earth tremors between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. Monday.

Caring.

OLD FENNVILLE MIDDLE SCHOOL RAZED: Old Fennville middle school, portions of which were built at turn of century, is shown in process of being razed by Wayne Broughton Construction company, Fennville. Building was closed in fall of 1973 for safety reasons and middle school students are now housed in building, which was Fennville's first high school. Old middle school on Main street served entire K-12 student body of Fennville school district until 1957, according to James Tackmann, superintendent. Broughton is paying school district $1,500 for acre of land old middle school was built on, and is demolishing building at his own expense. (Becky Covey photo)

MACOMB PROSECUTOR SAYS NO Tunnel Warrant Is Refused

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — Macomb County Prosecutor George Parris has refused to issue criminal charges against a Livonia underground contractor for its part in a Mount Clemens tunnel explosion which killed one man and injured five others.

Co., said Parris' decision Monday "is a setback to the cause of job safety in Michigan."

"The proximate cause of Junior Hayes' death was Junior Hayes himself," said Parris. "There was no finding of any willful negligence, any intentional wrongdoing by Greenfield Construction Co."

Uluos "Junior" Hayes, a foreman, was killed last November when an explosion occurred in a tunnel being built by the Livonia company.

"Junior Hayes was instructed to get out of the tunnel in the event he discovered methane gas. He didn't do this and the explosion resulted," Parris said at a news conference.

Molin said he would ask Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley if there are any other ways Greenfield can be prosecuted for its negligence, which Parris acknowledged existed. Kelley may prosecute the case himself if he feels Parris erred in denying the warrants.

"How many fatal tunnel explosions must a company be involved in before it can be held accountable for its actions?" said Molin, who asked Parris to charge Greenfield with willfully neglecting state safety rules.

Greenfield was a contractor on a Port Huron tunnel where an explosion in 1971 killed 21 workers. It has also been criminally charged with violating state safety rules in the death of a Dearborn trench worker last November.

The labor department charged Greenfield with 35 safety violations, and the health department charged it with another eight violations found in the Mount Clemens tunnel after the explosion. The company can still be fined several thousand dollars for these by the departments themselves.

Testimony by survivors of the Mount Clemens blast showed Hayes knew an amber warning light was indicating dangerous gas levels, but turned on a mining machine anyway.

Inspectors say the high gas levels were responsible for the explosion, and a spark from the machine could have ignited the gas.

Berrien Families Sought As Hosts For Europeans

Families in the Berrien county area are being sought to host English-speaking visitors from Europe in their homes for a 10-day period this year.

Announcement of the Bicentennial program was made by the American Host Foundation, a non-governmental organization designed to show the American way of life to visitors from foreign countries.

Host families are required to provide a private room and meals for their guest as well as the opportunity to meet their friends and neighbors and to see places of interest in the area.

American Host arranges all transportation. Host families are asked to meet their guest upon arrival in the area. Visitors and host families will have the opportunity to correspond for at least a month before meeting.

Now in its 15th year, the American Host program has been endorsed by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration as a nationwide home hospitality program for the Bicentennial year. To date, more than 9,000 European visitors have been accommodated by the program.

Arrangements for serving as a host family may be made by writing to American Host-Meet The Americans, Hotel Commodore, Suite 2100, Park avenue at 42nd street, New York, N.Y., 10017, phone (212) 683-6567.

The deadline for information on the program is March 1.

Detroit Tremor Recorded

FLAT ROCK, Mich. (AP) — The first earthquake in Michigan in 28 years hit the downriver area of Detroit Monday afternoon, rattling windows and frightening residents but causing no damage, officials said.

The tremor measured 3.25 on the Richter scale, reported Henry N. Pollack, professor of geology at the University of Michigan.

Residents in 10 southern

Wayne County communities were shaken by the tremor, police reported. Police in Flat Rock, New Boston, Gibraltar, Grosse Ile and Rockwood said residents flooded them with telephone calls inquiring about the quake.

"I'd call it a minor tremor," Pollack reported. "We recorded it on our seismograph." He said the last major tremor in Michigan was in 1947.

Police said residents reported feeling the tremor in an area stretching more than 10 miles from Trenton south to Rockwood and some 30 miles from the New Boston across Lake Erie to Colchester, Ont.

Pollack said that the tremor in August 1947 occurred in the Branch County area and "may have been slightly stronger than this one." The effects of that tremor stretched from Detroit to Chicago and toppled some chimneys, he said.

Pollack said the exact point of origin of the earthquake won't be determined until seismograph readings are collected from other points in Michigan and adjoining states and Canada.

Flat Rock police said they received 25 to 30 phone calls from residents in the area reporting earth tremors between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. Monday.
